Income Tax Will Go On Ballot Again

The city has decided against further litigation in an income tax question that has been tied up in the courts since August 1962, which means the issue will be put to a test at the polls again in the November general election, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate said today.

Applegate said he will comply with an order handed down May 3 by the 7th District Court of Appeals and certify to the County Election Board the text of an initiative ordinance filed by Trades and Labor Council, seeking to repeal an income tax measure enacted by Council early last year.

Applegate's announcement ended speculation that the city might contest the question further by carrying an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The Appellate Court handed down its ruling as a result of arguments which it heard April 2. The city was appealing from a ruling of Common Pleas Court issued Aug. 29 that ordered Applegate to certify the question to the Election Board for a ballot place.

The city then was placed in the position of complying with the district court's order or appealing the case to the next highest level —in this case the Ohio Supreme Court.

The stage was set for the lengthy controversy when Trades Council filed petitions with the auditor, seeking a ballot place for the initiative ordinance designed to repeal the tax measure. Law makes it the auditor's duty to determine if the petitions meet the legal requirements. If he finds them "sufficient", he certifies the question to the Election Board.

In the case last August, Applegate held that four of the 16 petitions filed by Trades Council were irregular and, therefore, the question could not be submitted to a vote. Trades Council then appealed and was sustained by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court.

The city appealed Judge Buzzard's findings to the district court, leading to the hearing in April at which the municipality's arguments were rejected.

As part of the 10-page opinion in the case, the district court ruled that Trades Council's petitions were not dead, despite the long litigation, and that the auditor should certify the question to the Election Board.

Applegate announced his decision in a long statement in which he reviewed many facets of the case: He said:

"In the summer of 1962, initiative petitions were circulated as a means of repealing Ordinance No. 5 of the city of East Liverpool, commonly referred to as the city income tax. The petition consisted of 20 'part petitions'. After checking the petitions, it was determined that 16 of the part petitions were valid. Four were determined as questionable due to many irregularities.

"At that time, I sent a letter to the city solicitor (Joseph W. Cooper) enumerating the various discrepancies and asking for an opinion as to the validity of the petition as a whole. In his reply, the solicitor made note of various sections of the State Code that stated in clear and precise language the laws governing the circulating of initiative petitions and the last two paragraphs of his letter consisted of the following:

" 'It is therefore my opinion that in the event two signatures are written by the same person for himself and another person in the presence of the circulator of such petition that the signed affidavit of the circulator in the form required by law is a false affidavit and the part petition to which said affidavit is appended must be rejected in whole.

" 'The exercise of the fundamental right of initiative is conditoned upon a due and solemn observance of the provisions of law enacted as a vehicle. Therefore, irregular and fraudulent exercise of power must be strictly guarded against and a strict compliance with the manner provided by law for its exercise must be exacted.' "

"After several meetings with the city solicitor regarding the whole matter, it was determined the auditor could not certify the petition to the Election Board due to the many irregularities found in the petition which were in conflict with the law.

"The court ruled contrary to the solicitor's opinion and has stated that the petition should be certified to the Election Board as valid. There is still recourse to the Supreme Court in this matter, but we are not fighting for the tax. We are closely guarding the rights and privileges of all our citizens — this is the main issue. I have no other interest in this.

"I have been elected to perform a service to the public and the part I have taken in this whole matter is part of that service. The people expect me to be alert because I represent their interest in our municipal government and this I will continue to do. I shall challenge any and all irregularities pertaining to this office.

"I place the competence and effectiveness of the public service before the interests of persons, factions and parties. I have promised to conduct my public life according to the highest ethical standard and I shall not only avoid that which is legally wrong but to seek out and do what is ethically right. I cannot take any other course.

"Therefore, it is my duty as city auditor to comply with the court's wishes and certify the text of the petition to the County Election Board.

"None of us are responsible for all the things that happen to us, but all of us are responsible for the way we act when they do happen. Lastly, I believe that somewhere along the line someone must raise a barrier between these things we believe to be right and those things we believe to be wrong. There may be some who disagree with my action in this matter, but they will not doubt my integrity. I will never forsake principle for expediency."

In a "postscript" to the case, Council approved a $500 appropriation Monday night to pay for special counsel which Cooper hired in presenting the case to the district court. A previous appropriation provided $200, so the total outlay for special counsel was $700, Cooper explained.

Upsets Sit-In Convictions

High Court Puts Off Question Of Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has left until next term the question of whether a businessman—a restaurant owner, for instance—can on his own constitutionally discriminate in the serving of customers. Also: Can he ask authorities to help enforce his discrimination?

The tribunal did not take up these problems Monday as it overturned the convictions of 44 sit-in demonstrators protesting segregation in four states.

In this series of cases, the court declared it unconstitutional for a state to require segregation and use its powers to enforce it.

However, in a separate opinion, Justice John M. Harlan said the right of the private businessman to operate on a segregated basis was "ostensibly left untouched" by the court majority's approach to the issue.

Harlan declared:

"An individual's right to restrict the use of his property, however unregenerate a particular exercise of that right may be thought, lies beyond the reach of the (Constitution's) 14th Amendment.

"The dilution or virtual elimination of that right cannot well be justified either on the premise that it will hasten formal repeal of outworn segregation laws or on the grounds that it will facilitate proof of state action in cases of this kind."

The Supreme Court's declaration, specifically affected 44 individual demonstrators who appealed to the high tribunal. It also indicates that convictions of about 3,000 Negroes and whites arrested for sit-ins in various Southern states are unconstitutional.

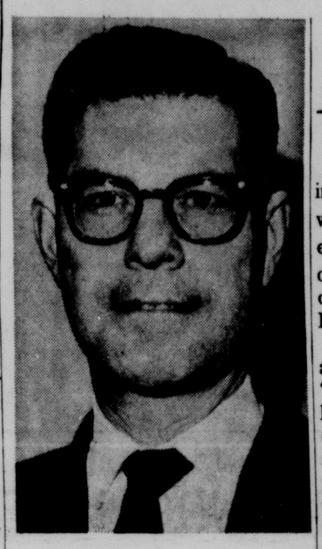

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the majority opinion in the five cases which had been argued together, said of the key case from Greenville, S.C.:

"When a state agency passes a law compelling persons to discriminate against other persons

Blair Named Superintendent

Assumes Post Of Late Ralph Betts

PAUL BLAIR

Paul H. Blair, assistant superintendent of schools for nine years, was elevated to the superintendency Monday night by the Board of Education to fill the vacancy created by the sudden death of Ralph W. Betts on May 12.

Acting swiftly to fill the post at a time which members said is "critical," the board offered and Blair, 44, accepted a three-year contract effective Aug. 1 at a salary of $12,000 a year for the first year—the same salary Mr. Betts would have received. The salary for the remaining two years will be fixed each year.

The board specified that Blair's appointment be effective immediately with the salary to be based on $11,600 yearly, the present superintendent's rate. Just a week prior to the death of Mr. Betts, who was superintendent for nearly 12 years, the board had granted him a $400 increase for the last year of a three-year contract.

The motion by James B. Moss also authorized Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, to accept applications for the assistant superintendent's post. The job currently pays $10,400.

The decision to advance Blair was approved by a 4-1 vote with C. Walter Ashbaugh, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop and James Lowe supporting Moss and Harry D. McConville dissenting.

McConville said he believes the board was acting too speedily and suggested Blair be given the job on a trial basis. He cited Blair's lack of experience as head of a school system and also objected to the length of the contract.

The subject of promoting Blair was introduced by Lowe, board president, following a routine business meeting. The discussion lasted about 20 minutes.

Prior to making his motion, Moss declared the school district "is fortunate in having someone associated with it like Blair. He will do an effective job."

Blair's familiarity with the system "will be a big advantage to us," Moss added.

"Why are we in such a hurry?" McConville asked with Lowe responding, "In fairness to all, the sooner the matter is resolved the better."

"We are going so fast. We know nothing about his abilities, for example on finances. A trial basis would be fine," McConville asserted.

Ashbaugh commented, "We know more about him than we would about someone else we brought in." Ashbaugh also pointed out the three-year contract is "standard."

"Not necessarily," McConville replied, adding, "He's never acted as a superintendent."

"The superintendent no longer is an educator alone," McConville continued, pointing out many church - sponsored colleges, which formerly had clergymen serving as presidents, now are turning to men versed in finance.

"Any superintendent's financial ability is no better than the board for whom he is working. We can curb spending at this table," Lowe said.

"Blair has done a good job in the elementary schools but we know nothing of his administrative ability," McConville said, re-

Negroes Eye Court To Void Pupil Ousting

Birmingham Board Acts To Suspend Or Expel Over 1,000

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro leaders say they will go to federal court in efforts to void a Birmingham school board order to expel or suspend more than 1,000 Negro pupils who demonstrated against segregation.

The school board's action Monday was not unexpected, and Negro leaders said they planned to fight the move only by legal means.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said on his return from Atlanta, "We will not call for a mass walkout or boycott of the schools, nor will we call for a renewal of demonstrations at this point."

After a meeting with other integration leaders, King said, "We will not seek to correct an unwise act by moving hastily into another unwise act."

The decision by the Negro leaders saved a shaky biracial agreement which had been threatened by the school board's handling of the dispute.

"We know there are certain forces in Birmingham trying to sabotage this agreement," King said.

He called the board's action "a tragic move, immoral . . . a dastardly act."

In a letter to school principals, Supt. Theo Wright ordered immediate expulsion of pupil participants over 16 and suspension of those under 16. It affects 1,081 pu-

Farmers Vote Set Today On Wheat Plan

Question Centers Around Controls And Price Supports

After weeks of hot debate, record numbers of farmers—possibly more than 1.5 million—are expected to vote today on a plan to curb wheat production.

Their decision may cast the future of government farm programs, and their costs.

In a nutshell the question is whether wheat farmers want rigid controls and high price supports or no controls and low price supports.

And the referendum's outcome, after the biggest campaign ever waged among farmers, was expected to have widespread economic and political repercussions.

Reports from the wheat areas indicated a close vote. Neither the plan's proponents nor opponents would predict the result as the zero hour approached.

Perhaps overshadowing the wheat proposal itself is the overall question of whether the federal government should plunge deeper into the business of farming or pull away, leaving a more free competitive market system.

Dizzy Day Of Ceremonies

Capital Cheering Astronaut Today

A cheering, whistling welcome awaited the quiet Air Force major who streaked to fame last week in the silent oceans of space as he orbited the earth 22 times.

The slim spaceman faced a dizzying day of ceremonies: a medal from the President, a speech to Congress and a motorcade up the glory road from the White House to Capitol Hill.

Officials scheduled the day's highlight for the White House rose garden where President Kennedy will pin the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Distinguished Service Medal on the 36-year-old pilot who flew around the earth more times than any other American.

The Weather Bureau predicted a cool, cloudy day, far better than the day more than a year ago when a pouring rain drenched 200,000 to 300,000 spectators as they watched Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. on his motorcade up Pennsylvania Avenue.

The President's plane, bringing Cooper from Cape Canaveral, Fla., was due to land at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland in the late morning. With him will be his wife, Trudy, his two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, and at least four of the other astronauts.

After the ceremonies, the Pres-

NATO's Okay Expected For Atomic Force

OTTAWA (AP)—Statesmen of the 15 Atlantic pact powers gathered in Ottawa today to give formal approval to a compromise formula—approved by President Charles de Gaulle—permitting the formation of an allied nuclear force.

Delegates of France and several other countries said the formula would be set forth in the final communique of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's spring meeting of foreign and defense ministers. The three-day meeting opens Wednesday.

The formula leaves the force nameless and without a command structure of its own. The French said they would block the project if it was portrayed as something new, or extraordinary, or implying fresh commitments.

The conference communique reportedly will say that:

1. Britain is assigning her entire 180-plane V-bomber force, complete with hydrogen bombs, to U.S. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe.

2. The United States is assigning three nuclear-powered sub-

Cars Collide As 2 Swerve In Same Way

Two drivers swerved their cars Monday night in an attempt to avoid a collision on Anderson Blvd., but the trouble was that both turned in the same direction, bringing on a crash after all, police reported.

The mishap at 7:24 on Anderson Blvd. at Beechwood St. involved a southbound 1952 model car driven by William Morris, 26, of Ruth St. and a northbound 1956 convertible reported by James Eberhart, 19, of 301 Carolina Ave., Maplewood, officers said.

Morris told police he reached for a cigarette, causing his car to cross the center line. He said he tried in vain to get back onto his own side of the road.

Eberhart said he saw the Morris car on his side of the street. He said he applied the brakes and swerved to the left to avoid a collision, but Morris also swerved and the cars collided about in the center of the street.

Damaged were a 1955 four-door

Ira Sayre And 2 Others Resign Teaching Posts

The resignations of a veteran high school teacher and two elementary teachers were accepted Monday night by the Board of Education.

Ira C. Sayre, English instructor and faculty adviser for the Keramos Echo, school newspaper, and Keramos yearbook, is leaving the system after 30 years as a teacher.

Supt. Paul H. Blair and board members said it is their understanding Sayre, who operates a pottery salesroom on Route 2 near Chester, will teach in Hancock County schools next year.

The board also accepted the resignations of Lester Hickman, who will return to Colombia in January as a missionary, and Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner, both elementary teachers. Hickman has been appointed to the staff earlier this year while on leave.

The board approved the appointments of Edith Manor and Sally Millward as high school teachers for the balance of the term. One has been substituting for Michael Misconish, who underwent surgery, and the other has been filling in for N. F. Lorah, who has been ill.

The board also approved the adoption of "Our World And Its People" published by Allyn Bacon, Inc., as the basic text for

Midland's Forenoon Vote Seen About 25%

A Midland borough official said after checking the community's five precincts that about 25 per cent of the registered voters had cast ballots during the forenoon in the primary election.

Midland has a registration of over 2,000 with Democrats predominating.

Earlier forecasts for Beaver County's turnout ranged from 50 to 55 per cent, although some political observers doubted it would go that high.

Voting began at 8 a. m. and the polls will close at 9 tonight.

Council Study Due

Parking Meters Seen 'Unusable'

Repeating a recommendation made on several previous occasions, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen told Council Monday night about 350 15-year-old parking meters should be replaced soon because they "are no longer serviceable" and bring a deluge of complaints from motorists.

Owen asked Council to consider legislation that would clear the way for the administration to install new meters to replace the 1947 models. Some companies offer a plan under which the city can pay for the meters out of "excess revenue"—the difference between present income and the receipts that would be produced by properly - operating devices, he pointed out.

OPENING his remarks, Owen pointed out the need for new meters has been cited to Council on several occasions, but no final action has been taken.

"I would like to have an answer," he said. "I understand the Traffic Commission and the Chamber of Commerce intend to write to Council recommending the purchase of new meters."

Owen declared that "the meters we have are no longer serviceable." Since many cannot be repaired, the administration has considered the possibility of taking them out of service as they break down, Owen said.

"I'm going to have to start turning these complaints over to you councilmen instead of taking them at my office," the director said. "You know we need them. Please buy new ones or allow me to take the old ones out."

Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, replied that he is "in sympathy" with the director's problem. Council approved his motion for a meeting between the finance committee and the director to study a plan under which new meters could be purchased "without an outlay of cash."

If the method can be worked out, enabling legislation will be presented to Council, the motion provided.

OWEN asked if Council intends to "bolster" the street department funds with additional appropriations from income tax receipts, as has been done in former years.

Willshaw said he can see no possibility of providing additional funds for the department. He pointed out funds were provided earlier for the city's share of a new low-cost street surfacing program and for a seal-coating project for blacktop thoroughfares.

Council approved a motion by Councilman S. James Welch referring to the ordinance committee the question of installing a new traffic light at the intersection of Pennsylvania Ave. and Virginia Ave.

THE ACTION was taken after Welch read figures from a traffic count made at the intersection recently, covering a 12-hour period from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. It showed that 1,020 vehicles proceeded north on Virginia Ave. to turn onto Pennsylvania Ave.

Welch said the light is needed particularly to aid Virginia Ave. traffic in turning onto the main thoroughfare. The problem is complicated by a large number of trucks that use Virginia Ave. in hauling to and from nearby industrial plants, he said.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Edward Massey that the city seek federal aid to help finance a Gardendale trunk line sewer project — for which plans have been completed — and another to extend a trunk line into the east End of Pleasant Heights.

Massey proposed the new Pleasant Heights project last night, pointing out it could be financed out of sewage department construction funds.

MASSEY also asked the administration to "exert all possible effort" to persuade the State Highway Department to move ahead with a project for improvement of Route 267 from W. 8th St. through Pleasant Heights to the north city limits. The state now is studying the project, recommended by Massey several months ago.

Massey asked the street department to investigate the need for signs to slow traffic in Church Alley. Some Waterford Park Race Track patrons use the alley as a shortcut, endangering children, he said.

Council also accepted a series of recommendations on traffic controls from Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, chairman of the street committee.

The committee called for signs reading, "Slow, Children Playing," at Gardendale Ave. and McKee St., Smithfield St. and McKee St. and Springdale Ave. and Pope Ave. Similar signs were requested in the vicinity of East Junior High School.

THE COMMITTEE also recommended erection of a stop sign at the junction of Gardendale Ave. and Harrison St. and a 90-day trial of a parking ban in Bay Alley between Pennsylvania Ave. and Globe St.

Berg repeated a complaint he has made on many previous occasions that trash burning in the Loblaw, Inc., market on Bradshaw Ave. causes a stench in the neighborhood. He read excerpts from the minutes of a series of meetings in 1962 at which the complaint was discussed.

Berg said the complaints were renewed by residents of the area Sunday and his investigation showed the "stench was unbearable." Berg said he discussed the complaints Monday with Health Commissioner Septimus Cook, who said that "the only thing we can do now is issue a warrant and take them into court."

BERG ASKED Owen to check the complaints of holes in the "red dog" surface of upper Minerva St. He also said complaints of trash scattered on Elm St. have been referred to the Health Department.

Reporting for the planning committee, Councilman Floyd Murray said it still is investigating a suggestion for fluoridation of the city water supply to help prevent tooth decay. The recommendation was made to Council May 6 by the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department.

In a report of the claims committee, Massey said two bills against the city have been rejected. He said they are a $24 claim filed by Willard Hunter of Chester Ave. for damage when his car hit a chuckhole, and a $9.50 claim from Gary Montgomery of Rigby St., who said a wheel of his car dropped into an open manhole.

JOHN EDDY of Thompson Ave. filed a claim with Council, asking $110 for damage allegedly caused when a sewer backed up into his cellar. It was referred to the claims committee.

Council gave final approval, 7-0, to an ordinance to vacate sections of several unused riverfront area streets and alleys in the vicinity of the Milliron Co. and Pearl China Co. properties.

The action abandons: 1st St. from Market St. to Jackson St., Peach Alley between the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. right-of-way and the Ohio River, 1st St. from Union St. to Washington St. and Cherry Alley from the railroad to the river.

Murray commented that he voted against the legislation on first reading May 6 because he understood some persons who opposed the plan wanted an opportunity to appear before Council. He said he switched his vote because no protesting group appeared.

It referred to the ordinance committee a proposal to abolish the position of sewer inspector and retitle the job "maintenance man" at an hourly rate of $2.20. The sewer inspector's post was held by Floyd E. Tice, who died about a month ago.

The board also asked Council to authorize a call for bids to install a new roof on one of the two Henry Ave. standpipes. The roof is "badly deteriorated and in a dangerous condition," the letter said. The board estimated cost of the work at $2,600, but said no new appropriation will be required, as funds already are available in the current appropriation.

The board's third letter commented on legislation which Council approved May 6 setting a monthly rental of $120 for offices occupied by the water and sewage departments on the first floor of City Hall. The letter said the board assumes the charge "includes janitorial service." All three letters were signed by W. O. Schneider, chairman of the board.

COUNCIL received a letter from Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr. pointing out that the recent death of Mrs. Millicent T. Hall created a vacancy on the five - member Board of Trustees of the James Godwin Fund for the Relief of the Poor.

The letter proposed that if Council has no other successor in mind, the appointment might be given to Mrs. J. Donald Thompson. Council moved for legislation to name Mrs. Thompson. Other members of the board are Atty. Vodrey, C. Walter Ashbaugh, A. L. White and C. W. Hendershot.

The board was established by an ordinance enacted in 1900, Atty. Vodrey's letter pointed out.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. extending sympathy to the school system in the recent death of Supt. Ralph W. Betts.

Sample said he has received queries about the city's plans to begin work on rebuilding outer St. Clair Ave. He said no action can be taken locally until the plans are given final approval by the federal government.

Councilman Frank Duffy asked the street committee to investigate "a parking conditon" on Ridge Alley between Pennsylvania Ave. and Erie St.

HE ASKED Owen when oil will be spread to lay dust on Etruria St. and Cleveland Ave. and in Little England. The director said the program is ready to begin and the first work will be performed when the unsurfaced streets dry out after recent rains.

A brief controversy was touched off when Joseph Burcham of W. 4th St., speaking before Council, asserted he had been told a councilman "missed meetings for four months and still got paid."

Several councilmen shouted in reply: "Who was it?" and similar queries, but Burcham did not answer directly.

Council President Charles Edwards remarked that Burcham has been at most recent Council meetings "and you know no one has missed more than one meeting consecutively."

ANOTHER MAN who did not identify himself said the absent councilman "was Sample, years ago."

"That was in 1951," Sample replied. "And I didn't get paid."

Later, Sample expanded on his statement, explaining he missed three meetings and "two of them were because I was in the hospital."

Murray defended Council against Burcham's charge, backed up by Berg. Both cited the councilmen's commitee work, in addition to regular meetings. Berg said Council held 24 special sessions during 1962.

Salem Firm Told To Abate Air Pollution

LISBON — The Nease Chemical Co. of Salem was ordered to abate an air pollution nuisance at a meeting of over 30 neighbors and interested parties with the Columbiana County Health Board Monday night.

Atty. Alfred Fitch, representing Mr. and Mrs. John Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Getz and Robert E. Hergenroder, reported vapor rolls from the plant, which they claim has an acid odor giving a choking sensation.

Hergenroder, Mr. and Mrs. Getz and another neighbor gave their version of trouble from the white vapor five or 20 times each week.

William Greenamyer, residing about 2,000 feet south of the plant, cited his daughter's asthmatic condition which required her to be hospitalized for five days. He said they believe it was caused by the fumes, but their doctor has not diagnosed it as such at present.

Dr. T. C. Dauphine of State College, Pa., vice president of Nease Chemical, represented the firm along with Claire M. Wert, plant manager.

Dr. Dauphine explained what the company uses for its products, adding the plant is protected better than any of their others. He said that due to new personnel, who have not worked in any chemical plants, they must be trained. Because of their newness to this type of work, they make mistakes and breaks may occur in lines, which may be causing such odors.

Hergenroder, a former employe, reported on his experiences and said at present he is receiving benefits from the Ohio Industrial Commission for a lung condition he received while working at the plant.

Mrs. Charles Getz reported a burning sensation to her lips when fumes come from the plant.

Alex Kamasky said a liquid running on to his pasture causes cow to cough.

Fred Johnson of Summittville said he did not see any actual health danger but Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana said he believes there is evidence of trouble. Felix Butch of Lisbon, board member, made a motion that the plant is a nuisance and that it be ordered to abate the condition and report its progress at the next meeting June 17 at 8 p.m. Dr. Pritchard seconded the motion, which was approved unanimously.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, gave the monthly reports. The department issued 46 plumbing permits and 51 sewage permits. Mrs. Violet Peterson, county health nurse, made 26 home visits, held 25 clinics and gave immunizations, 161 polio shots and 271 vaccinations, along with four Mantoux TB tests. She made 19 doctor office visits, two home visits, gave talks to two eighth grades and attended one workshop.

Communicable diseases reported included one death, 83 cases of measles, 12 of mumps and two of scarlet fever.

Plumbing inspector Gene Cover made 61 plumbing inspections, took 13 water samples, investigated eight nuisances and inspected a trailer camp.

Sanitarian Harry Stockdale made 36 food service inspections, 15 of sewage, 18 nuisances, two at trailer parks, 11 for refuse and took milk samples from a local dairy.

Bills of $3,942 were ordered paid.

London Underground Intrigues Navy Officer

LONDON (AP) — A U. S. Navy captain is so intrigued with the London underground — subway to Americans — that he has written a book about it.

Capt. Frank Manson, of Tahlequah, Okla., chief Navy information officer in Europe, maintains that each line on the underground has its own individual character.

On the central line, he says, "they are terribly reserved. I watched one ticket collector every day getting closer and closer to speaking to me. Finally he burst out with a long description of all his ailments."

About his book, "Yank in the Underground," Manson says "riding the underground is one of the best ways of learning about the city, its people and their habits and interests.

"Some people think that subway riders just sit there. Some do, but most people are industrious. What they do varies, but they're busy doing something."

Income Tax Will Go On Ballot Again

The city has decided against further litigation in an income tax question that has been tied up in the courts since August 1962, which means the issue will be put to a test at the polls again in the November general election, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate said today.

Applegate said he will comply with an order handed down May 3 by the 7th District Court of Appeals and certify to the County Election Board the text of an initiative ordinance filed by Trades and Labor Council, seeking to repeal an income tax measure enacted by Council early last year.

Applegate's announcement ended speculation that the city might contest the question further by carrying an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The Appellate Court handed down its ruling as a result of arguments which it heard April 2. The city was appealing from a ruling of Common Pleas Court issued Aug. 29 that ordered Applegate to certify the question to the Election Board for a ballot place.

The city then was placed in the position of complying with the district court's order or appealing the case to the next highest level —in this case the Ohio Supreme Court.

The stage was set for the lengthy controversy when Trades Council filed petitions with the auditor, seeking a ballot place for the initiative ordinance designed to repeal the tax measure. Law makes it the auditor's duty to determine if the petitions meet the legal requirements. If he finds them "sufficient", he certifies the question to the Election Board.

In the case last August, Applegate held that four of the 16 petitions filed by Trades Council were irregular and, therefore, the question could not be submitted to a vote. Trades Council then appealed and was sustained by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court.

The city appealed Judge Buzzard's findings to the district court, leading to the hearing in April at which the municipality's arguments were rejected.

As part of the 10-page opinion in the case, the district court ruled that Trades Council's petitions were not dead, despite the long litigation, and that the auditor should certify the question to the Election Board.

Applegate announced his decision in a long statement in which he reviewed many facets of the case: He said:

"In the summer of 1962, initiative petitions were circulated as a means of repealing Ordinance No. 5 of the city of East Liverpool, commonly referred to as the city income tax. The petition consisted of 20 'part petitions'. After checking the petitions, it was determined that 16 of the part petitions were valid. Four were determined as questionable due to many irregularities.

"At that time, I sent a letter to the city solicitor (Joseph W. Cooper) enumerating the various discrepancies and asking for an opinion as to the validity of the petition as a whole. In his reply, the solicitor made note of various sections of the State Code that stated in clear and precise language the laws governing the circulating of initiative petitions and the last two paragraphs of his letter consisted of the following:

" 'It is therefore my opinion that in the event two signatures are written by the same person for himself and another person in the presence of the circulator of such petition that the signed affidavit of the circulator in the form required by law is a false, affidavit and the part petition to which said affidavit is appended must be rejected in whole.

" 'The exercise of the fundamental right of initiative is conditoned upon a due and solemn observance of the provisions of law enacted as a vehicle. Therefore, irregular and fraudulent exercise of power must be strictly guarded against and a strict compliance with the manner provided by law for its exercise must be exacted.' "

"After several meetings with the city solicitor regarding the whole matter, it was determined the auditor could not certify the petition to the Election Board due to the many irregularities found in the petition which were in conflict with the law.

"The court ruled contrary to the solicitor's opinion and has stated that the petition should be certified to the Election Board as valid. There is still recourse to the Supreme Court in this matter, but we are not fighting for the tax. We are closely guarding the rights and privileges of all our citizens — this is the main issue. I have no other interest in this.

"I have been elected to perform a service to the public and the part I have taken in this whole matter is part of that service. The people expect me to be alert because I represent their interest in our municipal government and this I will continue to do. I shall challenge any and all irregularities pertaining to this office.

"I place the competence and effectiveness of the public service before the interests of persons, factions and parties. I have promised to conduct my public life according to the highest ethical standard and I shall not only avoid that which is legally wrong but to seek out and do what is ethically right. I cannot take any other course.

"Therefore, it is my duty as city auditor to comply with the court's wishes and certify the text of the petition to the County Election Board.

"None of us are responsible for all the things that happen to us, but all of us are responsible for the way we act when they do happen. Lastly, I believe that somewhere along the line someone must raise a barrier between these things we believe to be right and those things we believe to be wrong. There may be some who disagree with my action in this matter, but they will not doubt my integrity. I will never forsake principle for expediency."

In a "postscript" to the case, Council approved a $500 appropriation Monday night to pay for special counsel which Cooper hired in presenting the case to the district court. A previous appropriation provided $200, so the total outlay for special counsel was $700, Cooper explained.

Upsets Sit-In Convictions

High Court Puts Off Question Of Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has left until next term the question of whether a businessman—a restaurant owner, for instance—can on his own constitutionally discriminate in the serving of customers. Also: Can he ask authorities to help enforce his discrimination?

The tribunal did not take up these problems Monday as it overturned the convictions of 44 sit-in demonstrators protesting segregation in four states.

In this series of cases, the court declared it unconstitutional for a state to require segregation and use its powers to enforce it.

However, in a separate opinion, Justice John M. Harlan said the right of the private businessman to operate on a segregated basis was "ostensibly left untouched" by the court majority's approach to the issue.

Harlan declared:

"An individual's right to restrict the use of his property, however unregenerate a particular exercise of that right may be thought, lies beyond the reach of the (Constitution's) 14th Amendment.

"The dilution or virtual elimination of that right cannot well be justified either on the premise that it will hasten formal repeal of outworn segregation laws or on the grounds that it will facilitate proof of state action in cases of this kind."

The Supreme Court's declaration, specifically affected 44 individual demonstrators who appealed to the high tribunal. It also indicates that convictions of about 3,000 Negroes and whites arrested for sit-ins in various Southern states are unconstitutional.

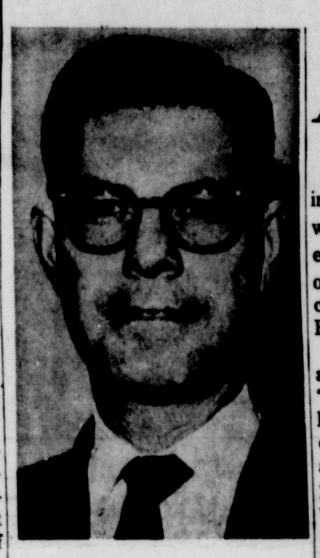

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the majority opinion in the five cases which had been argued together, said of the key case from Greenville, S.C.:

"When a state agency passes a law compelling persons to discriminate against other persons

Blair Named Superintendent

Assumes Post Of Late Ralph Betts

PAUL BLAIR

Paul H. Blair, assistant superintendent of schools for nine years, was elevated to the superintendency Monday night by the Board of Education to fill the vacancy created by the sudden death of Ralph W. Betts on May 12.

Acting swiftly to fill the post at a time which members said is "critical," the board offered and Blair, 44, accepted a three-year contract effective Aug. 1 at a salary of $12,000 a year for the first year—the same salary Mr. Betts would have received. The salary for the remaining two years will be fixed each year.

The board specified that Blair's appointment be effective immediately with the salary to be based on $11,600 yearly, the present superintendent's rate. Just a week prior to the death of Mr. Betts, who was superintendent for nearly 12 years, the board had granted him a $400 increase for the last year of a three-year contract.

The motion by James B. Moss also authorized Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, to accept applications for the assistant superintendent's post. The job currently pays $10,400.

The decision to advance Blair was approved by a 4-1 vote with C. Walter Ashbaugh, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop and James Lowe supporting Moss and Harry D. McConville dissenting.

McConville said he believes the board was acting too speedily and suggested Blair be given the job on a trial basis. He cited Blair's lack of experience as head of a school system and also objected to the length of the contract.

The subject of promoting Blair was introduced by Lowe, board president, following a routine business meeting. The discussion lasted about 20 minutes.

Prior to making his motion, Moss declared the school district "is fortunate in having someone associated with it like Blair. He will do an effective job."

Blair's familiarity with the system "will be a big advantage to us," Moss added.

"Why are we in such a hurry?" McConville asked with Lowe responding, "In fairness to all, the sooner the matter is resolved the better."

"We are going so fast. We know nothing about his abilities, for example on finances. A trial basis would be fine," McConville asserted.

Ashbaugh commented, "We know more about him than we would about someone else we brought in." Ashbaugh also pointed out the three-year contract is "standard."

"Not necessarily," McConville replied, adding, "He's never acted as a superintendent."

"The superintendent no longer is an educator alone," McConville continued, pointing out many church - sponsored colleges, which formerly had clergymen serving as presidents, now are turning to men versed in finance.

"Any superintendent's financial ability is no better than the board for whom he is working. We can curb spending at this table," Lowe said.

"Blair has done a good job in the elementary schools but we know nothing of his administrative ability," McConville said, re-

Negroes Eye Court To Void Pupil Ousting

Birmingham Board Acts To Suspend Or Expel Over 1,000

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro leaders say they will go to federal court in efforts to void a Birmingham school board order to expel or suspend more than 1,000 Negro pupils who demonstrated against segregation.

The school board's action Monday was not unexpected, and Negro leaders said they planned to fight the move only by legal means.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said on his return from Atlanta, "We will not call for a mass walkout or boycott of the schools, nor will we call for a renewal of demonstrations at this point."

After a meeting with other integration leaders, King said, "We will not seek to correct an unwise act by moving hastily into another unwise act."

The decision by the Negro leaders saved a shaky biracial agreement which had been threatened by the school board's handling of the dispute.

"We know there are certain forces in Birmingham trying to sabotage this agreement," King said.

He called the board's action "a tragic move, immoral . . . a dastardly act."

In a letter to school principals, Supt. Theo Wright ordered immediate expulsion of pupil participants over 16 and suspension of those under 16. It affects 1,081 pu-

Farmers Vote Set Today On Wheat Plan

Question Centers Around Controls And Price Supports

After weeks of hot debate, record numbers of farmers—possibly more than 1.5 million—are expected to vote today on a plan to curb wheat production.

Their decision may cast the future of government farm programs, and their costs.

In a nutshell the question is whether wheat farmers want rigid controls and high price supports or no controls and low price supports.

And the referendum's outcome, after the biggest campaign ever waged among farmers, was expected to have widespread economic and political repercussions.

Reports from the wheat areas indicated a close vote. Neither the plan's proponents nor opponents would predict the result as the zero hour approached.

Perhaps overshadowing the wheat proposal itself is the overall question of whether the federal government should plunge deeper into the business of farming or pull away, leaving a more free competitive market system.

Dizzy Day Of Ceremonies

Capital Cheering Astronaut Today

A cheering, whistling welcome awaited the quiet Air Force major who streaked to fame last week in the silent oceans of space as he orbited the earth 22 times.

The slim spaceman faced a dizzying day of ceremonies: a medal from the President, a speech to Congress and a motorcade up the glory road from the White House to Capitol Hill.

Officials scheduled the day's highlight for the White House rose garden where President Kennedy will pin the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Distinguished Service Medal on the 36-year-old pilot who flew around the earth more times than any other American.

The Weather Bureau predicted a cool, cloudy day, far better than the day more than a year ago when a pouring rain drenched 200,000 to 300,000 spectators as they watched Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. on his motorcade up Pennsylvania Avenue.

The President's plane, bringing Cooper from Cape Canaveral, Fla., was due to land at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland in the late morning. With him will be his wife, Trudy, his two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, and at least four of the other astronauts.

After the ceremonies, the Pres-

NATO's Okay Expected For Atomic Force

OTTAWA (AP)—Statesmen of the 15 Atlantic pact powers gathered in Ottawa today to give formal approval to a compromise formula—approved by President Charles de Gaulle—permitting the formation of an allied nuclear force.

Delegates of France and several other countries said the formula would be set forth in the final communique of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's spring meeting of foreign and defense ministers. The three-day meeting opens Wednesday.

The formula leaves the force nameless and without a command structure of its own. The French said they would block the project if it was portrayed as something new, or extraordinary, or implying fresh commitments.

The conference communique reportedly will say that:

1. Britain is assigning her entire 180-plane V-bomber force, complete with hydrogen bombs, to U.S. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe.

2. The United States is assigning three nuclear-powered sub-

Cars Collide As 2 Swerve In Same Way

Two drivers swerved their cars Monday night in an attempt to avoid a collision on Anderson Blvd., but the trouble was that both turned in the same direction, bringing on a crash after all, police reported.

The mishap at 7:24 on Anderson Blvd. at Beechwood St. involved a southbound 1952 model car driven by William Morris, 26, of Ruth St. and a northbound 1956 convertible reported by James Eberhart, 19, of 301 Carolina Ave., Maplewood, officers said.

Morris told police he reached for a cigarette, causing his car to cross the center line. He said he tried in vain to get back onto his own side of the road.

Eberhart said he saw the Morris car on his side of the street. He said he applied the brakes and swerved to the left to avoid a collision, but Morris also swerved and the cars collided about in the center of the street.

The resignations of a veteran high school teacher and two elementary teachers were accepted Monday night by the Board of Education.

Ira C. Sayre, English instructor and faculty adviser for the Keramos Echo, school newspaper, and Keramos yearbook, is leaving the system after 30 years as a teacher.

The board also accepted the resignations of Lester Hickman, who will return to Colombia in January as a missionary, and Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner, both elementary teachers. Hickman has been appointed to the staff earlier this year while on leave.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Should Avoid Harmful Things

A problem every parent has with the baby beginning to creep or toddle is to teach him to avoid places and things which might harm him or which he might harm. Some would advise the parent to put everything away which the child might harm or which might harm him on the assumption that he will avoid such when he grows old enough. Well, you could have a bare room and let him roam at will. But just when and how will he learn to adapt himself properly to a normal room and its furnishings?

YOU COULD, OF course, hold the youngster and always intercept him when he's about to face danger or be dangerous to some object. If you could be with him all his waking hours, you might gradually train him. But would such constant attention be good for him or you? Would the average mother have sufficient time and energy for this?

Instead, you might have this youngster in a baby pen when you can't be right with him and take him from the pen when you can or wish to do so. When you do, you could have removed just a few of the most fragile or dangerous things from his reach and center your attention on his learning to avoid only one or two things.

Suppose you center on teaching this tot to avoid the fireplace or one object on the low table.

Each time he is about to reach for that place or object, give him physical pain with a slap on his bare hand or bare thigh, saying "No" just once.

Repeat the same kind of pain when he approaches the same forbidden place or object again. Allow no exceptions.

IF HE PERSISTS, and always gets immediate pain for more than four or five times in succession, it might be well to put him back in the pen or hold or rock him. Later, release him again, making sure immediate pain follows if he tries to seize or approach this one forbidden thing.

As there must be other things or places you wish him to avoid, merely intercept or hold him away from them. Center on the one place or thing for training till he learns permanently to avoid it automatically. Then he may be ready to learn in like manner to avoid one more thing or place and so on.

By and by, with 'No" always associated with pain meant to restrain him, this word alone, as quiet information, will deter him from new forbidden places, objects and activities.

A warning —the first few times you purposely give your little child pain he may want you to pity and cuddle him. Be too busy to do so; otherwise you will be telling him you are sorry you gave him pain. But you should not be. You did it with a very definite purpose.

IN ALL THIS training, be sure the youngster gets ample pleasure from approved activities and lots of tender cuddling. The more of this he enjoys, the more effective will the very few forbiddings be.

Coroner's Ruling Due In Death Of Boy, 14

CLEVELAND (AP)—The coroner is to rule on the death of a Maple Heights boy who collapsed and died Monday after playing softball at East Junior High School in the suburb.

Robert Drazdik, 14, failed to respond when teachers attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation after he collapsed. Maple Heights firemen also were unsuccessful using oxygen.

The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Drazdik, said Robert had suffered fainting spells last year twice after climbing ropes in gym class. They said a family doctor had advised the youth to continue to take gym.

Then, when Chrysler Corporation announced that the quality of Valiant was being backed by America's longest and best new-car warranty, we were doubly sure. Look what happened—Valiant sales in March were 176% of March last year, right in this region.

*Your Authorized Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts or labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch); torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedules.

Council Study Due

Parking Meters Seen 'Unusable'

Repeating a recommendation made on several previous occasions, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen told Council Monday night about 350 15-year-old parking meters should be replaced soon because they "are no longer serviceable" and bring a deluge of complaints from motorists.

Owen asked Council to consider legislation that would clear the way for the administration to install new meters to replace the 1947 models. Some companies offer a plan under which the city can pay for the meters out of "excess revenue"—the difference between present income and the receipts that would be produced by properly - operating devices, he pointed out.

OPENING his remarks, Owen pointed out the need for new meters has been cited to Council on several occasions, but no final action has been taken.

"I would like to have an answer," he said. "I understand the Traffic Commission and the Chamber of Commerce intend to write to Council recommending the purchase of new meters."

Owen declared that "the meters we have are no longer serviceable." Since many cannot be repaired, the administration has considered the possibility of taking them out of service as they break down, Owen said.

"I'm going to have to start turning these complaints over to you councilmen instead of taking them at my office," the director said. "You know we need them. Please buy new ones or allow me to take the old ones out."

Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, replied that he is "in sympathy" with the director's problem. Council approved his motion for a meeting between the finance committee and the director to study a plan under which new meters could be purchased "without an outlay of cash."

If the method can be worked out, enabling legislation will be presented to Council, the motion provided.

OWEN asked if Council intends to "bolster" the street department funds with additional appropriations from income tax receipts, as has been done in former years.

Willshaw said he can see no possibility of providing additional funds for the department. He pointed out funds were provided earlier for the city's share of a new low-cost street surfacing program and for a seal-coating project for blacktop thoroughfares.

Council approved a motion by Councilman S. James Welch referring to the ordinance committee the question of installing a new traffic light at the intersection of Pennsylvania Ave. and Virginia Ave.

THE ACTION was taken after Welch read figures from a traffic count made at the intersection recently, covering a 12-hour period from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. It showed that 1,020 vehicles proceeded north on Virginia Ave. to turn onto Pennsylvania Ave.

Welch said the light is needed particularly to aid Virginia Ave. traffic in turning onto the main thoroughfare. The problem is complicated by a large number of trucks that use Virginia Ave. in hauling to and from nearby industrial plants, he said.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Edward Massey that the city seek federal aid to help finance a Gardendale trunk line sewer project — for which plans have been completed — and another to extend a trunk line into the east End of Pleasant Heights.

Massey proposed the new Pleasant Heights project last night, pointing out it could be financed out of sewage department construction funds.

MASSEY also asked the administration to "exert all possible effort" to persuade the State Highway Department to move ahead with a project for improvement of Route 267 from W. 8th St. through Pleasant Heights to the north city limits. The state now is studying the project, recommended by Massey several months ago.

Massey asked the street department to investigate the need for signs to slow traffic in Church Alley. Some Waterford Park Race Track patrons use the alley as a shortcut, endangering children, he said.

Council also accepted a series of recommendations on traffic controls from Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, chairman of the street committee.

The committee called for signs reading, "Slow, Children Playing," at Gardendale Ave. and McKee St., Smithfield St. and McKee St. and Springdale Ave. and Pope Ave. Similar signs were requested in the vicinity of East Junior High School.

THE COMMITTEE also recommended erection of a stop sign at the junction of Gardendale Ave. and Harrison St. and a 90-day trial of a parking ban in Bay Alley between Pennsylvania Ave. and Globe St.

Berg repeated a complaint he has made on many previous occasions that trash burning in the Loblaw, Inc., market on Bradshaw Ave. causes a stench in the neighborhood. He read excerpts from the minutes of a series of meetings in 1962 at which the complaint was discussed.

Berg said the complaints were renewed by residents of the area Sunday and his investigation showed the "stench was unbearable." Berg said he discussed the complaints Monday with Health Commissioner Septimus Cook, who said that "the only thing we can do now is issue a warrant and take them into court."

BERG ASKED Owen to check the complaints of holes in the "red dog" surface of upper Minerva St. He also said complaints of trash scattered on Elm St. have been referred to the Health Department.

Reporting for the planning committee, Councilman Floyd Murray said it still is investigating a suggestion for fluoridation of the city water supply to help prevent tooth decay. The recommendation was made to Council May 6 by the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department.

In a report of the claims committee, Massey said two bills against the city have been rejected. He said they are a $24 claim filed by Willard Hunter of Chester Ave. for damage when his car hit a chuckhole, and a $9.50 claim from Gary Montgomery of Rigby St., who said a wheel of his car dropped into an open manhole.

JOHN EDDY of Thompson Ave. filed a claim with Council, asking $110 for damage allegedly caused when a sewer backed up into his cellar. It was referred to the claims committee.

Council gave final approval, 7-0, to an ordinance to vacate sections of several unused riverfront area streets and alleys in the vicinity of the Milliron Co. and Pearl China Co. properties.

The action abandons: 1st St. from Market St. to Jackson St., Peach Alley between the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. right-of-way and the Ohio River, 1st St. from Union St. to Washington St. and Cherry Alley from the railroad to the river.

Murray commented that he voted against the legislation on first reading May 6 because he understood some persons who opposed the plan wanted an opportunity to appear before Council. He said he switched his vote because no protesting group appeared.

It referred to the ordinance committee a proposal to abolish the position of sewer inspector and retitle the job "maintenance man" at an hourly rate of $2.20. The sewer inspector's post was held by Floyd E. Tice, who died about a month ago.

The board also asked Council to authorize a call for bids to install a new roof on one of the two Henry Ave. standpipes. The roof is "badly deteriorated and in a dangerous condition," the letter said. The board estimated cost of the work at $2,600, but said no new appropriation will be required, as funds already are available in the current appropriation.

The board's third letter commented on legislation which Council approved May 6 setting a monthly rental of $120 for offices occupied by the water and sewage departments on the first floor of City Hall. The letter said the board assumes the charge "includes janitorial service." All three letters were signed by W. O. Schneider, chairman of the board.

COUNCIL received a letter from Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr. pointing out that the recent death of Mrs. Millicent T. Hall created a vacancy on the five - member Board of Trustees of the James Godwin Fund for the Relief of the Poor.

The letter proposed that if Council has no other successor in mind, the appointment might be given to Mrs. J. Donald Thompson. Council moved for legislation to name Mrs. Thompson. Other members of the board are Atty. Vodrey, C. Walter Ashbaugh, A. L. White and C. W. Hendershot.

The board was established by an ordinance enacted in 1900, Atty. Vodrey's letter pointed out.

Council approved a motion by Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. extending sympathy to the school system in the recent death of Supt. Ralph W. Betts.

Sample said he has received queries about the city's plans to begin work on rebuilding outer St. Clair Ave. He said no action can be taken locally until the plans are given final approval by the federal government.

Councilman Frank Duffy asked the street committee to investigate "a parking conditon" on Ridge Alley between Pennsylvania Ave. and Erie St.

HE ASKED Owen when oil will be spread to lay dust on Etruria St. and Cleveland Ave. and in Little England. The director said the program is ready to begin and the first work will be performed when the unsurfaced streets dry out after recent rains.

A brief controversy was touched off when Joseph Burcham of W. 4th St., speaking before Council, asserted he had been told a councilman "missed meetings for four months and still got paid."

Several councilmen shouted in reply: "Who was it?" and similar queries, but Burcham did not answer directly.

Council President Charles Edwards remarked that Burcham has been at most recent Council meetings "and you know no one has missed more than one meeting consecutively."

ANOTHER MAN who did not identify himself said the absent councilman "was Sample, years ago."

"That was in 1951," Sample replied. "And I didn't get paid."

Later, Sample expanded on his statement, explaining he missed three meetings and "two of them were because I was in the hospital."

Murray defended Council against Burcham's charge, backed up by Berg. Both cited the councilmen's commitee work, in addition to regular meetings. Berg said Council held 24 special sessions during 1962.

London Underground Intrigues Navy Officer

LONDON (AP) — A U. S. Navy captain is so intrigued with the London underground — subway to Americans — that he has written a book about it.

Capt. Frank Manson, of Tahlequah, Okla., chief Navy information officer in Europe, maintains that each line on the underground has its own individual character.

On the central line, he says, "they are terribly reserved. I watched one ticket collector every day getting closer and closer to speaking to me. Finally he burst out with a long description of all his ailments."

About his book, "Yank in the Underground," Manson says "riding the underground is one of the best ways of learning about the city, its people and their habits and interests.

"Some people think that subway riders just sit there. Some do, but most people are industrious. What they do varies, but they're busy doing something."

Cleveland Concern Buys Wickliffe Firm

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lee Wilson Engineering Co., Inc., says it has acquired the business assets of American Roller Die Corp. of Wickliffe.

Lee Wilson, chairman of the Cleveland-based producer of annealing and heat-treating furnaces and equipment, reported the acquisition Monday but declined to give the purchase price.

Salem Firm Told To Abate Air Pollution

LISBON — The Nease Chemical Co. of Salem was ordered to abate an air pollution nuisance at a meeting of over 30 neighbors and interested parties with the Columbiana County Health Board Monday night.

Atty. Alfred Fitch, representing Mr. and Mrs. John Fitch, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Getz and Robert E. Hergenroder, reported vapor rolls from the plant, which they claim has an acid odor giving a choking sensation.

Hergenroder, Mr. and Mrs. Getz and another neighbor gave their version of trouble from the white vapor five or 20 times each week.

William Greenamyer, residing about 2,000 feet south of the plant, cited his daughter's asthmatic condition which required her to be hospitalized for five days. He said they believe it was caused by the fumes, but their doctor has not diagnosed it as such at present.

Dr. T. C. Dauphine of State College, Pa., vice president of Nease Chemical, represented the firm along with Claire M. Wert, plant manager.

Dr. Dauphine explained what the company uses for its products, adding the plant is protected better than any of their others. He said that due to new personnel, who have not worked in any chemical plants, they must be trained. Because of their newness to this type of work, they make mistakes and breaks may occur in lines, which may be causing such odors.

Hergenroder, a former employe, reported on his experiences and said at present he is receiving benefits from the Ohio Industrial Commission for a lung condition he received while working at the plant.

Mrs. Charles Getz reported a burning sensation to her lips when fumes come from the plant.

Alex Kamasky said a liquid running on to his pasture causes cow to cough.

Fred Johnson of Summittville said he did not see any actual health danger but Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana said he believes there is evidence of trouble. Felix Butch of Lisbon, board member, made a motion that the plant is a nuisance and that it be ordered to abate the condition and report its progress at the next meeting June 17 at 8 p.m. Dr. Pritchard seconded the motion, which was approved unanimously.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, gave the monthly reports. The department issued 46 plumbing permits and 51 sewage permits. Mrs. Violet Peterson, county health nurse, made 26 home visits, held 25 clinics and gave immunizations, 161 polio shots and 271 vaccinations, along with four Mantoux TB tests. She made 19 doctor office visits, two home visits, gave talks to two eighth grades and attended one workshop.

Communicable diseases reported included one death, 83 cases of measles, 12 of mumps and two of scarlet fever.

Plumbing inspector Gene Cover made 61 plumbing inspections, took 13 water samples, investigated eight nuisances and inspected a trailer camp.

Sanitarian Harry Stockdale made 36 food service inspections, 15 of sewage, 18 nuisances, two at trailer parks, 11 for refuse and took milk samples from a local dairy.

Bills of $3,942 were ordered paid.

Bed Mishap Fatal

College Bulge Will Need Buildings

The penny-a-pack cigarette tax which Ohioans voted on themselves back in 1955 came so easy that a group of citizens wants to continue it to raise money for new buildings at state universities during the next four years.

Easy money sometimes is a dangerous thing in government. But few complain with the manner in which the extra penny of cigarette tax revenue is being spent. It was voted in November 1955 by a 56 per cent margin in the form of a state constitutional amendment authorizing $10 million in bonds. Half of the money was earmarked for state hospitals and prisons, the rest for state university buildings.

The Ohio citizens group, headed by Republic Steel President Thomas F. Patton, believes Ohio voters would be willing to continue the cigarette tax beyond its present expiration date of 1977 in order to raise $150 million more for state university buildings.

THE EXPERIENCE with the proposal approved eight years ago has been good, collection-wise. The cigarette tax has produced some $80 million more than had been anticipated by this date and the bonds issued then can be expected to be retired ahead of schedule.

There is no time to lose, Mr. Patton emphasizes. By 1967 — just four years from now — statistics show the number of 18-year-olds will be up 50 per cent over this year and enrollment in all of Ohio's colleges can be expected to be up a corresponding 50 per cent.

The private colleges already are swamped. They now must refuse admission to many more high school graduates than they can accept because they do not have space or faculty. The lion's share of the bulge in college enrollment is bound to be thrust upon the six state universities.

MR. PATTON points out that any building program started now will take four years or so before it can be turned into finished bricks and mortar, and Ohio must act now if it is to be ready for the 1967 freshman crop.

Already, the state colleges are finding themselves increasingly hard put to meet the steady annual bulge in enrollment. This problem, Mr. Patton emphasizes, is coupled with the greater role Ohio's universities and university-based research must play in keeping Ohio's economy vital and growing.

Mr. Patton has on his large committee dozens of the leading citizens in their communities. They have given the program their blessing. It has been endorsed, too, by agricultural, industrial, business and educational groups, and more undoubtedly will join in the campaign.

Next stop is for the Ohio General Assembly to place the bond issue proposal on the November ballot. Then it will be up to Ohioans to approve it.

We believe they can be convinced they should.

Salvation Army Week

East Liverpool's energetic Citadel is joining in the observance of National Salvation Army Week.

This year's program, which was launched with an open house Sunday, has special meaning locally since it is the first that has been held in the new home on E. 4th St.

With about $60,000 needed to pay off the mortgage on the structure, gifts still are being accepted. There would be no better time than the present to express appreciation for the many services performed by the "Army" here.

It is not necessary to review these services. They are widely known to those who have been in need. The "Army" seldom has been found wanting.

Your support is needed to keep its extensive program in full swing. If you have not contributed to the building fund, Salvation Army Week would be a most opportune time to do so.

Turn The Questions Around

Matter of fact, they can't. That's why the questions sound sappy. "How did you feel, Major Cooper?" "Were you worried about your husband, Mrs. Cooper?" "How did you feel when your capsule hit the ocean, Major?" "Are you glad your husband's home safe, Mrs. Cooper?"

The questions are inane, but how could they be anything else? The purpose of asking them isn't to get information, only to give the astronauts and their wives a chance to be seen and heard in public.

As far as information is concerned, the questions should be turned around.

MAJOR COOPER and his fellow astronauts should ask us how we felt when they were proving the United States could carry on a successful space program, even though outdistanced by the Soviet Union so far. Well, gentlemen, it's like this:

We are bothered because there is no economic goal. America is first in telephones, television, autos, plumbing, housing, entertainment, etc., because of a money incentive. We created wealth to become wealthier.

We think about this while swallowing the lump when our navy is fishing multi-million-dollar Mercury capsules out of the ocean and while million-dollar rockets are rising at Cape Canaveral.

There is no economic justification for a multi-billion-dollar space program. Even if our astronauts get to the moon and back, the cost of the trip will be a net debit on the balance sheet. No wealth is being created, but billions of dollars are being dissipated.

WE SHARE the joy of success. We are proud of the astronauts. We have been proud of their wives and kids. They look and talk like the kind of people all of us wish we were.

We want to believe there are tens and hundreds of thousands of Americans like these, with know-how, courage, a sense of dedication and charm.

We want to believe the whole project of conquering space is something America can take in its stride because it fits in with the American way of life.

But the fact is it doesn't really fit in. It is of necessity a public project.

Unlike the other great pushes that gave momentum to this country, it cannot be private enterprise, ever. It cannot be economically justified by the wildest stretch of the imagination.

Only in ideological rivaly with the Soviet Union is there justification, and the Soviet Union's toughest problem is justifying its own money-out-of-pocket expenses on something that is putting no food in Russian mouths, no wealth in the Soviet treasury.

THERE ARE THE things we think about in the midst of our pride over the astronauts.

We're on our way to the moon.

We're elated about it, proud of the people who are promising to take us there.

But we have no more idea than a rabbit how we're going to pay for it, with nothing coming in but moonbeams.

The Exact Word

By Truman Twill

The only reason this is about "balderdash" is because I like that expression better than "horse feathers."

But if I am going to say "balderdash" when I mean "horse feathers," which is a nice-nellyism, I want to know what "balderdash" means.

It began with another of my frequent readings of "The Golden Bough," by Sir James Frazer. This rewarding book never fails to produce new chunks of comprehension about human superstitition.

Sir James says the Teutonic god Balder, son of Odin and Frigg, was supposedly killed by a twig of mistletoe—the "golden bough." Balder was as big a god as there was in olden times. Being killed with a dart made of the golden bough was dying in style in those days—like Achilles having to be pierced in the heel with a spear because otherwise he was invulnerable.

NOTHING ELSE could have killed Balder. As the god of peace, light, eloquence, beauty and wisdom he was secure, except for mistletoe. To understand this, of course, you first must understand that all the superstitions that were still are, somewhere.

You never heard of Balder, perhaps, but as you read what Sir James learned about superstitition and magic you know why Balder existed. We still have gods of peace, light, eloquence, beauty and wisdom and bad people still try to destroy them. We call it "character assassination."

But back to "balderdash". . .

Dictionaries say its origin is unknown; that it means a worthless mixture of liquors, words or trash. But doesn't it have an obvious connection with Balder, a name familiar to every Teuton at one time?

A "dash" is a violent impact. It can refer to a dash of liquid, such as a "dash" of water thrown in the face of one who has fainted. Waves "dash" against the rocky seacoast. There was a sudden "dash" of rain.

Isn't it reasonable to believe "balderdash" meant the things that were done to destroy Balder before an evil god finally learned that this incarnation of virtue was a sucker for a mistletoe dart?

"Balderdash" means today what it apparently meant at the beginning—trash and froth and ill-natured scandal such as is aimed at all people who amount to anything.

There needs to be a word for this stuff that the air is full of all the time. The word must be suitable for the problem the stuff presents.

It must be suitable, in other words, for disposing of the problem. Like this:

Some flap-lip is blowing off, trying to bring about a character assassination. But he doesn't have a mistletoe dart. "Balderdash!" you sniff and walk away.

Here's one citizen who is starting to practice sniffing right now for the "balderdash" that will be flying in the next national election.

What is believed to be one of the world's largest underground "mountains" goes under the name of "Monumental Mountain" and is situated in Wyandotte Cave, a limestone cavern with five levels of passages in Crawford County, southern Indiana. This underground mountain is approximately 135 feet high.

Variation Of Russian Roulette

Does Baltimore Mean A Trend?

By Victor Riesel

Trend watchers in the White House are carefully analyzing the May 7 election which gave Baltimore's City Hall to a Republican for the first time in 16 years — though the Democratic candidate was personally and enthusiastically endorsed by President Kennedy.

Victor Riesel

The victor is big, hail-fellow-well - met Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin. He won by a slim 5,389 vote lead.

What intrigues the political scientists of Mr. Kennedy's inner circle is the heavy official labor support given McKeldin. And the fact that much of this labor, and many of the leading activists in the Republican campaign, were Negro officials and rank-and-file workingmen.

There is no doubt that the labor vote was the balance of power in McKeldin's successful drive against the 48-year-old acting mayor, Philip H. Goodman. If this is a hint of a trend, it is one of the most significant developments on the political front.

IF IT'S a sign of the times, it could mean Republican cracking of strong Democratic machines in big Northern industrial cities. It may not be, for McKeldin has long been popular with Maryland labor, having held the mayoralty and the governorship in the past. But a close look at the record of this campaign reveals more than the personal popularity of the man who once put Dwight Eisenhower in nomination for the presidency.

There always has been an influential Republican labor bloc here. Surprisingly, in the recent jousting, a phalanx of Democrats swung over to the GOP nominee. After a series of conferences, the union leaders organized the "Bipartisan Labor Committee for McKeldin." They worked with Robert Gormley, chief of the Republican Labor Division, during the last 10 days of the drive. The Democrats never lost their political identity — though they poured it on for the Republican challenger.

And they did it on the record. They put their names on the committee's literature. This was across-the-board labor support—from among the steelworkers, the hod carriers, the chemical workers, the longshoremen and the teamsters.

Among the latter was Dick Grabowsky, a traditional Hoffa foe, who leads a strong local of more than 5,000 drivers.

McKELDIN, who once said his hobby is "work," proved it last month. Accompanied by Negro longshoremen leaders and a popular Negro hodcarrier, he got up at 5 a.m. to get down to the docks at shape-up time.

He mixed with the men as they set out for work on the piers. With other labor leaders he went to union parties. He stalked plant gates in the early morning, lunchtime and quitting hours.

The bipartisan committee supplied cars. They put workers into the precincts. They got up ample ballots. They contributed funds.

On the morning of April 27, they ran a labor breakfast for McKeldin. Over 130 labor leaders and stewards turned out as a sign of solidarity. There can be no doubt that they helped him roll up the winning votes.

Whether this bipartisanship will hold together for the 1964 presidential campaign, no one can guess. Fighting for a local Republican is one thing, bucking John Kennedy in '64 is another proposition entirely.

But Republican strategists will try to use Baltimore as an eastern anchor for a national labor network in '64. It will stretch from Baltimore and New York to California, Oregon and at least one point in between.

THOUGH THE STORY is virtually unknown in many sections of the country, there is a Republican-labor coalition in Idaho. The GOP governor, Robert E. Smylie, was the only Republican gubernatorial candidate in 1962 to get official state AFL-CIO endorsement. Mr. Smylie took a third four year term with a heavy margin. The president and the secretary of the state labor federation are frequent visitors to the governor's office.

There are not many areas where there is such liaison. But California's Sen. Kuchel had important labor support. His California colleagues are setting up a labor advisory committee or two there.

There's Mark Hatfield of Oregon who had strong labor endorsement. In New York Sen. Keating has been conferring with labor men. So is Gov. Rockefeller.

Republican strategists know they can't crack through the popularity of John Kennedy with the national labor leaders. But the GOP officials feel they can, by regional organizing, change their image of opposition to labor.

A new kind of "marriage ban" has been issued in Coventry, England. People who want to get married in the spectacular new cathedral in that town have been informed that in order to do so they must attend services regularly for at least six months.

Fire killed approximately 11,800 people in the U. S. during 1962, and another 1,800,000 people involved in fires suffered severe burns. This was the highest toll taken by fire in the nation since 1954. Abuot 6,400 of the fire deaths occurred in the homes, and more than a third of these victims—2,200—were children.

Birmingham And 1964

By David Lawrence

Negative Voting Stirs Speculation

Much has been written lately about the rise of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as a possible Republican nominee, but the significance of his candidacy in relation to the Birmingham controversy has gone almost unnoticed.

David Lawrence

For several months now, reports from the South have indicated that Sen. Goldwater stood a good chance of carrying the electoral votes of many Southern states if he were nominated for the presidency in 1964. This is related to the dilemma of the Democratic party.

Thus, in almost every Southern state, the United States senators and representatives are dependent on the Democratic party machinery. They must support the Democratic party organization to be reelected. Sen. Olin D. Johnston D-SC, made reference to the problem at a recent meeting of the Alabama Democratic party leaders in Birmingham. He said:

"As soon as you develop a strong two-party system in the South you are going to get the same minority-vote baiting that you have in cities like New York, Chicago and Kansas City. When we reach that point in Southern politics our states' rights will. . . go out the window. You will be turning over your senators and representatives like the farmer plows his field every spring.

"The last strength of states' rights is vested in the powers of your representatives in Washington whom you have elected, and seniority is the source of your strength and power in Washington to preserve our states' rights. Once you start swapping your statesmen for Republicans, the battle of states' rights will be lost."

THIS IS a logical theory but it may not necessarily convince the voters. They usually vote their resentments. That's why many incumbent Democrats in the South feel they have to express themselves vehemently in criticism of the Kennedy administration's tactics in Birmingham, especially in connection with the President's threat to use federal troops.

The Republicans in the South who are candidates for office usually soft-pedal the civil rights issue but their brethren in the North do not. Sen. Johnston is right about the "minority-vote baiting." Some of the so-called liberal Republicans in the Northern states are constantly prodding the administration to brush aside states' rights. Their demand is for the use of more federal troops and bayonets. These Republicans are dependent largely on Negro votes in the North, so they, too, present an artificial image to the people.

The crux of the problem is the lack of courage of many men in public life. They care more for reelection than they do for basic principles which are being trampled upon in the game of politics.

There obviously is a need for a two-party system everywhere in the country. The voter wants an alternative. Often he doesn't care if the other party's platform is no better than that of the incumbent's.

The tendency is to defeat at the polls the party which caused the grievance and teach a lesson for the future to the elected nominees of the other party.

NEGATIVE VOTING is customary throughout the United States. Many Southern Democrats would vote for Sen. Goldwater as a means of expressing their disapproval of the Kennedy administration.

The Arizona senator, incidentally, will argue for civil rights and equality but wants the goal to be achieved only through the proper legal processes. He can even espouse the cause of integration and not be offensive to the South as long as he insists that it be achieved through legal and constitutional methods and not by usurpation or by methods which are coercive and unlawful.

Sen. Goldwater may or may not become the Republican nominee for president, but he is one of the few Republicans active in national politics who has the temerity to insist on constitutionalism, as he foregoes the opportunities for demagoguery on the civil rights issue.

The Republicans in the South have been making gains in the last few years. But they have done so as an opposition party. They are often as conservative, if not more so, than their Democratic opponents. The close race in Alabama last year for the U.S. Senate has encouraged the Republicans.

The same trend has been noticeable in other states. Votes have been given to the Republicans by persons who are resentful of the policies of the Kennedy administration.

THE BIG QUESTION is whether the current antagonism will abate or whether it will grow by the time the 1964 election is at hand. It could develop that, even with the active participation of the Democratic members of Congress on the side of the Kennedy administration, the negative vote will be large enough to put some of the Southern states in the electroal column of an opoosition party.

Teacher Gone Astray

That's Chinese View of Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE — How do the Red Chinese look on Soviet Russia in the midst of today's intense ideological split between the two countries? Here, in the second of a series of articles, is a report which provides some answers by a British author who just toured Red China for three weeks.

By RICHARD P. LISTER

PEKING (AP)—To go to China, you stop in Moscow on the way and again on the way back. It's a good chance to look at the Red giants, old and new.

Every major city in China has its Sino-Soviet Hall of Friendship. The halls remain, but where is the friendship? Ivan, carved in stone, stands shoulder to shoulder with Chang outside, but flesh-and-blood Ivan, if he is in China at all, is not readily to be seen.

The Chinese look on Soviet Russia as a loved and respected teacher who has gone astray. They're sad about it but they're not going to budge an inch in their views. The Chinese simply know that they have the right answer. It is the Russians who erred.

The difference in atmosphere between Moscow and Peking is sensed immediately. China is still in the first stages of its revolution. Everyone must have enough to eat and enough to wear, but there is little room for luxury.

And yet, where Russia may often seem grim or hostile, China as often seems friendly and gay.

Russia has transformed its drab scene with consumer goods in recent years. The contrast in China is striking. There are plenty of things in the Chinese shop windows but the monotony is oppressive.

In contrast to this austerity, the scene in Moscow looks more and more like the luxurious West. Is it the slackening of pure Communist standards, or merely a sign of the national character?

There's another striking difference. Chinese "face" seems more important than Russian "face." A Chinese waiter or porter will not accept a tip any more than a child a piece of candy. He is unwilling to consent to anything that puts him in an inferior position.

In the West, the Smiths must keep up with the Joneses on motor cars, TV sets, washing machines; in China what worries Chang is that he may fall too far behind Chen in output per shift.

The disinclination to accept favors from foreigners is accounted for to some extent by the sheer unfamiliarity with foreigners. The traveler in China is soon aware that he is a rarity. Once he goes more than ten yards from his hotel he is unlikely to see a Western face. He is stared at in frank curiosity. If he stops to buy something he is immediately wedged against the counter by a curious crowd. They stare and often they laugh. The chances are they're not being rude by their lights. Laughter itself can mean embarrassment. If you greet them with the universal "Ni Hao" (hello) they ni-hao back with enthusiasm and laugh even louder. On festive occasions, they are likely to fall back into orderly lines and applaud. The traveler claps back, Russian style.

The crowds, though curious, are neither suspicious nor hostile. These are our Western friends, they seem to say; if they were not our friends they would not come to see us.

Seven men have been elected to the Presidency before they were 50 years old. They were Grant, Cleveland, Pierce, Polk, Garfield, Theodore Roosevelt, and Kennedy.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Should Avoid Harmful Things

A problem every parent has with the baby beginning to creep or toddle is to teach him to avoid places and things which might harm him or which he might harm. Some would advise the parent to put everything away which the child might harm or which might harm him on the assumption that he will avoid such when he grows old enough. Well, you could have a bare room and let him roam at will. But just when and how will he learn to adapt himself properly to a normal room and its furnishings?

YOU COULD, OF course, hold the youngster and always intercept him when he's about to face danger or be dangerous to some object. If you could be with him all his waking hours, you might gradually train him. But would such constant attention be good for him or you? Would the average mother have sufficient time and energy for this?

Instead, you might have this youngster in a baby pen when you can't be right with him and take him from the pen when you can or wish to do so. When you do, you could have removed just a few of the most fragile or dangerous things from his reach and center your attention on his learning to avoid only one or two things.

Suppose you center on teaching this tot to avoid the fireplace or one object on the low table.

Each time he is about to reach for that place or object, give him physical pain with a slap on his bare hand or bare thigh, saying "No" just once.

Repeat the same kind of pain when he approaches the same forbidden place or object again. Allow no exceptions.

IF HE PERSISTS, and always gets immediate pain for more than four or five times in succession, it might be well to put him back in the pen or hold or rock him. Later, release him again, making sure immediate pain follows if he tries to seize or approach this one forbidden thing.

As there must be other things or places you wish him to avoid, merely intercept or hold him away from them. Center on the one place or thing for training till he learns permanently to avoid it automatically. Then he may be ready to learn in like manner to avoid one more thing or place and so on.

By and by, with 'No" always associated with pain meant to restrain him, this word alone, as quiet information, will deter him from new forbidden places, objects and activities.

A warning —the first few times you purposely give your little child pain he may want you to pity and cuddle him. Be too busy to do so; otherwise you will be telling him you are sorry you gave him pain. But you should not be. You did it with a very definite purpose.

IN ALL THIS training, be sure the youngster gets ample pleasure from approved activities and lots of tender cuddling. The more of this he enjoys, the more effective will the very few forbiddings be.

Ex-Colonel Flees

Turkey Crushes Revolt Attempt

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Turkish government said today it had completely crushed an ex-army colonel's second attempt in 15 months to seize power.

Ex-Col. Talat Aydemir, the rebel leader, was reported fleeing from Ankara, the Turkish capital, less than eight hours after dissident army officers announced the coup attempt.

Gen. Cevdet Sunay, chief of staff of the Turkish armed forces, said in a broadcast shortly after dawn, "a treacherous attempt by a small group to seize power has been completely crushed."

One man was reported killed and four others wounded in fighting in Ankara.

The government news agency Anaolia reported that Aydemir, 50, had fled. The tank officer was ousted from the military and jailed after masterminding a short lived rebellion in February, 1962. Parliament pardoned him and his accomplices.

Another former colonel and some war college cadets who had joined the revolt also fled, Anatolia said.

The rebellion was centered in Ankara and apparently was supported by an unknown number of cadets at the war college, Turkey's West Point and a traditional center of unrest.

A voice on Radio Ankara announced the coup at 12:40 a.m. The insurgents declared Aydemir "chief of the revolutionary committee" and proclaimed a curfew in Turkey's three main cities—Istanbul, Ankara and Izmir.

Within an hour Radio Ankara said the coup had been thwarted and the plotters were being rounded up.

A third Radio Ankara announcement claimed army units controlled the capital "on behalf of the revolutionary committee of Talat Aydemir." Then Radio Ankara went dead. Normal communications between Istanbul and Ankara were severed.

After a period of silence, radio Ankara went back on the air with an ultimatum from Gen. Sunay.

"I order some misled cadets and officers to surrender and retire to their barracks," he said. "Unless this is done air force planes and all other armed forces units will attack."

The rebels were reported holed up in the war college, surrounded by loyalist army units.

President Cemal Gursel in another broadcast told the nation that a handful of army rebels had occupied Radio Ankara briefly but had been arrested.

The military high command declared at dawn today that loyalist forces had the situation well in hand and appealed for calm in the nation, whose location on the southwest border of the Soviet Union makes it a key member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Radio Ankara said most of the cadets had returned to their quarters. The broadcast said order had been fully restored in the capital but a curfew was in force.

eighth - grade geography. The text was recommended by three junior high instructors who teach the subject. It will be placed in use as funds are available, Blair said.

The board approved the rental of the East Junior High School auditorium by the New Hope Baptist Church for a community sing on May 29 to raise funds for the church. The fee was set at $25.

The board's building committee was scheduled to meet late this afternoon in Glenmoor to discuss use of the school field by the Church Softball League.

The Rev. Irwin Jennings, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, and Carl Swogger appeared before the board last night to request use of the field for the seven - team league, scheduled to begin next Monday night.

The board had delayed action at its last meeting on a request from the Little League to use the same field.

Swogger told the board he had been informed the Little League no longer was interested in using the field.

The board also received and filed a copy of a letter from the Beaver Local Board of Education to Mrs. Joseph Geisse of Vale St., Glenmoor, in which the board denied her request for her child to begin first grade in Beaver Local schools next fall.

Mrs. Geisse had sought permission from the city board, but the request was rejected by a 3-2 vote.

The board also received a certificate from the Civil Defense commending it for its leadership and cooperation in allowing some city schools to be designated as fallout shelters.

The board authorized Blair to proceed with a program launched by the late Ralph W. Betts to establish a machine drafting course here similar to the diversified cooperative training program inaugurated this year.

The board received a letter from the Beaver Local board offering its condolences on the death of Mr. Betts and ordered a copy of the letter be forwarded to Mrs. Betts.

It adopted a resolution of respect with a copy to be included in the minutes and another copy to be sent to the superintendent's widow.

The meeting was opened with a silent prayer in memory of Mr. Betts and invocation by Blair.

Board Rejects Bids, Owner's Wife Teacher

Because the owner's wife is a substitute teacher and will be employed regularly next fall, the Board of Education Monday night rejected nine low bids from the Wilson House of Printing and awarded contracts totaling $781.95 for printed forms to the Keystone Printing Co.

The Wilson firm is owned by Richard O. Wilson, whose wife, Mrs. Deredreth Wilson, has been substituting this year and was appointed last month as an elementary teacher for the next term.

Board members pointed out state law forbids the board from doing business with a firm in which a board employe has an interest. They cited a couple of cases in which they were unable to award contracts because teachers were members of the firms.

The Wilson firm was the low bidder on nine of 15 forms required for school use with its offers totaling $434.30 — $69.95 lower than Keystone's bids.

However, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the board school officials have been "unhappy" with forms furnished by Wilson for this year, citing particularly the report cards and attendance forms used in the high school.

The report cards were done over but still did not meet the specifications, Blair said.

Many Demonstrations Seen

Sit-In Activity Expected To Increase In Court Act

ATLANTA (AP)—Negro sit-in activity will increase as a result of the Supreme Court's decision on sit-in demonstrations, says a top attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, associate counsel of the NAACP's legal defense fund, told a news conference in New York Monday the decision would increase the desire of Negroes to be served in restaurants and other establishments.

She said this would lead to many more demonstrations throughout the nation.

The court ruled Monday that a state or city may not interfere, in any fashion, with peaceful sit-in demonstrations in public places of business. However, the court did not draw a clear line of when a shopkeeper may on his own refuse to serve Negroes or call police to have them evicted from his property.

Mrs. Motley later told a mass rally of Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., that the decision would clear about 300 students convicted in Southern sit-ins. She said the decision left Birmingham department store owners "free to serve Negroes on the same basis as other citizens."

"I think the decision was as great as the Supreme Court decision in the school cases," she said.

The court threw out convictions of lunch counter sit-in demonstrators in Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina, and declared it unconstitutional for a state to require segregation and use its powers to enforce it.

Commissioner - Mayor Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, scene of recent sit-ins and mass desegregation demonstrations, said he had not read the decision, but added, "I feel it's going a little far afield.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta said the courts have been moving toward elimination of any form of discrimination in public or semipublic places. He said the decision is another step in that direction.

There was no immediate comment from Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders said, "I have no comment at all."

A 20-car motorcade to Capitol Hill will follow the White House ceremonies, and officials assured a huge turnout by releasing school children from classes and letting government workers take a long lunch hour.

After the speech to Congress, Cooper will be the guest of a luncheon in the State Department. His hosts will be Vice President Johnson and James E. Webb, NASA administrator.

Attendant For Zoo Mangled By 2 Lions

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The body of an attendant, mangled by two lions, was found today in a cage at Ross Park Zoo. Police had to shoot one lion.

Police said the lions apparently had killed the attendant, Guy E. Carey, 43, although there was a possibility he suffered a fatal stroke. Carey had been cleaning the cage.

Fire Truck Returned After Engine Repairs

An American LaFrance pumper, deadlined since May 8, has been returned to service at the East End fire station, firemen said today.

However, the timing remains to be adjusted, they said.

The truck was deadlined when a connecting rod broke as it was being driven to a grass fire.

Meanwhile, another LaFrance pumper at Central Station also has been deadlined because of generator trouble, firemen said.

College Bulge Will Need Buildings

The penny-a-pack cigarette tax which Ohioans voted on themselves back in 1955 came so easy that a group of citizens wants to continue it to raise money for new buildings at state universities during the next four years.

Easy money sometimes is a dangerous thing in government. But few complain with the manner in which the extra penny of cigarette tax revenue is being spent. It was voted in November 1955 by a 56 per cent margin in the form of a state constitutional amendment authorizing $10 million in bonds. Half of the money was earmarked for state hospitals and prisons, the rest for state university buildings.

The Ohio citizens group, headed by Republic Steel President Thomas F. Patton, believes Ohio voters would be willing to continue the cigarette tax beyond its present expiration date of 1977 in order to raise $150 million more for state university buildings.

THE EXPERIENCE with the proposal approved eight years ago has been good, collection-wise. The cigarette tax has produced some $80 million more than had been anticipated by this date and the bonds issued then can be expected to be retired ahead of schedule.

There is no time to lose, Mr. Patton emphasizes. By 1967 — just four years from now — statistics show the number of 18-year-olds will be up 50 per cent over this year and enrollment in all of Ohio's colleges can be expected to be up a corresponding 50 per cent.

The private colleges already are swamped. They now must refuse admission to many more high school graduates than they can accept because they do not have space or faculty. The lion's share of the bulge in college enrollment is bound to be thrust upon the six state universities.

MR. PATTON points out that any building program started now will take four years or so before it can be turned into finished bricks and mortar, and Ohio must act now if it is to be ready for the 1967 freshman crop.

Already, the state colleges are finding themselves increasingly hard put to meet the steady annual bulge in enrollment. This problem, Mr. Patton emphasizes, is coupled with the greater role Ohio's universities and university-based research must play in keeping Ohio's economy vital and growing.

Mr. Patton has on his large committee dozens of the leading citizens in their communities. They have given the program their blessing. It has been endorsed, too, by agricultural, industrial, business and educational groups, and more undoubtedly will join in the campaign.

Next stop is for the Ohio General Assembly to place the bond issue proposal on the November ballot. Then it will be up to Ohioans to approve it.

We believe they can be convinced they should.

Salvation Army Week

East Liverpool's energetic Citadel is joining in the observance of National Salvation Army Week.

This year's program, which was launched with an open house Sunday, has special meaning locally since it is the first that has been held in the new home on E. 4th St.

With about $60,000 needed to pay off the mortgage on the structure, gifts still are being accepted. There would be no better time than the present to express appreciation for the many services performed by the "Army" here.

It is not necessary to review these services. They are widely known to those who have been in need. The "Army" seldom has been found wanting.

Your support is needed to keep its extensive program in full swing. If you have not contributed to the building fund, Salvation Army Week would be a most opportune time to do so.

Turn The Questions Around

Matter of fact, they can't. That's why the questions sound sappy. "How did you feel, Major Cooper?" "Were you worried about your husband, Mrs. Cooper?" "How did you feel when your capsule hit the ocean, Major?" "Are you glad your husband's home safe, Mrs. Cooper?"

The questions are inane, but how could they be anything else? The purpose of asking them isn't to get information, only to give the astronauts and their wives a chance to be seen and heard in public.

As far as information is concerned, the questions should be turned around.

MAJOR COOPER and his fellow astronauts should ask us how we felt when they were proving the United States could carry on a successful space program, even though outdistanced by the Soviet Union so far. Well, gentlemen, it's like this:

We are bothered because there is no economic goal. America is first in telephones, television, autos, plumbing, housing, entertainment, etc., because of a money incentive. We created wealth to become wealthier.

We think about this while swallowing the lump when our navy is fishing multi-million-dollar Mercury capsules out of the ocean and while million-dollar rockets are rising at Cape Canaveral.

There is no economic justification for a multi-billion-dollar space program. Even if our astronauts get to the moon and back, the cost of the trip will be a net debit on the balance sheet. No wealth is being created, but billions of dollars are being dissipated.

WE SHARE the joy of success. We are proud of the astronauts. We have been proud of their wives and kids. They look and talk like the kind of people all of us wish we were.

We want to believe there are tens and hundreds of thousands of Americans like these, with know-how, courage, a sense of dedication and charm.

We want to believe the whole project of conquering space is something America can take in its stride because it fits in with the American way of life.

But the fact is it doesn't really fit in. It is of necessity a public project.

Unlike the other great pushes that gave momentum to this country, it cannot be private enterprise, ever. It cannot be economically justified by the wildest stretch of the imagination.

Only in ideological rivalry with the Soviet Union is there justification, and the Soviet Union's toughest problem is justifying its own money-out-of-pocket expenses on something that is putting no food in Russian mouths, no wealth in the Soviet treasury.

THERE ARE THE things we think about in the midst of our pride over the astronauts.

We're on our way to the moon.

We're elated about it, proud of the people who are promising to take us there.

But we have no more idea than a rabbit how we're going to pay for it, with nothing coming in but moonbeams.

The Exact Word

By Truman Twill

The only reason this is about "balderdash" is because I like that expression better than "horse feathers."

But if I am going to say "balderdash" when I mean "horse feathers," which is a nice-nellyism, I want to know what "balderdash" means.

It began with another of my frequent readings of "The Golden Bough," by Sir James Frazer. This rewarding book never fails to produce new chunks of comprehension about human superstitition.

Sir James says the Teutonic god Balder, son of Odin and Frigg, was supposedly killed by a twig of mistletoe—the "golden bough." Balder was as big a god as there was in olden times. Being killed with a dart made of the golden bough was dying in style in those days—like Achilles having to be pierced in the heel with a spear because otherwise he was invulnerable.

NOTHING ELSE could have killed Balder. As the god of peace, light, eloquence, beauty and wisdom he was secure, except for mistletoe. To understand this, of course, you first must understand that all the superstitions that were still are, somewhere.

You never heard of Balder, perhaps, but as you read what Sir James learned about superstitition and magic you know why Balder existed. We still have gods of peace, light, eloquence, beauty and wisdom and bad people still try to destroy them. We call it "character assassination."

But back to "balderdash". . .

Dictionaries say its origin is unknown; that it means a worthless mixture of liquors, words or trash. But doesn't it have an obvious connection with Balder, a name familiar to every Teuton at one time?

A "dash" is a violent impact. It can refer to a dash of liquid, such as a "dash" of water thrown in the face of one who has fainted. Waves "dash" against the rocky seacoast. There was a sudden "dash" of rain.

Isn't it reasonable to believe "balderdash" meant the things that were done to destroy Balder before an evil god finally learned that this incarnation of virtue was a sucker for a mistletoe dart?

"Balderdash" means today what it apparently meant at the beginning—trash and froth and ill-natured scandal such as is aimed at all people who amount to anything.

There needs to be a word for this stuff that the air is full of all the time. The word must be suitable for the problem the stuff presents.

It must be suitable, in other words, for disposing of the problem. Like this:

Some flap-lip is blowing off, trying to bring about a character assassination. But he doesn't have a mistletoe dart. "Balderdash!" you sniff and walk away.

Here's one citizen who is starting to practice sniffing right now for the "balderdash" that will be flying in the next national election.

What is believed to be one of the world's largest underground "mountains" goes under the name of "Monumental Mountain" and is situated in Wyandotte Cave, a limestone cavern with five levels of passages in Crawford County, southern Indiana. This underground mountain is approximately 135 feet high.

Variation Of Russian Roulette

By Victor Riesel

Trend watchers in the White House are carefully analyzing the May 7 election which gave Baltimore's City Hall to a Republican for the first time in 16 years — though the Democratic candidate was personally and enthusiastically endorsed by President Kennedy.

Victor Riesel

The victor is big, hail-fellow-well - met Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin. He won by a slim 5,389 vote lead.

What intrigues the political scientists of Mr. Kennedy's inner circle is the heavy official labor support given McKeldin. And the fact that much of this labor, and many of the leading activists in the Republican campaign, were Negro officials and rank-and-file working men.

There is no doubt that the labor vote was the balance of power in McKeldin's successful drive against the 48-year-old acting mayor, Philip H. Goodman. If this is a hint of a trend, it is one of the most significant developments on the political front.

IF IT'S a sign of the times, it could mean Republican cracking of strong Democratic machines in big Northern industrial cities. It may not be, for McKeldin has long been popular with Maryland labor, having held the mayoralty and the governorship in the past. But a close look at the record of this campaign reveals more than the personal popularity of the man who once put Dwight Eisenhower in nomination for the presidency.

There always has been an influential Republican labor bloc here. Surprisingly, in the recent jousting, a phalanx of Democrats swung over to the GOP nominee. After a series of conferences, the union leaders organized the "Bipartisan Labor Committee for McKeldin." They worked with Robert Gormley, chief of the Republican Labor Division, during the last 10 days of the drive. The Democrats never lost their political identity — though they poured it on for the Republican challenger.

And they did it on the record. They put their names on the committee's literature. This was across-the-board labor support—from among the steelworkers, the hod carriers, the chemical workers, the longshoremen and the teamsters.

Among the latter was Dick Grabowsky, a traditional Hoffa foe, who leads a strong local of more than 5,000 drivers.

McKELDIN, who once said his hobby is "work," proved it last month. Accompanied by Negro longshoremen leaders and a popular Negro hodcarrier, he got up at 5 a.m. to get down to the docks at shape-up time.

He mixed with the men as they set out for work on the piers. With other labor leaders he went to union parties. He stalked plant gates in the early morning, lunchtime and quitting hours.

The bipartisan committee supplied cars. They put workers into the precincts. They got up ample ballots. They contributed funds.

On the morning of April 27, they ran a labor breakfast for McKeldin. Over 130 labor leaders and stewards turned out as a sign of solidarity. There can be no doubt that they helped him roll up the winning votes.

Whether this bipartisanship will hold together for the 1964 presidential campaign, no one can guess. Fighting for a local Republican is one thing, bucking John Kennedy in '64 is another proposition entirely.

But Republican strategists will try to use Baltimore as an eastern anchor for a national labor network in '64. It will stretch from Baltimore and New York to California, Oregon and at least one point in between.

THOUGH THE STORY is virtually unknown in many sections of the country, there is a Republican-labor coalition in Idaho. The GOP governor, Robert E. Smylie, was the only Republican gubernatorial candidate in 1962 to get official state AFL-CIO endorsement. Mr. Smylie took a third four year term with a heavy margin. The president and the secretary of the state labor federation are frequent visitors to the governor's office.

There are not many areas where there is such liaison. But California's Sen. Kuchel had important labor support. His California colleagues are setting up a labor advisory committee or two there.

There's Mark Hatfield of Oregon who had strong labor endorsement. In New York Sen. Keating has been conferring with labor men. So is Gov. Rockefeller.

Republican strategists know they can't crack through the popularity of John Kennedy with the national labor leaders. But the GOP officials feel they can, by regional organizing, change their image of opposition to labor.

Birmingham And 1964

By David Lawrence

Negative Voting Stirs Speculation

Much has been written lately about the rise of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as a possible Republican nominee, but the significance of his candidacy in relation to the Birmingham controversy has gone almost unnoticed.

David Lawrence

For several months now, reports from the South have indicated that Sen. Goldwater stood a good chance of carrying the electoral votes of many Southern states if he were nominated for the presidency in 1964. This is related to the dilemma of the Democratic party.

Thus, in almost every Southern state, the United States senators and representatives are dependent on the Democratic party machinery. They must support the Democratic party organization to be reelected. Sen. Olin D. Johnston D-SC, made reference to the problem at a recent meeting of the Alabama Democratic party leaders in Birmingham. He said:

"As soon as you develop a strong two-party system in the South you are going to get the same minority-vote baiting that you have in cities like New York, Chicago and Kansas City. When we reach that point in Southern politics our states' rights will. . . go out the window. You will be turning over your senators and representatives like the farmer plows his field every spring.

"The last strength of states' rights is vested in the powers of your representatives in Washington whom you have elected, and seniority is the source of your strength and power in Washington to preserve our states' rights. Once you start swapping your statesmen for Republicans, the battle of states' rights will be lost."

THIS IS a logical theory but it may not necessarily convince the voters. They usually vote their resentments. That's why many incumbent Democrats in the South feel they have to express themselves vehemently in criticism of the Kennedy administration's tactics in Birmingham, especially in connection with the President's threat to use federal troops.

The Republicans in the South who are candidates for office usually soft-pedal the civil rights issue but their brethren in the North do not. Sen. Johnston is right about the "minority-vote baiting." Some of the so-called liberal Republicans in the Northern states are constantly prodding the administration to brush aside states' rights. Their demand is for the use of more federal troops and bayonets. These Republicans are dependent largely on Negro votes in the North, so they, too, present an artificial image to the people.

The crux of the problem is the lack of courage of many men in public life. They care more for reelection than they do for basic principles which are being trampled upon in the game of politics.

There obviously is a need for a two-party system everywhere in the country. The voter wants an alternative. Often he doesn't care if the other party's platform is no better than that of the incumbent's.

The tendency is to defeat at the polls the party which caused the grievance and teach a lesson for the future to the elected nominees of the other party.

NEGATIVE VOTING is customary throughout the United States. Many Southern Democrats would vote for Sen. Goldwater as a means of expressing their disapproval of the Kennedy administration.

The Arizona senator, incidentally, will argue for civil rights and equality but wants the goal to be achieved only through the proper legal processes. He can even espouse the cause of integration and not be offensive to the South as long as he insists that it be achieved through legal and constitutional methods and not by usurpation or by methods which are coercive and unlawful.

Sen. Goldwater may or may not become the Republican nominee for president, but he is one of the few Republicans active in national politics who has the temerity to insist on constitutionalism, as he foregoes the opportunities for demagoguery on the civil rights issue.

The Republicans in the South have been making gains in the last few years. But they have done so as an opposition party. They are often as conservative, if not more so, than their Democratic opponents. The close race in Alabama last year for the U.S. Senate has encouraged the Republicans.

The same trend has been noticeable in other states. Votes have been given to the Republicans by persons who are resentful of the policies of the Kennedy administration.

THE BIG QUESTION is whether the current antagonism will abate or whether it will grow by the time the 1964 election is at hand. It could develop that, even with the active participation of the Democratic members of Congress on the side of the Kennedy administration, the negative vote will be large enough to put some of the Southern states in the electroal column of an opoosition party.

Teacher Gone Astray

That's Chinese View of Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE — How do the Red Chinese look on Soviet Russia in the midst of today's intense ideological split between the two countries? Here, in the second of a series of articles, is a report which provides some answers by a British author who just toured Red China for three weeks.

By RICHARD P. LISTER

PEKING (AP)—To go to China, you stop in Moscow on the way and again on the way back. It's a good chance to look at the Red giants, old and new.

Every major city in China has its Sino-Soviet Hall of Friendship. The halls remain, but where is the friendship? Ivan, carved in stone, stands shoulder to shoulder with Chang outside, but flesh-and-blood Ivan, if he is in China at all, is not readily to be seen.

The Chinese look on Soviet Russia as a loved and respected teacher who has gone astray. They're sad about it but they're not going to budge an inch in their views. The Chinese simply know that they have the right answer. It is the Russians who erred.

The difference in atmosphere between Moscow and Peking is sensed immediately. China is still in the first stages of its revolution. Everyone must have enough to eat and enough to wear, but there is little room for luxury.

And yet, where Russia may often seem grim or hostile, China as often seems friendly and gay.

Russia has transformed its drab scene with consumer goods in recent years. The contrast in China is striking. There are plenty of things in the Chinese shop windows but the monotony is oppressive.

In contrast to this austerity, the scene in Moscow looks more and more like the luxurious West. Is it the slackening of pure Communist standards, or merely a sign of the national character?

There's another striking difference. Chinese "face" seems more important than Russian "face." A Chinese waiter or porter will not accept a tip any more than a child a piece of candy. He is unwilling to consent to anything that puts him in an inferior position.

In the West, the Smiths must keep up with the Joneses on motor cars, TV sets, washing machines; in China what worries Chang is that he may fall too far behind Chen in output per shift.

The disinclination to accept favors from foreigners is accounted for to some extent by the sheer unfamiliarity with foreigners. The traveler in China is soon aware that he is a rarity. Once he goes more than ten yards from his hotel he is unlikely to see a Western face. He is stared at in frank curiosity. If he stops to buy something he is immediately wedged against the counter by a curious crowd. They stare and often they laugh. The chances are they're not being rude by their lights. Laughter itself can mean embarrassment. If you greet them with the universal "Ni Hao" (hello) they ni-hao back with enthusiasm and laugh even louder. On festive occasions, they are likely to fall back into orderly lines and applaud. The traveler claps back, Russian style.

The crowds, though curious, are neither suspicious nor hostile. These are our Western friends, they seem to say; if they were not our friends they would not come to see us.

Seven men have been elected to the Presidency before they were 50 years old. They were Grant, Cleveland, Pierce, Polk, Garfield, Theodore Roosevelt, and Kennedy.

Group Seeks New Industry

Council Receives Report On Zanesville Campaign

Details of Zanesville's self-help effort to provide $6 million in new industrial plant facilities by raising $600,000 in local funds as a nucleus were explained to Council Monday night by three members who spent Saturday in the Muskingum County city to see if there is a lesson that could be applied to East Liverpool.

The report was presented by Councilmen S. James Welch, Kenneth C. Berg and George E. Willshaw. They were accompanied on the fact-finding tour by Atty. George A. Aronson and H. James Allison Jr., representatives of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although Zanesville did not launch its local fund appeal until early April, it already has raised $398,000 in the "bootstrap" effort, the councilmen reported.

THE CAMPAIGN is called "ZIP," taking its title from the initial letters in the words "Zanesville Improvement Program." The sponsoring organization is incorporated as the Zanesville Community Improvement Corp.

When the $600,000 is raised in cash and pledges, Zanesville hopes to obtain $2.4 million more in matching money from the Ohio Industrial Improvement Authority and $3 million more in first mortgage money from local banking institutions.

The $6 million will be used to acquire new plant sites, erect "shell" buildings for industries and aid in expansion of present industries.

Zanesville expects the program will lead to 2,500 new industrial jobs and add $14,750,000 in additional personal income each year, based on statistics put together by the economic research department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

IF 2,500 new industrial jobs are created, 1,850 more jobs will grow up in Zanesville as an indirect result, the corporation anticipates. That would mean 7,400 new residents in the area, with 2,800 additional households, 2,675 more passenger cars, a $9 million annual boost in retail sales and $6.7 million more in bank deposits, the corporation estimates.

The East Liverpool committee learned that the Zanesville Trades and Labor Council, which represents more than 6,000 persons, gave its endorsement to the ZIP program Thursday and recommended individual contributions to help make the project a reality.

For individual contributions, ZIP has recommended that residents pledge one per cent of their annual income for three years. For a man making $80 a week, this means 80 cents a week or $120 for a three-year pledge, the committee pointed out.

IT COMMENTED: "Cumulatively, $120 sounds like a lot of money, but the weekly figure is only the price of a lunch in most restaurants. If you smoke, you spend more than that for cigarettes a week and most likely your spend four or five times that much to put gasoline in your car."

When the fund is complete, the ZIP committee ways it will "provide easy financing of plant sites and buildings for industry and get the story of Zanesville's advantages as a location for industry to intersted firms all over the country."

It promises: "Your children and your neighbor's children no longer will be forced to walk the streets for months after leaving school looking for a job. They no longer will be forced to move elsewhere to find employment suited to their talents. They will have a bright future in the Zanesville area for years to come."

THE ZANESVILLE Area Chamber of Commerce last year hired the George S. May Co., an industrial consulting firm, to study the community's problems and recommend answers.

The consultant came up with ZIP, the Zanesville Improvement Program. The sponsoring corporation then was organized to get the program moving.

The corporation is headed by Ronald Dice, president of the Zanesville Federal Savings & Loan Co. Members include representatives of the utilities, retailing, industry, organized labor, the construction and communications industries and most other elements in the area's economic activity.

ZIP will hire a full-time director of industrial development whose job it will be to encourage new plants to locate in the facilities the corporation will provide.

THE DIRECTOR will use material developed on Zanesville's resources — sites, facilities, utilities, transportation, services, retail, wholesale and commercial establishments and financial data —to help induce industry to locate in the Zanesville area.

Seven committees are putting together the data, which they hope will enable the industrial development director to answer any possible question that might be raised by a prospect.

ZIP said it is convinced that providing buildings at a reasonable cost will be a strong factor in persuading them to relocate. The industrial director will investigate each prospect, checking on financial condition, possible employment, building needs and other factors. If he feels the industry is a good prospect, he will recommend it to the corporation's Board of Trustees.

ON APPROVAL by the trustees, funds will be released to follow leasing of the required buildings. The ZIP corporation would continue to hold title to the building, applying for first mortgage money from the local financial institutions and second mortgage money from the Ohio Industrial Improvement Authority.

Rent paid by the industry would be sufficient to pay the cost of the building over a predetermined period of years, thus creating a revolving fund that could be used over and over again.

He declared that Zanesville "will see a dramatic change in its economy in the next few years if we all do our part in this campaign."

—:—

ZANESVILLE is the commercial center of 10 counties with a market of 225,000 persons. Lying at the junction of the Muskingum and Licking Rivers, it traces its history back to 1799.

Its economy was based at first on pioneer pottery and tile industries using the native clays of the area.

Later, manufacturers of electrical equipment, glassware, agricultural implements and sheet steel located at Zanesville.

It adds: "Communities are like people — their actions and their thinking are affected by past history. However, change is inevitable and our thinking must keep up with our changing world."

BOTH Welch and Willshaw reported at length on the Zanesville program.

Welch said five Zanesville citizens made a trip to Scranton to study the Pennsylvania city's development program and they were so impressed that 29 more went to investigate.

He termed the Zanesville group "a progressive and aggressive organization." Welch said the two local Chamber members appeared to be impressed with the Zanesville program.

"We learned a lot," he said. "I hope it's something that can be done in East Liverpool."

WILLSHAW commented that he has made many similar trips in the last eight years on Council "but never have I been received so graciously."

The state legislation under which Zanesville hopes to receive matching funds is known as House Bill 270, already passed by the House and ready to go to the State Senate, he said.

The Zanesville group has promised to forward more information to Council, the Chamber, The Review and WOHI, Willshaw said. Clerk Lawrence Zollinger was asked to send a letter to the Zanesville group expressing thanks for the way in which the local delegation was received.

A school board spokesman said the action was in keeping with the board's policy on truancy.

On another front, Commissioner-Mayor Arthur Hanes called a Supreme Court decision outlawing city and state interference in sit-in demonstrations "an accommodation for those arrested here."

"It seems to me that any person in business does not now have that old traditional right to refuse service to anyone he desires," Hanes said. "It seems that all bars are lowered."

sedan driven by George E. Wilson, 32, of Densmore Ave. and a 1954 two-door sedan operated by Enoch L. Jones, 74, of Park Pl., officers said.

Wilson was headed south on Lisbon St. and Jones was pulling out of the cemetery on the thoroughfare, police said.

Wilson told police he saw Jones pulling out of the driveway. Wilson said he attempted to halt, but the car skidded, went over a curb and hit a steel post at the edge of the driveway.

Jones said he halted at the intersection, saw no oncoming traffic and started to pull onto the street. Then he heard tires squeal and saw Wilson's car bounce off the curb, hit his car and then strike the metal post at the cemetery gate, he said.

Clarissa Given, 1854 Harvey Ave., told police at 6:49 p. m. Monday the left side of her 1959 model car was damaged by a hit-skip car while parked in front of her home.

Officers said the vision of both drivers was blocked because of hedges about 6 feet high.

Ex-Colonel Flees

Turkey Crushes Revolt Attempt

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Turkish government said today it had completely crushed an ex-army colonel's second attempt in 15 months to seize power.

Ex-Col. Talat Aydemir, the rebel leader, was reported fleeing from Ankara, the Turkish capital, less than eight hours after dissident army officers announced the coup attempt.

Gen. Cevdet Sunay, chief of staff of the Turkish armed forces, said in a broadcast shortly after dawn, "a treacherous attempt by a small group to seize power has been completely crushed."

One man was reported killed and four others wounded in fighting in Ankara.

The government news agency Anaolia reported that Aydemir, 50, had fled. The tank officer was ousted from the military and jailed after masterminding a short lived rebellion in February, 1962. Parliament pardoned him and his accomplices.

Another former colonel and some war college cadets who had joined the revolt also fled, Anatolia said.

The rebellion was centered in Ankara and apparently was supported by an unknown number of cadets at the war college, Turkey's West Point and a traditional center of unrest.

A voice on Radio Ankara announced the coup at 12:40 a.m. The insurgents declared Aydemir "chief of the revolutionary committee" and proclaimed a curfew in Turkey's three main cities—Istanbul, Ankara and Izmir.

Within an hour Radio Ankara said the coup had been thwarted and the plotters were being rounded up.

A third Radio Ankara announcement claimed army units controlled the capital "on behalf of the revolutionary committee of Talat Aydemir." Then Radio Ankara went dead. Normal communications between Istanbul and Ankara were severed.

After a period of silence, radio Ankara went back on the air with an ultimatum from Gen. Sunay.

"I order some misled cadets and officers to surrender and retire to their barracks," he said. "Unless this is done air force planes and all other armed forces units will attack."

The rebels were reported holed up in the war college, surrounded by loyalist army units.

President Cemal Gursel in another broadcast told the nation that a handful of army rebels had occupied Radio Ankara briefly but had been arrested.

The military high command declared at dawn today that loyalist forces had the situation well in hand and appealed for calm in the nation, whose location on the southwest border of the Soviet Union makes it a key member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Radio Ankara said most of the cadets had returned to their quarters. The broadcast said order had been fully restored in the capital but a curfew was in force.

Many Demonstrations Seen

Sit-In Activity Expected To Increase In Court Act

ATLANTA (AP)—Negro sit-in activity will increase as a result of the Supreme Court's decision on sit-in demonstrations, says a top attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, associate counsel of the NAACP's legal defense fund, told a news conference in New York Monday the decision would increase the desire of Negroes to be served in restaurants and other establishments.

She said this would lead to many more demonstrations throughout the nation.

The court ruled Monday that a state or city may not interfere, in any fashion, with peaceful sit-in demonstrations in public places of business. However, the court did not draw a clear line of when a shopkeeper may on his own refuse to serve Negroes or call police to have them evicted from his property.

Mrs. Motley later told a mass rally of Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., that the decision would clear about 300 students convicted in Southern sit-ins. She said the decision left Birmingham department store owners "free to serve Negroes on the same basis as other citizens."

"I think the decision was as great as the Supreme Court decision in the school cases," she said.

The court threw out convictions of lunch counter sit-in demonstrators in Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina, and declared it unconstitutional for a state to require segregation and use its powers to enforce it.

Commissioner - Mayor Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, scene of recent sit-ins and mass desegregation demonstrations, said he had not read the decision, but added, "I feel it's going a little far afield.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta said the courts have been moving toward elimination of any form of discrimination in public or semipublic places. He said the decision is another step in that direction.

There was no immediate comment from Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders said, "I have no comment at all."

Among the officials invited to watch the medal-pinning ceremonies were Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A 20-car motorcade to Capitol Hill will follow the White House ceremonies, and officials assured a huge turnout by releasing school children from classes and letting government workers take a long lunch hour.

After the speech to Congress, Cooper will be the guest of a luncheon in the State Department. His hosts will be Vice President Johnson and James E. Webb, NASA administrator.

eighth - grade geography. The text was recommended by three junior high instructors who teach the subject. It will be placed in use as funds are available, Blair said.

The board approved the rental of the East Junior High School auditorium by the New Hope Baptist Church for a community sing on May 29 to raise funds for the church. The fee was set at $25.

The board's building committee was scheduled to meet late this afternoon in Glenmoor to discuss use of the school field by the Church Softball League.

The Rev. Irwin Jennings, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, and Carl Swogger appeared before the board last night to request use of the field for the seven - team league, scheduled to begin next Monday night.

The board had delayed action at its last meeting on a request from the Little League to use the same field.

Swogger told the board he had been informed the Little League no longer was interested in using the field.

The board also received and filed a copy of a letter from the Beaver Local Board of Education to Mrs. Joseph Geisse of Vale St., Glenmoor, in which the board denied her request for her child to begin first grade in Beaver Local schools next fall.

Mrs. Geisse had sought permission from the city board, but the request was rejected by a 3-2 vote.

The board also received a certificate from the Civil Defense commending it for its leadership and cooperation in allowing some city schools to be designated as fallout shelters.

The board authorized Blair to proceed with a program launched by the late Ralph W. Betts to establish a machine drafting course here similar to the diversified cooperative training program inaugurated this year.

The board received a letter from the Beaver Local board offering its condolences on the death of Mr. Betts and ordered a copy of the letter be forwarded to Mrs. Betts.

It adopted a resolution of respect with a copy to be included in the minutes and another copy to be sent to the superintendent's widow.

The meeting was opened with a silent prayer in memory of Mr. Betts and invocation by Blair.

Fire Truck Returned After Engine Repairs

An American LaFrance pumper, deadlined since May 8, has been returned to service at the East End fire station, firemen said today.

However, the timing remains to be adjusted, they said.

The truck was deadlined when a connecting rod broke as it was being driven to a grass fire.

Meanwhile, another LaFrance pumper at Central Station also has been deadlined because of generator trouble, firemen said.

Board Rejects Bids, Owner's Wife Teacher

Because the owner's wife is a substitute teacher and will be employed regularly next fall, the Board of Education Monday night rejected nine low bids from the Wilson House of Printing and awarded contracts totaling $781.95 for printed forms to the Keystone Printing Co.

The Wilson firm is owned by Richard O. Wilson, whose wife, Mrs. Deredreth Wilson, has been substituting this year and was appointed last month as an elementary teacher for the next term.

Board members pointed out state law forbids the board from doing business with a firm in which a board employe has an interest. They cited a couple of cases in which they were unable to award contracts because teachers were members of the firms.

The Wilson firm was the low bidder on nine of 15 forms required for school use with its offers totaling $434.30 — $69.95 lower than Keystone's bids.

However, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the board school officials have been "unhappy" with forms furnished by Wilson for this year, citing particularly the report cards and attendance forms used in the high school.

The report cards were done over but still did not meet the specifications, Blair said.

Street Oiling Planned In St. Clair Township

Oiling of sections of roads and streets in St. Clair Township totaling some 3,000 feet will be performed later this week by the Snyder Co. of Hanoverton, township trustees reported at a meeting Monday night.

No further oiling is planned this spring, trustees said. About 20,000 feet of surface was oiled earlier this month. Bills were paid. Trustees will meet again Monday.

Due To Late Date In Session

Ohio Legislature Action On 'Blue Law' Seen Dim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There may be some degree of chaos in Ohio in the next two years, but don't count on the Ohio Legislature to do anything this session to clarify the state's Sunday closing laws.

If the legislature does nothing to clarify the law, there could be two results:

— Law enforcement officials could continue their present policy of not enforcing the present law, or

— Officials could crack down with an iron hand on violators.

Because of the late date in the session, expected to end June 14, legislative leaders expect nothing to be done on the red-hot question of Ohio's blue laws.

This is not necessarily the final word, but it is the present thinking.

Both houses of the legislature had strictly routine sessions Monday night as they returned for their 20th work week.

The major legislative action was Senate acceptance of House amendments to require an able-bodied relief recipient to work for his relief check. The bill goes to the governor.

Final action in the Senate Judiciary Committee on the Sunday laws is due Wednesday. The best guess now is that some sort of a bill will be recommended for passage—not the House-approved bill—but some sort of compromise.

"But, hell, it's too late in the session for a compromise in the legislature now," commented a legislative leader. "No matter what the Senate Judiciary Committee might come out with now and the Senate might pass, it doesn't look like there's any chance the House will agree."

That appears to present a stalemate.

The House Judiciary Committee, a couple of months ago, came up with a totally new concept of Sunday prohibitions. Present law prohibits common labor on Sunday. The proposal by the committee headed by Rep. Edmund James, R-Noble, was to eliminate any possible religious connection with the Christian Sabbath observance and simply prohibit sale of either real or personal property with the exception of 12 classes of property.

Rhodes Signs 21 More Bills, Total Of 84

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has signed 21 more bills into law, bringing to 84 the total he has approved since the 105th General Assembly convened in January. The governor has yet to veto a measure passed by the Republican-controlled assembly.

Among the latest signed was a bill giving Ohio the nation's first "condominium" statute — providing for joint ownership by occupants of individual apartment units.

Other newly enacted laws create an Ohio Judicial Council, require motorists to stop after accidents and increase the pay of voting precinct registrars from $10 to $12 a day.

Still others permit sewer districts to levy taxes outside the 10-mill limit and extend from 5 to 20 years the life of levies voted for sewer improvements.

because of race, and the state's criminal processes are employed in a way which enforces the discrimination mandated by that law such a palpable violation of the 14th Amendment cannot be saved by attempting to separate the mental urges of the discriminators."

In the Greenville case, Warren said, the city by ordinance provided that any decision as to whether a restaurant is to be operated on a desegregated basis is to be reserved to the city.

Thus, said Warren, a person owning an eating place is left with no choice of his own, but must segregate white and Negro. This, he said, is state action that can not stand.

Prior to this declaration, Warren tempered the effect of the decisions by restating the words of a 1961 Supreme Court opinion in another racial case. This was that private conduct violating individual rights does not violate the Constitution unless a state or city is involved to some significant extent.

In the next case he read, the chief justice went far to fix a new point of law. In a sit-in case from New Orleans, Warren pointed out there was no state statute or city ordinance requiring segregation of the races in restaurants. However, he cited a city official's statements to the effect that the city would not permit Negroes to seek desegregated service in restaurants.

"Consequently," he said, "the city must be treated exactly as if it had an ordinance prohibiting such conduct . . . A state, or city, may act as authoritatively through its executive as through its legislative body."

The tribunal did not go into the question, often discussed, of what a private storekeeper can do if on his own desire—without any state or city law—he prefers not to serve Negroes.

Church Gets New Head

Elder William Christensen, left, of Spanish Fork, Utah, has been appointed new branch president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, succeeding Toney Adkins, 1907 Michigan Ave., who has served about six years.

Appointed as Christensen's aides were Marion D. Sias of Maple Dr., and Denver R. Carder, 554 California Ave., Chester, first and second counselor, respectively.

They succeed Charles V. Dubois, first counselor, and Albert L. Ferguson, second counselor.

The appointments were made during Sunday morning services. Visiting church officials for the occasion were Conwell McCuen of Pittsburgh, first counselor in the West Penn District, and Imri J. Hutching, also of Pittsburgh, first counselor in the Easter Atlantic States mission.

Adkins gave a talk and expressed his appreciation to those who served with him. During his term, the congregation erected the new chapel on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

He told of the church system of selecting officers and teachers — the Mormon Church has no paid ministry and those called serve in branches and wards for an indefinite period. He said none of the assignments is permanent and, "when changes are made it means progress." He closed with the assertion that "leadership is of vital importance but that the real strength of the church comes from the membership."

The new branch president and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Christensen, have been in the mission field two years. They expect to be here for at least nine months or more. They are residing at 328 W. 5th St. Christensen has helped with the fellowship work of the denomination in Sunbury, Pa. and Williamsport, Pa., serving in the same capacity.

Because of a district conference session in Pittsburgh next Sunday, no services will be held at the church. A testimonial meeting will be held June 2 at 10 a. m. and on June 9, Sunday School will be at 10 a. m. and sacrament service at 6 p. m.

Tariff-Cutting Pattern

New Compromise Given U.S. By Europe Market

GENEVA (AP)—The European Common Market offered a new compromise to the United States today in their battle over a broad pattern for tariff-cutting talks next year.

The European counter-proposal followed a transatlantic telephone intervention by President Kennedy in an attempt to break the stalemate at the 73-nation ministerial conference sponsored by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The stalemate posed a grave threat to Kennedy's Trade Expansion Act of 1962, which previously had promised to be one of the major achievements of his administration.

The Common Market proposal was being submitted to Christian A. Herter, Kennedy's chief negotiator.

The Europeans refused to disclose the content of their proposal. American delegates had been annoyed Monday when another compromise offer was outlined to newsmen before it reached them.

The GATT conference was called in an attempt to agree on a tariff-cutting formula that would be worked out in detail at the negotiations scheduled to start next year.

The United States proposed uniform, across-the-board reductions of rates applied to all nations. The U.S. Trade Expansion Act provides that they can run as high as 50 per cent.

Council Receives Report On Zanesville Campaign

Details of Zanesville's self-help effort to provide $6 million in new industrial plant facilities by raising $600,000 in local funds as a nucleus were explained to Council Monday night by three members who spent Saturday in the Muskingum County city to see if there is a lesson that could be applied to East Liverpool.

The report was presented by Councilmen S. James Welch, Kenneth C. Berg and George E. Willshaw. They were accompanied on the fact-finding tour by Atty. George A. Aronson and H. James Allison Jr., representatives of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although Zanesville did not launch its local fund appeal until early April, it already has raised $398,000 in the "bootstrap" effort, the councilmen reported.

THE CAMPAIGN is called "ZIP," taking its title from the initial letters in the words "Zanesville Improvement Program." The sponsoring organization is incorporated as the Zanesville Community Improvement Corp.

When the $600,000 is raised in cash and pledges, Zanesville hopes to obtain $2.4 million more in matching money from the Ohio Industrial Improvement Authority and $3 million more in first mortgage money from local banking institutions.

The $6 million will be used to acquire new plant sites, erect "shell" buildings for industries and aid in expansion of present industries.

Zanesville expects the program will lead to 2,500 new industrial jobs and add $14,750,000 in additional personal income each year, based on statistics put together by the economic research department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

IF 2,500 new industrial jobs are created, 1,850 more jobs will grow up in Zanesville as an indirect result, the corporation anticipates. That would mean 7,400 new residents in the area, with 2,800 additional households, 2,675 more passenger cars, a $9 million annual boost in retail sales and $6.7 million more in bank deposits, the corporation estimates.

The East Liverpool committee learned that the Zanesville Trades and Labor Council, which represents more than 6,000 persons, gave its endorsement to the ZIP program Thursday and recommended individual contributions to help make the project a reality.

For individual contributions, ZIP has recommended that residents pledge one per cent of their annual income for three years. For a man making $80 a week, this means 80 cents a week or $120 for a three-year pledge, the committee pointed out.

IT COMMENTED: "Cumulatively, $120 sounds like a lot of money, but the weekly figure is only the price of a lunch in most restaurants. If you smoke, you spend more than that for cigarettes a week and most likely your spend four or five times that much to put gasoline in your car."

When the fund is complete, the ZIP committee ways it will "provide easy financing of plant sites and buildings for industry and get the story of Zanesville's advantages as a location for industry to intersted firms all over the country."

It promises: "Your children and your neighbor's children no longer will be forced to walk the streets for months after leaving school looking for a job. They no longer will be forced to move elsewhere to find employment suited to their talents. They will have a bright future in the Zanesville area for years to come."

THE ZANESVILLE Area Chamber of Commerce last year hired the George S. May Co., an industrial consulting firm, to study the community's problems and recommend answers.

The consultant came up with ZIP, the Zanesville Improvement Program. The sponsoring corporation then was organized to get the program moving.

The corporation is headed by Ronald Dice, president of the Zanesville Federal Savings & Loan Co. Members include representatives of the utilities, retailing, industry, organized labor, the construction and communications industries and most other elements in the area's economic activity.

ZIP will hire a full-time director of industrial development whose job it will be to encourage new plants to locate in the facilities the corporation will provide.

THE DIRECTOR will use material developed on Zanesville's resources — sites, facilities, utilities, transportation, services, retail, wholesale and commercial establishments and financial data —to help induce industry to locate in the Zanesville area.

Seven committees are putting together the data, which they hope will enable the industrial development director to answer any possible question that might be raised by a prospect.

ZIP said it is convinced that providing buildings at a reasonable cost will be a strong factor in persuading them to relocate. The industrial director will investigate each prospect, checking on financial condition, possible employment, building needs and other factors. If he feels the industry is a good prospect, he will recommend it to the corporation's Board of Trustees.

ON APPROVAL by the trustees, funds will be released to follow leasing of the required buildings. The ZIP corporation would continue to hold title to the building, applying for first mortgage money from the local financial institutions and second mortgage money from the Ohio Industrial Improvement Authority.

Rent paid by the industry would be sufficient to pay the cost of the building over a predetermined period of years, thus creating a revolving fund that could be used over and over again.

He declared that Zanesville "will see a dramatic change in its economy in the next few years if we all do our part in this campaign."

ZANESVILLE is the commercial center of 10 counties with a market of 225,000 persons. Lying at the junction of the Muskingum and Licking Rivers, it traces its history back to 1799.

Its economy was based at first on pioneer pottery and tile industries using the native clays of the area.

Later, manufacturers of electrical equipment, glassware, agricultural implements and sheet steel located at Zanesville.

It adds: "Communities are like people — their actions and their thinking are affected by past history. However, change is inevitable and our thinking must keep up with our changing world."

BOTH Welch and Willshaw reported at length on the Zanesville program.

Welch said five Zanesville citizens made a trip to Scranton to study the Pennsylvania city's development program and they were so impressed that 29 more went to investigate.

He termed the Zanesville group "a progressive and aggressive organization." Welch said the two local Chamber members appeared to be impressed with the Zanesville program.

"We learned a lot," he said. "I hope it's something that can be done in East Liverpool."

WILLSHAW commented that he has made many similar trips in the last eight years on Council "but never have I been received so graciously."

The state legislation under which Zanesville hopes to receive matching funds is known as House Bill 270, already passed by the House and ready to go to the State Senate, he said.

The Zanesville group has promised to forward more information to Council, the Chamber, The Review and WOHI. Willshaw said. Clerk Lawrence Zollinger was asked to send a letter to the Zanesville group expressing thanks for the way in which the local delegation was received.

A school board spokesman said the action was in keeping with the board's policy on truancy.

On another front, Commissioner-Mayor Arthur Hanes called a Supreme Court decision outlawing city and state interference in sit-in demonstrations "an accommodation for those arrested here."

"It seems to me that any person in business does not now have that old traditional right to refuse service to anyone he desires," Hanes said. "It seems that all bars are lowered."

Officers Named By Legion Post 4

Isaac Jones, retired potter and veteran of World War I, was elected new commander of American Legion Post 4 at a meeting Monday night in the post quarters in the Siff Building.

Jones succeeds Dan McKeever. Only other new officers elected are Charles Boso, second vice commander, and Ray Cunningham, third vice commander.

Re-elected were David Sakol, first vice commander; Harold Taylor, adjutant; Purle C. Smith, chaplain; Howard (Scoops) Kaufman, publicity chairman; Irvin J. Vorndran, finance officer, and Howard Parsons, sergeant-at-arms.

Lunch was served by Jones and John McCune. Officers will be installed June 10.

Firemen Launch Hancock School

The annual fire training school of the Hancock County Fire-Fighters Association got under way Monday night, with 31 attending at New Cumberland High School.

At the session were representatives of New Cumberland, Newell, Chester, Lawrenceville, Weirton Heights, Weirton No. 1 and Weirton No. 3 departments.

Instruction on use of smoke masks and respirators was given by Jed Wilson of Chester, president, and an instructor from Weirton. John Stankiewicz of Weirton was chairman.

The program also included a 30-minute film on the use of fighting fires with use of a fog nozzle to create steam and preserve water. It was prepared by the Columbus fire department.

The school will continue nightly through Friday.

Wilson was headed south on Lisbon St. and Jones was pulling out of the cemetery on the thoroughfare, police said.

Wilson told police he saw Jones pulling out of the driveway. Wilson said he attempted to halt, but the car skidded, went over a curb and hit a steel post at the edge of the driveway.

Jones said he halted at the intersection, saw no oncoming traffic and started to pull onto the street. Then he heard tires squeal and saw Wilson's car bounce off the curb, hit his car and then strike the metal post at the cemetery gate, he said.

A collision at 1:02 p. m. Monday at Walters St. and Ridge Alley caused slight damage to a northbound 1959 sedan driven by Mrs. Mary E. Howell, 35, of 1616 Globe St., and a stopped westbound auto operated by Richard Deshler, 34, of 512 Campground Rd., Wellsville, police reported. Gates Slated At Crossings In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Disturbed by the latest in a series of recent near fatal crashes at the North Market St. crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday morning, Council last night took the initial move in seeking automtic gates at three city crossings.

Councilmen unanimously approved a motion to have legislation drawn to permit the railroad company to install the automatic gates — a project which has been consistently rejected for some 25 years.

"A manpower failure" was described by railroad officials yesterday as the cause of a train-truck collision at the N. Market St. crossing in which Joseph D. Bukoffsky, 29, of Lisbon R. D. and E. S. Clevenger, 44, of Galion were injured.

Bukoffsky, a truck driver, suffered leg injuries when his huge tractor-trailer rig, loaded with 18 tons of coal, was rammed by the west-bound freight train at 4 a. m.

City officials have previously objected to use of the automatic gates because they would eliminate the jobs of some seven watchmen.

The gates at the N. Market St. crossing would have sidewalk gates for pedestrian protection. The gates proposed for James St. crossing would have pedestrian gates on one side, while the gates for the State Line Rd. crossing would be only for vehicular traffic.

Due To Late Date In Session

Ohio Legislature Action On 'Blue Law' Seen Dim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There may be some degree of chaos in Ohio in the next two years, but don't count on the Ohio Legislature to do anything this session to clarify the state's Sunday closing laws.

If the legislature does nothing to clarify the law, there could be two results:

— Law enforcement officials could continue their present policy of not enforcing the present law, or

— Officials could crack down with an iron hand on violators.

Because of the late date in the session, expected to end June 14, legislative leaders expect nothing to be done on the red-hot question of Ohio's blue laws.

This is not necessarily the final word, but it is the present thinking.

Both houses of the legislature had strictly routine sessions Monday night as they returned for their 20th work week.

The major legislative action was Senate acceptance of House amendments to require an able-bodied relief recipient to work for his relief check. The bill goes to the governor.

Final action in the Senate Judiciary Committee on the Sunday laws is due Wednesday. The best guess now is that some sort of a bill will be recommended for passage—not the House-approved bill—but some sort of compromise.

"But, hell, it's too late in the session for a compromise in the legislature now," commented a legislative leader. "No matter what the Senate Judiciary Committee might come out with now and the Senate might pass, it doesn't look like there's any chance the House will agree."

That appears to present a stalemate.

The House Judiciary Committee, a couple of months ago, came up with a totally new concept of Sunday prohibitions. Present law prohibits common labor on Sunday. The proposal by the committee headed by Rep. Edmund James, R-Noble, was to eliminate any possible religious connection with the Christian Sabbath observance and simply prohibit sale of either real or personal property with the exception of 12 classes of property.

Rhodes Signs 21 More Bills, Total Of 84

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has signed 21 more bills into law, bringing to 84 the total he has approved since the 105th General Assembly convened in January. The governor has yet to veto a measure passed by the Republican-controlled assembly.

Among the latest signed was a bill giving Ohio the nation's first "condominium" statute — providing for joint ownership by occupants of individual apartment units.

Other newly enacted laws create an Ohio Judicial Council, require motorists to stop after accidents and increase the pay of voting precinct registrars from $10 to $12 a day.

Still others permit sewer districts to levy taxes outside the 10-mill limit and extend from 5 to 20 years the life of levies voted for sewer improvements.

because of race, and the state's criminal processes are employed in a way which enforces the discrimination mandated by that law such a palpable violation of the 14th Amendment cannot be saved by attempting to separate the mental urges of the discriminators."

In the Greenville case, Warren said, the city by ordinance provided that any decision as to whether a restaurant is to be operated on a desegregated basis is to be reserved to the city.

Thus, said Warren, a person owning an eating place is left with no choice of his own, but must segregate white and Negro. This, he said, is state action that can not stand.

Prior to this declaration, Warren tempered the effect of the decisions by restating the words of a 1961 Supreme Court opinion in another racial case. This was that private conduct violating individual rights does not violate the Constitution unless a state or city is involved to some significant extent.

In the next case he read, the chief justice went far to fix a new point of law. In a sit-in case from New Orleans, Warren pointed out there was no state statute or city ordinance requiring segregation of the races in restaurants. However, he cited a city official's statements to the effect that the city would not permit Negroes to seek desegregated service in restaurants.

"Consequently," he said, "the city must be treated exactly as if it had an ordinance prohibiting such conduct . . . A state, or city, may act as authoritatively through its executive as through its legislative body."

The tribunal did not go into the question, often discussed, of what a private storekeeper can do if on his own desire—without any state or city law—he prefers not to serve Negroes.

Church Gets New Head

Elder William Christensen, left, of Spanish Fork, Utah, has been appointed new branch president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, succeeding Toney Adkins, 1907 Michigan Ave., who has served about six years.

Appointed as Christensen's aides were Marion D. Sias of Maple Dr., and Denver R. Carder, 554 California Ave., Chester, first and second counselor, respectively.

They succeed Charles V. Dubois, first counselor, and Albert L. Ferguson, second counselor.

The appointments were made during Sunday morning services. Visiting church officials for the occasion were Conwell McCuen of Pittsburgh, first counselor in the West Penn District, and Imri J. Hutching, also of Pittsburgh, first counselor in the Easter Atlantic States mission.

Adkins gave a talk and expressed his appreciation to those who served with him. During his term, the congregation erected the new chapel on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

He told of the church system of selecting officers and teachers — the Mormon Church has no paid ministry and those called serve in branches and wards for an indefinite period. He said none of the assignments is permanent and, "when changes are made it means progress." He closed with the assertion that "leadership is of vital importance but that the real strength of the church comes from the membership."

The new branch president and his wife, Mrs. Thelma Christensen, have been in the mission field two years. They expect to be here for at least nine months or more. They are residing at 328 W. 5th St. Christensen has helped with the fellowship work of the denomination in Sunbury, Pa. and Williamsport, Pa., serving in the same capacity.

Because of a district conference session in Pittsburgh next Sunday, no services will be held at the church. A testimonial meeting will be held June 2 at 10 a. m. and on June 9, Sunday School will be at 10 a. m. and sacrament service at 6 p. m.

Tariff-Cutting Pattern

New Compromise Given U.S. By Europe Market

GENEVA (AP)—The European Common Market offered a new compromise to the United States today in their battle over a broad pattern for tariff-cutting talks next year.

The European counter-proposal followed a transatlantic telephone intervention by President Kennedy in an attempt to break the stalemate at the 73-nation ministerial conference sponsored by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The stalemate posed a grave threat to Kennedy's Trade Expansion Act of 1962, which previously had promised to be one of the major achievements of his administration.

The Common Market proposal was being submitted to Christian A. Herter, Kennedy's chief negotiator.

The Europeans refused to disclose the content of their proposal. American delegates had been annoyed Monday when another compromise offer was outlined to newsmen before it reached them.

The GATT conference was called in an attempt to agree on a tariff-cutting formula that would be worked out in detail at the negotiations scheduled to start next year.

The United States proposed uniform, across-the-board reductions of rates applied to all nations. The U.S. Trade Expansion Act provides that they can run as high as 50 per cent.

iterating his argument about the length of the contract.

"No one asks a man to be superintendent for less than three years. If you do, you're telling him you have no confidence in him," Lowe declared.

McConville said the program is too big for inexperience, pointing out the board's budget now exceeds $2 million.

"Did Mr. Betts have experience when he was named?" Moss asked. "No, and it was a 3-2 vote when he got the job. His appointment caused lots of comment," McConville answered.

Lowe immediately asked Miss Liebschner to check the minutes of the 1951 meeting at which Mr. Betts was named to clarify the question of the vote and to report at the next meeting.

(The Review files show Mr. Betts was given a two-year contract as superintendent on Aug. 13, 1951, with O. E. Hall, Raymond S. Buzzard and J. E. Curry voting in favor and James D. Bennett and the late I. A. Hoffman dissenting. His appointment came immediately after the board by a similar 3-2 vote rejected the appointment of a Pomeroy educator as superintendent.)

Ashbaugh seconded Moss' motion, citing Blair' background and experience and pointing out this is a "critical" time of the year since the superintendent must make plans for the 1963-64 term and interview prospective teachers.

Mrs. Dunlop also supported Blair's appointment, pointing out he had worked with Mr. Betts, aided in conducting interviews and knows the school system.

Informed by Lowe of the board's motion on his return to the meeting, Blair commented, "I am happy to accept. It will be difficult to step into the position held by Mr. Betts. I want to thank you for your confidence in me."

Blair, a bachelor who resides on Dairy Ln., came to East Liverpool in 1954 from Bellaire to take the newly-created post of assistant superintendent in charge of elementary education. His duties chiefly have been to supervise the education in the first six grades.

A native of Thomasville, N. C., Blair obtained his bachelor of arts degree from High Point (N. C.) College in 1941 and his master's degree from Ohio State University in 1949.

With the exception of his thesis, he also has completed work for his doctorate in philosophy at Ohio State.

Although his work in East Liverpool has been largely in the elementary field, Blair has had a wide variety of training and experience in all phases — elementary, secondary and higher education and school administration.

He holds professional certificates as a superintendent, high school principal, elementary principal and high school teacher.

Blair taught chemistry, biology and English in Guilford County Schools at Greensboro, N. C., and chemistry and biology at Bellaire High School. He also was an elementary instructor in Greensboro and principal of Bellaire Central School.

He served as a graduate assistant at Ohio State and has been a visiting professor at the Graduate School of the University of Toledo and a professor in the Kent State University Extension Division.

Blair is co-author of "Worlds of Experience," an eighth grade anthology published last January by the American Book Co., and author of an article on curriculum in the Ohio School Boards Journal and an article in "Educational Comment" at the University of Toledo.

He has served as an educational consultant at Ohio State and Toledo and as the director of numerous workshops.

Blair is serving the second year of a three-year term as a member of the executive committee of the Ohio Education Association of which he is a life member.

He also is secretary - treasurer of the Eastern Ohio Council for Higher Education, past president of the East Central Ohio Teachers Association and a member of the National Education Association and the national and state Associations of School Administrators.

He also is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Association for Childhood Education International and the Association for Supervison of Curriculum Development.

Blair also has been active in many civic organizations. He is immediate past president of the Kiwanis Club and past president and a member of the board of the Tri-State Civic Counseling Center and Columbiana County Public Health League, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a former member of the board of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association. He also is a member of the Methodist Church.

During World War II, he was sergeant major of a 1,000-bed general hospital in the China - Burma - India Theater, serving overseas for approximately two years. He is a member of American Legion Post 1 of Wheeling.

Gates Slated At Crossings In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Disturbed by the latest in a series of recent near fatal crashes at the North Market St. crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday morning, Council last night took the initial move in seeking automtic gates at three city crossings.

Councilmen unanimously approved a motion to have legislation drawn to permit the railroad company to install the automatic gates — a project which has been consistently rejected for some 25 years.

"A manpower failure" was described by railroad officials yesterday as the cause of a train-truck collision at the N. Market St. crossing in which Joseph D. Bukoffsky, 29, of Lisbon R. D. and E. S. Clevenger, 44, of Galion were injured.

Bukoffsky, a truck driver, suffered leg injuries when his huge tractor-trailer rig, loaded with 18 tons of coal, was rammed by the west-bound freight train at 4 a. m.

City officials have previously objected to use of the automatic gates because they would eliminate the jobs of some seven watchmen.

The gates at the N. Market St. crossing would have sidewalk gates for pedestrian protection. The gates proposed for James St. crossing would have pedestrian gates on one side, while the gates for the State Line Rd. crossing would be only for vehicular traffic.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: If a woman arrives at her job in an office without an underslip she is considered a cheap trollop. Yet a great many men, who are otherwise impeccably dressed, come to work without undershirts. Isn't this exactly the same thing?

My boss is a man in his 40s. He is handsome, a smart dresser and has excellent taste—in all areas except this one.

The first thing he does when he comes to the office is shed his suit coat. There he sits, greeting important people from all over the world, both men and women—with no undershirt. To make matters worse, he wears expensive white silk shirts that you can see right through.

I've mentioned this to a few colleagues and they look at me as if I have lost my marbles. What is your opinion? — POOR BUT REFINED.

Dear P. BUT R.: Most men's shirts are made of oxford cloth or cotton. These fabrics are not transparent, so from an esthetic point of view an undershirt is not essential.

Silk shirts, however, call for an undershirt. And if your boss does not know it let's hope he reads this and takes the hint.

A Word For Deaf

Dear Ann: Many organizations are interested in the blind and other handicapped groups but few people are interested in the deaf. Perhaps it is because deaf people do not use crutches or have dogs to lead them. They look like everyone else.

I was saddened by a recent column in which a reader wrote, "Many states have no laws to protect the public against crippled, half-blind, senile, and DEAF drivers." Obviously, the writer has no understanding of deaf drivers.

You may be interested to know that the U.S. government spent many thousands of dollars in February 1962 to gather outstanding authorities in the field of education, social welfare and religion for the purpose of examining the status of deaf drivers. Safety experts as well as representatives of insurance companies were invited.

It was established that the accident rate for deaf drivers is lower than the accident rate for drivers with hearing. Deaf drivers are more careful because they realize they must be especially alert. They must see what they cannot hear.

I hope you will print this and set the record straight.—REV. T.F.C. — International Catholic Deaf Association.

Dear Father: Thank you for writing. I'm delighted to set the record straight.

Personal Secret

Dear Ann: Ours was a "must marriage." But my husband and I are deeply in love and it has made no difference in our feelings for each other. We had planned to be married in May but when I learned I was pregnant we changed the date to February.

The baby was born seven and a half months after we were married.

Our daughter is now 3 weeks old. What will I tell her when she is old enough to ask questions? I would hate for her to feel she was not wanted or that we had to hurry and marry because she was on the way.

Please tell me how to handle this question when it comes up. It has been on my mind for several months.—WORRIED AND UPSET.

Dear W and U: Every day I get at least one letter from someone who asks this question. I will tell you what I have told others. By the time your daughter is old enough to talk the calendar will be forgotten by most people, so there's no good reason to bring it up, which I hope you will not.

Celebrate your wedding anniversary any time you want to. It's strictly your own business.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

HI THERE! I want to take a few minutes of your time today to talk about maids, housekeepers and part-time hired help.

I only have help eight hours per week . . .

I have found—personally— that it is far better to have two women to come in and help clean house than to depend upon one. Reason?

Here's why: We all get sick sometimes. If they miss one day (heaven forbid!) we are two weeks behind time.

Now, here's the point:

Are you aware that you and your neighbor can share a maid?

Yes, you can.

Instead of having a maid for eight hours one day a week we have found that to hire two different maids is better than one!

Reason again?

Gals, one maid can iron like the dickens! The other one is a whizz at dusting. If you are fanatic on either chore at least it gets done and so will some top cleaning.

ONE OF THESE maids — and you can figure this out after a few months — will love deep cleaning.

This is the one you hire when you want something extra done!

So girls instead of trying to hire and find a jack-of-all trades helper for eight hours, it is my suggestion at the next coffee klatch with your neighbor. . .that you ask her if she would like to share a maid with you.

I have neighbors now who have three different maids each week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday!

But . . . they only have them for two hours each day.

We have tested and found that this is the answer. We don't have to worry if one can't iron well because the next one will . . . and so forth.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: With summer coming up and attics and basements to clean I would like to give a little tip on the way to clean the floors without making a lot of dust.

I take some old newspapers and tear them in pieces or cut in one-inch strips, pull them apart and drop in a pail of water. Put these strips of paper over the floor and then do the sweeping.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in the part of the country where our water leaves a rust stain. Can anyone tell me whether there is a way to remove this stain from tile in the shower and the bathroom?

MRS. J. E. J.

Chamber To Ask Enforcement Of City Regulations

Plans to arrange a meeting with various city officials and department heads to set up and enforce codes and ordinances pertaining to buildings and sidewalks were discussed at a meeting of the civic and community affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon at the Chamber office.

A legislative sub - committee will work out the details for the meeting.

The Chamber committee also will check on riverfront areas which could be developed as boat-launching sites.

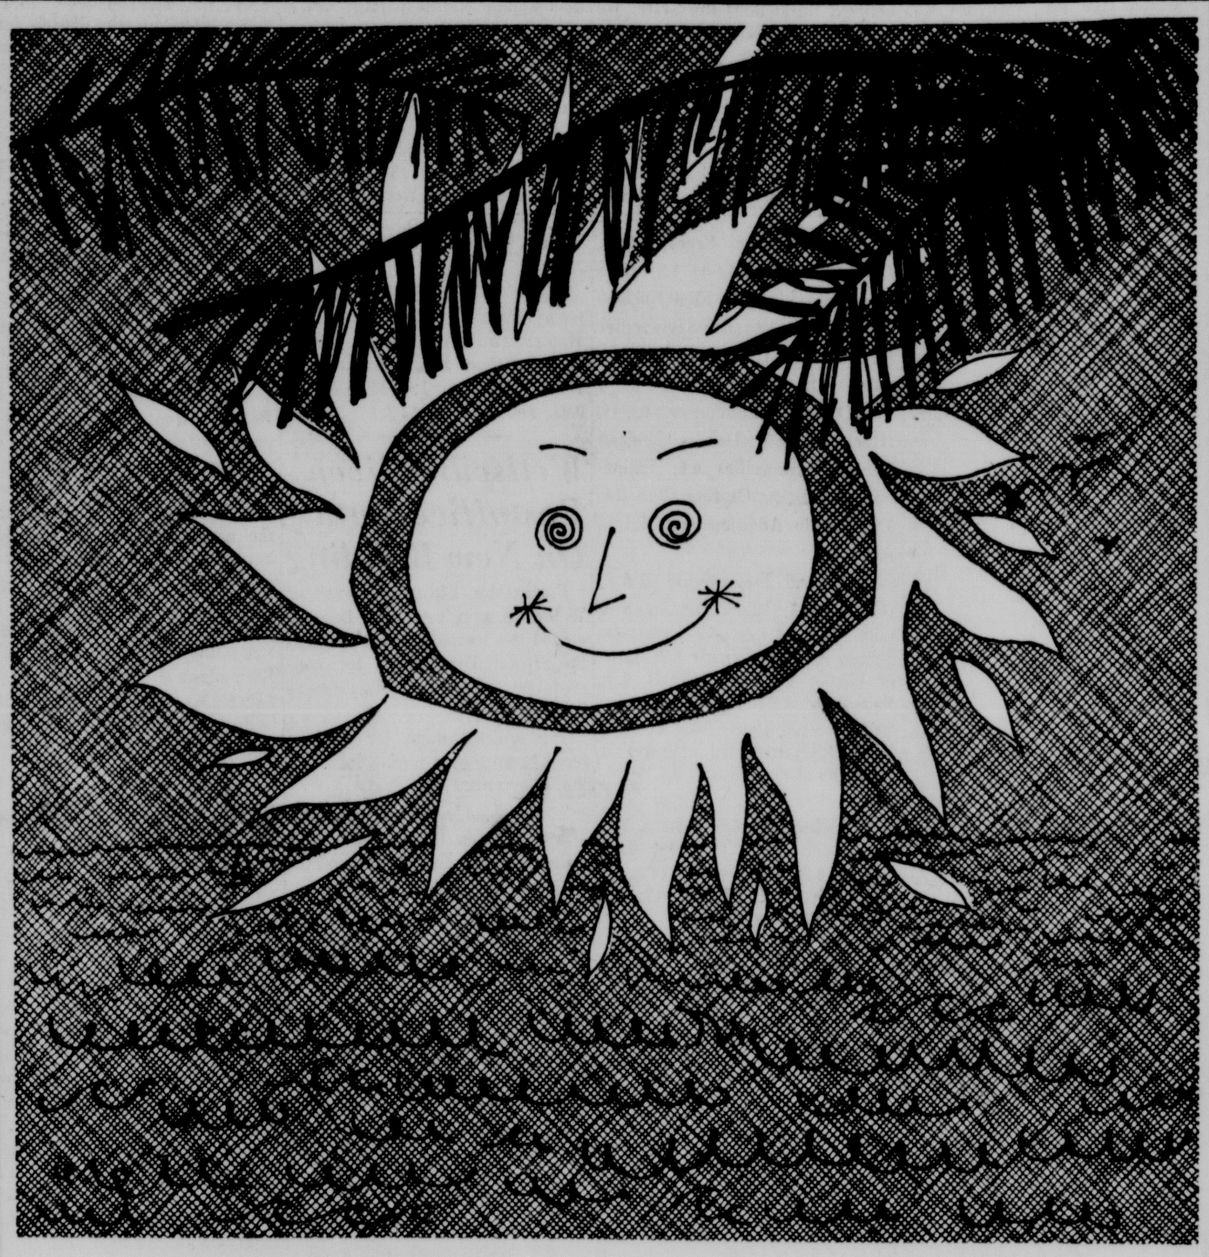

Members also were urged to attend the meeting of the Board of Thompson Park commissioners next Monday to discuss beautification of the riverfront.

The committee also discussed the last meeting of the City Planning Commission and the forthcoming regional planning meeting next month. Don Eckert, a member of the Chamber committee and chairman of the city commission, urged members to attend future meetings of the city and regional groups.

To provide for long - range planning, H. James Allison Jr., committee chairman, named Ronald Mason to serve as chairman of a sub-committee to handle the Chamber's phase of the citywide cleanup campaign.

Other members will be Donald Honicky, who was chairman this year, Maj. William Hathorn, Harry Martin, Harry Barlow and Dr. John Hayes.

Keep In Trim

Starving Off Pounds Called Futile

Paradoxically as it may seem, you can reduce more effectively on a protective, low calorie pattern, than you can by actual fasting.

Ida Jean Kain

The following letter is an example of what happens when you resort to fasting, or follow a diet that is dangerously lacking in essential nutrients:

"A year and a half ago I stopped smoking, and as a result I gained weight from nervous picking — 35 excess pounds. I now weigh 165 pounds instead of 130 which is my right weight.

"Dieting is very discouraging to me, so I asked the doctor for pills. I know you do not approve of the way I diet, but I hope you can explain the mystery of what happened to me.

"WHEN I STARTED to diet, my weight dropped 7 pounds within three days. Then, though I went for the next three days fasting completely, I actually gained the seven pounds back. For the next two days all I had was a glass of buttermilk. The two days following I had a can of formula and a boiled egg. On this I gained another pound!

"So, after nine days of practically starving I actually weigh more than I weighed in the first place. I feel swollen and very weary and tired. Because the pills pep me up, right after taking one I feel like working. But until I take the pill I could just sit in the corner and not move.

"Please tell me just what is the matter and what can I do to get the scales moving again."

Here are the blunt facts: Starvation accomplishes nothing. The human body is a work machine, food is the fuel which supplies energy, and energy is the power to do work. But the body does not live by energy alone.

Our daily food is used in a fascinating way. From a varied food pattern, protein minerals and vitamins are selectively used for replacement of worn out tissues. Deprived of the essential nutrients, the human power plant fails to function properly. It's no wonder you do not feel like moving.

No matter how low you cut calories the scales may still show a marked gain due to the retention of water. In the meantime you are seriously undermining your health by your self - imposed starvation. Have you been back to your doctor?

HOW TO GET the scales moving? Eat to build vital slimness. Scientifically planned, low calorie fare provides all nutrition essentials generously.

Whether or not "A man is what he eats" ... if he doesn't eat — he isn't.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet, "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

iterating his argument about the length of the contract.

"No one asks a man to be superintendent for less than three years. If you do, you're telling him you have no confidence in him," Lowe declared.

McConville said the program is too big for inexperience, pointing out the board's budget now exceeds $2 million.

"Did Mr. Betts have experience when he was named?" Moss asked. "No, and it was a 3-2 vote when he got the job. His appointment caused lots of comment," McConville answered.

Lowe immediately asked Miss Liebschner to check the minutes of the 1951 meeting at which Mr. Betts was named to clarify the question of the vote and to report at the next meeting.

(The Review files show Mr. Betts was given a two-year contract as superintendent on Aug. 13, 1951, with O. E. Hall, Raymond S. Buzzard and J. E. Curry voting in favor and James D. Bennett and the late I. A. Hoffman dissenting. His appointment came immediately after the board by a similar 3-2 vote rejected the appointment of a Pomeroy educator as superintendent.)

Ashbaugh seconded Moss' motion, citing Blair' background and experience and pointing out this is a "critical" time of the year since the superintendent must make plans for the 1963-64 term and interview prospective teachers.

Mrs. Dunlop also supported Blair's appointment, pointing out he had worked with Mr. Betts, aided in conducting interviews and knows the school system.

Informed by Lowe of the board's motion on his return to the meeting, Blair commented, "I am happy to accept. It will be difficult to step into the position held by Mr. Betts. I want to thank you for your confidence in me."

Blair, a bachelor who resides on Dairy Ln., came to East Liverpool in 1954 from Bellaire to take the newly-created post of assistant superintendent in charge of elementary education. His duties chiefly have been to supervise the education in the first six grades.

A native of Thomasville, N. C., Blair obtained his bachelor of arts degree from High Point (N. C.) College in 1941 and his master's degree from Ohio State University in 1949.

With the exception of his thesis, he also has completed work for his doctorate in philosophy at Ohio State.

Although his work in East Liverpool has been largely in the elementary field, Blair has had a wide variety of training and experience in all phases — elementary, secondary and higher education and school administration.

He holds professional certificates as a superintendent, high school principal, elementary principal and high school teacher.

Blair taught chemistry, biology and English in Guilford County Schools at Greensboro, N. C., and chemistry and biology at Bellaire High School. He also was an elementary instructor in Greensboro and principal of Bellaire Central School.

He served as a graduate assistant at Ohio State and has been a visiting professor at the Graduate School of the University of Toledo and a professor in the Kent State University Extension Division.

Blair is co-author of "Worlds of Experience," an eighth grade anthology published last January by the American Book Co., and author of an article on curriculum in the Ohio School Boards Journal and an article in "Educational Comment" at the University of Toledo.

He has served as an educational consultant at Ohio State and Toledo and as the director of numerous workshops.

Blair is serving the second year of a three-year term as a member of the executive committee of the Ohio Education Association of which he is a life member.

He also is secretary - treasurer of the Eastern Ohio Council for Higher Education, past president of the East Central Ohio Teachers Association and a member of the National Education Association and the national and state Associations of School Administrators.

He also is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Association for Childhood Education International and the Association for Supervison of Curriculum Development.

Blair also has been active in many civic organizations. He is immediate past president of the Kiwanis Club and past president and a member of the board of the Tri-State Civic Counseling Center and Columbiana County Public Health League, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a former member of the board of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association. He also is a member of the Methodist Church.

During World War II, he was sergeant major of a 1,000-bed general hospital in the China - Burma - India Theater, serving overseas for approximately two years. He is a member of American Legion Post 1 of Wheeling.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: If a woman arrives at her job in an office without an undershirt she is considered a cheap trollop. Yet a great many men, who are otherwise impeccably dressed, come to work without undershirts. Isn't this exactly the same thing?

My boss is a man in his 40s. He is handsome, a smart dresser and has excellent taste—in all areas except this one.

The first thing he does when he comes to the office is shed his suit coat. There he sits, greeting important people from all over the world, both men and women—with no undershirt. To make matters worse, he wears expensive white silk shirts that you can see right through.

I've mentioned this to a few colleagues and they look at me as if I have lost my marbles. What is your opinion? — POOR BUT REFINED.

Dear P. BUT R.: Most men's shirts are made of oxford cloth or cotton. These fabrics are not transparent, so from an esthetic point of view an undershirt is not essential.

Silk shirts, however, call for an undershirt. And if your boss does not know it let's hope he reads this and takes the hint.

A Word For Deaf

Dear Ann: Many organizations are interested in the blind and other handicapped groups but few people are interested in the deaf. Perhaps it is because deaf people do not use crutches or have dogs to lead them. They look like everyone else.

I was saddened by a recent column in which a reader wrote, "Many states have no laws to protect the public against crippled, half-blind, senile, and DEAF drivers." Obviously, the writer has no understanding of deaf drivers.

You may be interested to know that the U.S. government spent many thousands of dollars in February 1962 to gather outstanding authorities in the field of education, social welfare and religion for the purpose of examining the status of deaf drivers. Safety experts as well as representatives of insurance companies were invited.

It was established that the accident rate for deaf drivers is lower than the accident rate for drivers with hearing. Deaf drivers are more careful because they realize they must be especially alert. They must see what they cannot hear.

I hope you will print this and set the record straight.—REV. T.F.C. — International Catholic Deaf Association.

Dear Father: Thank you for writing. I'm delighted to set the record straight.

Personal Secret

Dear Ann: Ours was a "must marriage." But my husband and I are deeply in love and it has made no difference in our feelings for each other. We had planned to be married in May but when I learned I was pregnant we changed the date to February.

The baby was born seven and a half months after we were married.

Our daughter is now 3 weeks old. What will I tell her when she is old enough to ask questions? I would hate for her to feel she was not wanted or that we had to hurry and marry because she was on the way.

Please tell me how to handle this question when it comes up. It has been on my mind for several months.—WORRIED AND UPSET.

Dear W and U: Every day I get at least one letter from someone who asks this question. I will tell you what I have told others. By the time your daughter is old enough to talk the calendar will be forgotten by most people, so there's no good reason to bring it up, which I hope you will not.

Celebrate your wedding anniversary any time you want to. It's strictly your own business.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pennsylvania's Society Of SAR Gets Taft Award

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Sen. Robert A. Taft Award was among several presented Monday night at the national convention of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The award, for enrolling the most new members in the past year, went to the Pennsylvania Society of the SAR.

The San Diego, Calif., chapter won the President General's Cup for the best presentation of an SAR accomplishment, and the Louisiana State Society received the Allene Wilson Groves Americanism Award.

In addition, Minuteman Medals for outstanding patriotic service were presented to nine individuals, including J. Boyd Davis of Columbus, Ohio.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

HI THERE! I want to take a few minutes of your time today to talk about maids, housekeepers and part-time hired help.

I only have help eight hours per week . . .

I have found—personally— that it is far better to have two women to come in and help clean house than to depend upon one. Reason?

Here's why: We all get sick sometimes. If they miss one day (heaven forbid!) we are two weeks behind time.

Now, here's the point:

Are you aware that you and your neighbor can share a maid?

Yes, you can.

Instead of having a maid for eight hours one day a week we have found that to hire two different maids is better than one!

Reason again?

Gals, one maid can iron like the dickens! The other one is a whizz at dusting. If you are fanatic on either chore at least it gets done and so will some top cleaning.

-:-

This is the one you hire when you want something extra done!

So girls instead of trying to hire and find a jack-of-all trades helper for eight hours, it is my suggestion at the next coffee klatch with your neighbor. . .that you ask her if she would like to share a maid with you.

I have neighbors now who have three different maids each week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday!

But . . . they only have them for two hours each day.

We have tested and found that this is the answer. We don't have to worry if one can't iron well because the next one will . . . and so forth.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: With summer coming up and attics and basements to clean I would like to give a little tip on the way to clean the floors without making a lot of dust.

I take some old newspapers and tear them in pieces or cut in one-inch strips, pull them apart and drop in a pail of water. Put these strips of paper over the floor and then do the sweeping.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in the part of the country where our water leaves a rust stain. Can anyone tell me whether there is a way to remove this stain from tile in the shower and the bathroom?

MRS. J. E. J.

Chamber To Ask Enforcement Of City Regulations

Plans to arrange a meeting with various city officials and department heads to set up and enforce codes and ordinances pertaining to buildings and sidewalks were discussed at a meeting of the civic and community affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon at the Chamber office.

A legislative sub - committee will work out the details for the meeting.

The Chamber committee also will check on riverfront areas which could be developed as boat-launching sites.

Members also were urged to attend the meeting of the Board of Thompson Park commissioners next Monday to discuss beautification of the riverfront.

The committee also discussed the last meeting of the City Planning Commission and the forthcoming regional planning meeting next month. Don Eckert, a member of the Chamber committee and chairman of the city commission, urged members to attend future meetings of the city and regional groups.

To provide for long - range planning, H. James Allison Jr., committee chairman, named Ronald Mason to serve as chairman of a sub-committee to handle the Chamber's phase of the citywide cleanup campaign.

Other members will be Donald Honicky, who was chairman this year, Maj. William Hathorn, Harry Martin, Harry Barlow and Dr. John Hayes.

Keep In Trim

Starving Off Pounds Called Futile

Paradoxically as it may seem, you can reduce more effectively on a protective, low calorie pattern, than you can by actual fasting.

Ida Jean Kain

The following letter is an example of what happens when you resort to fasting, or follow a diet that is dangerously lacking in essential nutrients:

"A year and a half ago I stopped smoking, and as a result I gained weight from nervous picking — 35 excess pounds. I now weigh 165 pounds instead of 130 which is my right weight.

"Dieting is very discouraging to me, so I asked the doctor for pills. I know you do not approve of the way I diet, but I hope you can explain the mystery of what happened to me.

"WHEN I STARTED to diet, my weight dropped 7 pounds within three days. Then, though I went for the next three days fasting completely, I actually gained the seven pounds back. For the next two days all I had was a glass of buttermilk. The two days following I had a can of formula and a boiled egg. On this I gained another pound!

"So, after nine days of practically starving I actually weigh more than I weighed in the first place. I feel swollen and very weary and tired. Because the pills pep me up, right after taking one I feel like working. But until I take the pill I could just sit in the corner and not move.

"Please tell me just what is the matter and what can I do to get the scales moving again."

Here are the blunt facts: Starvation accomplishes nothing. The human body is a work machine, food is the fuel which supplies energy, and energy is the power to do work. But the body does not live by energy alone.

Our daily food is used in a fascinating way. From a varied food pattern, protein minerals and vitamins are selectively used for replacement of worn out tissues. Deprived of the essential nutrients, the human power plant fails to function properly. It's no wonder you do not feel like moving.

No matter how low you cut calories the scales may still show a marked gain due to the retention of water. In the meantime you are seriously undermining your health by your self - imposed starvation. Have you been back to your doctor?

HOW TO GET the scales moving? Eat to build vital slimness. Scientifically planned, low calorie fare provides all nutrition essentials generously.

Whether or not "A man is what he eats" ... if he doesn't eat — he isn't.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet, "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Pappas Hurls Orioles Into 1st; Twins Outlast Bosox, 6-5

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pappas, 24-year-old Baltimore right-hander who earned his Paul Richards diploma a few years back, and Drott, a 26-year-old Houston right-hander who graduated from the Paul Richards school only recently, came up with outstanding pitching performances Monday night.

Pappas limited Detroit to five hits, pitching Baltimore into a tie for the American League lead by blanking the Tigers 6-0. Drott checked Pittsburgh on the same amount of hits as Houston defeated the Pirates 2-0 in the only National League game scheduled.

In the other AL games, Chicago's White Sox moved up into the top spot with the Orioles by edging Washington 5-4, Minnesota dropped Boston from first to fourth by downing the Red Sox 6-5 and Cleveland whipped the Los Angeles Angels 7-5. New York and Kansas City were idle.

Bucs Blanked; Tribe Nips Angels

Pappas, a Richards protege when the master manipulator of pitchers was manager at Baltimore, recorded his second shutout of the season and his fourth complete game in bringing his record to 4-0. He struck out seven and lowered his earned run average to an amazing 1.17.

Drott, a Richards reclamation project now that he's the Colts' general manager, surprised teachers even more, pitching his first complete game in 23 starts over four years—since June 14, 1959. And it followed by only three days the no-hitter pitched by Houston's Don Nottebart, still another Richards' pupil.

The White Sox scored the decisive runs in the sixth inning on a single by Floyd Robinson, Joe Cunningham's double and sacrifice flies by Dave Nicholson and Charlie Maxwell, but needed Jim Brosnan's 2 1-3 innings of tight relief pitching to subdue the Senators. Brosnan now has allowed only one earned run in 11 1-3 innings since he was acquired from Cincinnati two weeks ago.

A three-run homer by Earl Battey that capped a four-run first inning uprising and solo shots by Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew powered the Twins and dropped the Red Sox all the way down to fourth place. Reliever Bill Dailey retired the last seven men in order to preserve the triumph for Camilo Pascual, now 5-4.

Consecutive third inning homers by Willie Kirkland and Tito Francona gave the Indians a lead they never relinquished. Despite the addition of four unearned runs, Cleveland had to hold on as Leon Wagner drove in five runs for Los Angeles with two homers. They were the 12th and 13th for the AL leader.

Ex-Potter Stars On Navy Golf Team

Burbick May Be Difference On Links In Service Match

Midshipman Craig Burbick of East Liverpool, hopes to help Navy score its third straight golf victory over Army when the old rivals clash over the West Point course June 1.

Burbick, a junior at the Naval Academy, defeated Army's number one golfer . . . Steve Pembrook . . . by a single stroke on the final hole to start Navy on the way to a 5-2 victory over the Cadets last season.

PEMBROOK returns for the West Pointers again this season and could meet Burbick again . . . this time on the course he knows best.

Burbick has had an outstanding season for the Navy linksters of Coach Bob Williams. The 6-foot-4, 225-pound midshipman has won nine of his 13 individual matches. He started the season as the number one man but has more recently been playing in the second spot behind team Captain Tom Haney.

IN THE RECENT Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Championships at Penn State University, Burbick fired a 72-74 for 146 and second place among Navy's top five scorers. The Midshipmen finished as runner-up to the host Nittany Lions for team honors by a single stroke.

Last season, Craig won seven of 12 individual matches and led the Midshipmen in the N. C. A. A. Tournament with an 80-77 - - 157.

"BURBICK is one of our finest golfers," says Coach Bob Williams, who has led the Midshipmen to 10 victories in 13 starts this season. "He's a dedicated lad who takes this game very seriously. He will certainly be one of the keys to our success against Army."

Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burbick, 724 Garner Ave.

Tribe May Obtain Angels' Belinsky

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Rumors have persisted in baseball circles today that pitcher Bo Belinsky will not be with the Los Angeles Angels much longer.

Latest report is that the sometimes wayward Angel is about to be traded. An earlier report had the southpaw headed for the minors.

Bud Furillo, sports writer for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, said Monday night a deal for Belinsky already has been approved by Los Angeles General Manager Fred Haney.

Gabe Paul, president of the Cleveland Indians, was asked whether the Tribe was interested in Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter in his rookie season last year.

"We always are interested in strengthening the ball club," Gabe replied, adding quite properly: "I can't talk about specific players. It could be construed as tampering."

Paul did say that Manager Birdie Tebbetts had been talking to Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney, and he observed that Belinsky "has a good arm."

There will be more conversations before Los Angeles departs Wednesday night, but "whether something will come of it, I don't know," Paul added.

Los Angeles baseball writers report Rigney would like to get Cleveland's Gary Bell, a right-hander who's been having some troubles of his own. He has won 2 and lost 3 so far this season. Other players also were mentioned in the talk involving Belinsky.

Belinsky, 26, who has a 1-7 record this season, spent Monday night in the bullpen as the Tribe beat the Angels 7-5. The move may mean the removal of the left-hander from the starting rotation.

Pappas Steering For Best Season

BALTIMORE (AP)—Milt Pappas, a veteran of six years in the major leagues at the age of 24, may be headed for his best season.

Big things have been predicted for the Baltimore Orioles' right-hander almost since he was signed fresh out of a Detroit high school in 1957.

And, although he has never had a losing season, Pappas seemingly has never quite reached his potential. Injuries have slowed him at times. So have his sometimes foolish attempts to literally blow pitches past the batters.

Brashness is part of the Pappas makeup.

Paul Richards, when he was manager of the Orioles, went to Detroit to sign the young athlete.

"I told Pappas why he should sign with the Orioles," Richards used to recall in relating the trip. "I paused to take a breath and Milt said, 'You don't have to give me all that stuff Mr. Richards, I'm going to sign with your club.'"

After just 11 innings in the minors, Pappas compiled a 65-49 record through the 1962 season. He has won between 10 and 15 games for five consecutive years.

Monday night, he blanked the Detroit Tigers 6-0 on five hits for his fourth straight victory of the season and lowered his earned run average to 1.17. He has completed four of six starts, two of them since being sidelined more than two weeks because of severe spike wounds of the right ankle.

All of his victories have been complete games. Two were shutouts, and two were one-run games in which he gave up solo home runs.

Chester Softball League Will Open Season Today

The eight-team Chester City Softball League will open its season tonight with a doubleheader at the Chester City Park field.

Defending champion New Cumberland will face the Chester Merchants in the opener at 6:05 while the Hancock County Savings & Loan goes up against Gallagher's Market of East Liverpool at 7:30.

Two more games will be played Wednesday with the East End Merchants meeting the Owls Club at 6:05 and Amvits taking on Local 647 at 7:30.

Wilber Staley, president, said the concession stand will be operated each night, bleachers will be provided for the fans and a playground will be available for children.

The remainder of this week's schedule follows:

Thursday

6:05—New Cumberland vs. Gallagher's
7:30—Chester Merchants vs. Owls Club

Friday

6:05—Hancock Savings vs. Amvits
7:30—East End vs. Local 647

Rams Sign Bass

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Backfield star Dick Bass, the first ball carrier to gain more than 1,000 years in a single season for the Los Angeles Rams, has signed a new contract for two years with the team.

'Just A Mediocre Pitcher,' Fisher Says Of 6-0 Mark

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Fischer is a modest man in an age when many become round shouldered from patting themselves on the back. Balding at 32, he seems almost embarrassed to be leading all major league pitchers with a 6-0 record for the Kansas City A's.

"It's nice. It's great. But I'm just a ... What is it they say?... a humpty dumpty," Fischer said Monday. "Last year I lost my last eight. This year I could have lost all six. When you win six and pitch only 21 innings you have to be lucky.

"It would be nice to stay like this, just once," he said, and added with a shrug, "But it's impossible to go through a whole year and not lose a game."

In the 15 years since he left Marathon, Wis., and rode 40 miles to Wisconsin Rapids for his first job in Class D at $150 a month, Fischer has seen them all, from bus league to jets.

"I never missed a step," he said. "Every class, D, C, B, A, Double A, Triple A and the majors. Eleven years in the White Sox chain and four big league clubs.

"I'm 32. I'm not going to be a star. I'm just a medicore pitcher. Thanks to Eddie Lopat (manager of the A's) I have come up with a new pitch, a slow curve. I can get it over the plate for a strike five out of six times. That is the difference in me."

What is so different about a slow curve?

"After looking at me for seven years, the hitters remember," Fischer explained. "They knew I threw two pitches, an ordinary fast ball and an ordinary slider. Lopat told me I had to come up with something different. He taught me his slow curve in five minutes."

DiMag Tries Golf

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former baseball great Joe Dimaggio took to the links Monday for the first time in his 10-year-old DiMaggio Invitational Golf Tournament but arthritis pains in his back forced him to drop out after four holes.

Chester Legion Is 4-2 Winner Over Burbick's

Broncos Set Opener

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos will open their 1963 American Football League season against the Kansas City club on Sept. 7, probably in the University of Denver Stadium.

Denison U. Wins Loop Golf Crown

The Big Red linksters did it again Monday, but it took a two-stroke penalty against Akron to give the champions sole possession of the title.

Denison's men posted a score of 637 in winning their second straight championship and their fourth in the past five years. Akron also turned in a 637 but was penalized because of an incorrect score card.

Fred Rake of Marietta was medalist with 149 for the 36-hole marathon over the York Temple Country Club.

Other team scores: Wittenberg 645, Kenyon 653, Oberlin and Wooster 658, Marietta 659, Capital 660, Ohio Wesleyan 669, Mount Union 674, Hiram 675, Muskingum 685, Otterbein 687 and Heidelberg and Baldwin-Wallace 689.

Pappas Hurls Orioles Into 1st; Twins Outlast Bosox, 6-5

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pappas limited Detroit to five hits, pitching Baltimore into a tie for the American League lead by blanking the Tigers 6-0. Drott checked Pittsburgh on the same amount of hits as Houston defeated the Pirates 2-0 in the only National League game scheduled.

In the other AL games, Chicago's White Sox moved up into the top spot with the Orioles by edging Washington 5-4, Minnesota dropped Boston from first to fourth by downing the Red Sox 6-5 and Cleveland whipped the Los Angeles Angels 7-5. New York and Kansas City were idle.

Bucs Blanked; Tribe Nips Angels

Pappas, a Richards protege when the master manipulator of pitchers was manager at Baltimore, recorded his second shutout of the season and his fourth complete game in bringing his record to 4-0. He struck out seven and lowered his earned run average to an amazing 1.17.

Drott, a Richards reclamation project now that he's the Colts' general manager, surprised teachers even more, pitching his first complete game in 23 starts over four years—since June 14, 1959. And it followed by only three days the no-hitter pitched by Houston's Don Nottebart, still another Richards' pupil.

The White Sox scored the decisive runs in the sixth inning on a single by Floyd Robinson, Joe Cunningham's double and sacrifice flies by Dave Nicholson and Charlie Maxwell, but needed Jim Brosnan's 2 1-3 innings of tight relief pitching to subdue the Senators. Brosnan now has allowed only one earned run in 11 1-3 innings since he was acquired from Cincinnati two weeks ago.

A three-run homer by Earl Battey that capped a four-run first inning uprising and solo shots by Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew powered the Twins and dropped the Red Sox all the way down to fourth place. Reliever Bill Dailey retired the last seven men in order to preserve the triumph for Camilo Pascual, now 5-4.

Consecutive third inning homers by Willie Kirkland and Tito Francona gave the Indians a lead they never relinquished. Despite the addition of four unearned runs, Cleveland had to hold on as Leon Wagner drove in five runs for Los Angeles with two homers. They were the 12th and 13th for the AL leader.

Ex-Potter Stars On Navy Golf Team

Burbick May Be Difference On Links In Service Match

Midshipman Craig Burbick of East Liverpool, hopes to help Navy score its third straight golf victory over Army when the old rivals clash over the West Point course June 1.

Burbick, a junior at the Naval Academy, defeated Army's number one golfer . . . Steve Pembrook . . . by a single stroke on the final hole to start Navy on the way to a 5-2 victory over the Cadets last season.

PEMBROOK returns for the West Pointers again this season and could meet Burbick again . . . this time on the course he knows best.

Burbick has had an outstanding season for the Navy linksters of Coach Bob Williams. The 6-foot-4, 225-pound midshipman has won nine of his 13 individual matches. He started the season as the number one man but has more recently been playing in the second spot behind team Captain Tom Haney.

IN THE RECENT Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Championships at Penn State University, Burbick fired a 72-74 for 146 and second place among Navy's top five scorers. The Midshipmen finished as runner-up to the host Nittany Lions for team honors by a single stroke.

Last season, Craig won seven of 12 individual matches and led the Midshipmen in the N. C. A. A. Tournament with an 80-77 - - 157.

"BURBICK is one of our finest golfers," says Coach Bob Williams, who has led the Midshipmen to 10 victories in 13 starts this season. "He's a dedicated lad who takes this game very seriously. He will certainly be one of the keys to our success against Army."

Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burbick, 724 Garner Ave.

Tribe May Obtain Angels' Belinsky

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Rumors have persisted in baseball circles today that pitcher Bo Belinsky will not be with the Los Angeles Angels much longer.

Latest report is that the sometimes wayward Angel is about to be traded. An earlier report had the southpaw headed for the minors.

Bud Furillo, sports writer for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, said Monday night a deal for Belinsky already has been approved by Los Angeles General Manager Fred Haney.

Gabe Paul, president of the Cleveland Indians, was asked whether the Tribe was interested in Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter in his rookie season last year.

"We always are interested in strengthening the ball club," Gabe replied, adding quite properly: "I can't talk about specific players. It could be construed as tampering."

Paul did say that Manager Birdie Tebbetts had been talking to Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney, and he observed that Belinsky "has a good arm."

There will be more conversations before Los Angeles departs Wednesday night, but "whether something will come of it, I don't know," Paul added.

Los Angeles baseball writers report Rigney would like to get Cleveland's Gary Bell, a right-hander who's been having some troubles of his own. He has won 2 and lost 3 so far this season. Other players also were mentioned in the talk involving Belinsky.

Belinsky, 26, who has a 1-7 record this season, spent Monday night in the bullpen as the Tribe beat the Angels 7-5. The move may mean the removal of the left-hander from the starting rotation.

Pappas Steering For Best Season

BALTIMORE (AP)—Milt Pappas, a veteran of six years in the major leagues at the age of 24, may be headed for his best season.

Big things have been predicted for the Baltimore Orioles' right-hander almost since he was signed fresh out of a Detroit high school in 1957.

And, although he has never had a losing season, Pappas seemingly has never quite reached his potential. Injuries have slowed him at times. So have his sometimes foolish attempts to literally blow pitches past the batters.

Paul Richards, when he was manager of the Orioles, went to Detroit to sign the young athlete.

"I told Pappas why he should sign with the Orioles," Richards used to recall in relating the trip. "I paused to take a breath and Milt said, 'You don't have to give me all that stuff Mr. Richards, I'm going to sign with your club.'"

After just 11 innings in the minors, Pappas compiled a 65-49 record through the 1962 season. He has won between 10 and 15 games for five consecutive years.

Monday night, he blanked the Detroit Tigers 6-0 on five hits for his fourth straight victory of the season and lowered his earned run average to 1.17. He has completed four of six starts, two of them since being sidelined more than two weeks because of severe spike wounds of the right ankle.

All of his victories have been complete games. Two were shutouts, and two were one-run games in which he gave up solo home runs.

'Just A Mediocre Pitcher,' Fisher Says Of 6-0 Mark

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Fischer is a modest man in an age when many become round shouldered from patting themselves on the back. Balding at 32, he seems almost embarrassed to be leading all major league pitchers with a 6-0 record for the Kansas City A's.

"It's nice. It's great. But I'm just a ... What is it they say?... a humpty dumpty," Fischer said Monday. "Last year I lost my last eight. This year I could have lost all six. When you win six and pitch only 21 innings you have to be lucky.

"It would be nice to stay like this, just once," he said, and added with a shrug, "But it's impossible to go through a whole year and not lose a game."

In the 15 years since he left Marathon, Wis., and rode 40 miles to Wisconsin Rapids for his first job in Class D at $150 a month, Fischer has seen them all, from bus league to jets.

"I never missed a step," he said. "Every class, D, C, B, A, Double A, Triple A and the majors. Eleven years in the White Sox chain and four big league clubs.

"I'm 32. I'm not going to be a star. I'm just a medicore pitcher. Thanks to Eddie Lopat (manager of the A's) I have come up with a new pitch, a slow curve. I can get it over the plate for a strike five out of six times. That is the difference in me."

What is so different about a slow curve?

"After looking at me for seven years, the hitters remember," Fischer explained. "They knew I threw two pitches, an ordinary fast ball and an ordinary slider. Lopat told me I had to come up with something different. He taught me his slow curve in five minutes."

DiMag Tries Golf

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former baseball great Joe Dimaggio took to the links Monday for the first time in his 10-year-old DiMaggio Invitational Golf Tournament but arthritis pains in his back forced him to drop out after four holes.

Chester Legion Is 4-2 Winner Over Burbick's

Broncos Set Opener

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos will open their 1963 American Football League season against the Kansas City club on Sept. 7, probably in the University of Denver Stadium.

Denison U. Wins Loop Golf Crown

The Big Red linksters did it again Monday, but it took a two-stroke penalty against Akron to give the champions sole possession of the title.

Denison's men posted a score of 637 in winning their second straight championship and their fourth in the past five years. Akron also turned in a 637 but was penalized because of an incorrect score card.

Fred Rake of Marietta was medalist with 149 for the 36-hole marathon over the York Temple Country Club.

Other team scores: Wittenberg 645, Kenyon 653, Oberlin and Wooster 658, Marietta 659, Capital 660, Ohio Wesleyan 669, Mount Union 674, Hiram 675, Muskingum 685, Otterbein 687 and Heidelberg and Baldwin-Wallace 689.

Dentists Win On Shutout By MacLean

The Dentists scored all three runs in the first inning then Jeff MacLean went on to blank Riverview Florists on five hits in a 3-0 victory Monday in the Colt League.

Today's game finds Central Service meeting the Realtors while Johnson's Pontiac and the Lawyers meet Wednesday.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — When little Eva failed to return a special card signed by her parents, her teacher at University Heights School asked for an explanation.

Drott Hurls 1st Complete Game At Bucs

Only two Buccos got as far as third off Drott, who won his second game against one defeat since being recalled from San Antonio early this season.

Cardwell was almost as tough, allowing the Colts only six hits, but Bob Aspromonte's single and Johnny Temple's triple broke the spell in the fifth inning.

Drott's performance was a lift to the Colt pitching staff and moved Houston to within a half game of the eighth-place Phillies.

The Pirates threatened twice, most seriously in the first inning when Dick Schofield led off with a double and went to third on Bill Virdon's infield out. Drott fanned Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski to end the threat.

Elmira Schools, City Pay Tribute To Davis

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Team athletics, the center of the late Ernie Davis' life after he moved here 11 years ago, came to a one-day halt at the city's three high schools today in tribute to him.

The body of the former Syracuse University halfback, who was a two-time All-America and the nation's finest collegiate football player of 1961, laid in state at the Neighborhood House. Davis played basketball in the building before entering Elmira Free Academy.

Redlegs Plane Makes Unscheduled Landing

The landing was uneventful and no one was injured.

The Reds were en route to Milwaukee from St. Louis for a series with the Braves which starts tonight.

Three Share Golf Honors At EL Club

Bill Pickin was the big winner Saturday and Bill McNutt and Dr. J. J. Laneve tied for honors Sunday in weekend golfing events at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Pickin scored 25 points in a par-birdie-eagle contest which saw Dr. R. J. Kinsey finish second with 24, T. H. Kashuba and W. L. Smith 21 and Everson Hall 20.

The official opening of the men's golfing season will be held Saturday. Prizes will be given for the best of four with ½ individual handicap, best ball of four with no handicap and special best ball of two.

The ladies will open their season Wednesday with nine and 18 hole medal play. A luncheon will follow golf.

Zaharias Picks Leading Roles For Movie On Babe

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—George Zaharias, projecting a movie on the life of the great Babe Didrikson Zaharias, wants Katharine Hepburn and Jackie Gleason to play the title roles in "The Babe and I."

"Jackie would be perfect to play me," George said delightedly. "He's about my size and knows golf. Miss Hepburn is a tall, athletic-looking woman like the Babe. It would be ideal casting."

He is a gargantuan former wrestler once known as "The Crying Greek." He weighs around 300 pounds and wears a size 56 suit, the jacket of which won't button over his bulging wastline. His dark hair is thinning and has flecks of gray. Both ears are gorgeously cauliflowered. He has shoulders like an ox and hands like hams.

But tears cloud his eyes when he recalls his life with the "Babe," the greatest woman athlete who ever lived. She died of cancer Sept. 27, 1956.

"I thought I could go on and make a life of my own," George said. "I found I couldn't. We were a team. I dedicated my life to her. Now I can't break the chain. I think of her every day."

In 1960, Zaharias married again —his new bride being one of the Babe's best friends and with a strangely striking resemblance. It didn't last. "She was a wonderful woman," George said, "but she couldn't stand always being in the Babe's shadow."

The world may never see a woman athlete to compare with Babe Didrikson Zaharias. She broke two world records in the 1932 Olympics. She was an All-America basketball forward. She excelled in billiards, swimming, diving, bowling, fencing, polo, lacrosse and even such male sports as football and boxing.

Revolutionary Plan Adopted By Hospital

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Seriously sick patients of both sexes receive treatment and nursing in the same ward under a revolutionary system adopted at Magherafelt Hospital, County Londonderry.

The 170 - bed hospital is divided into separate units according to the degree of illness. In the wards for the seriously sick, sex distinction is scrapped and men and women get treatment together. As their condition improves, they are channeled to separate wards.

Hospital authorities claim the advantage of the idea is that it helps the specialists concentrate their work at the point where most attention is needed.

"We were told the mixing of the sexes would cause a public outcry but this has not been the case," a hospital spokesman claimed. "The arrangement has worked very smoothly and operates to the advantage of patients.

Wilmington Golfers Win Berth In NCAA

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Wilmington College, winner of the Mid-Ohio Conference golf championship, will represent District 22 in the NCAA championships at Kansas City June 4-7.

The champions posted a team score of 316 in the 18-hole event, defeating second - place Ashland by five strokes. Ohio Northern had 326, Defiance 333, Bluffton 334 and Cedarville 401.

Apaches Outlast Colts In Little League Fray

The Apaches outlasted the Colts, 11-9, in a Little League opener Monday afternoon at Highlandtown. The Little Leaguers are a mixture of players from both Highlandtown and No. 16 School.

Braulio Baeza won the Kentucky Derby in his third try when he scored with Chateaugay. He was ninth with Admiral's Voyage in 1962 and second with Crozier in 1961. His two previous mounts led after one mile.

Columbus Jets Welcome Layoff Of Three Days

By The Associated Press

The Columbus Jets, through a quirk of the International League baseball schedule, have three straight days off starting today. And if ever a team welcomed a breather, it must be the Jets.

On the heels of nine defeats on a 10-game home stand, Columbus lost two more on the road Monday. The Toronto Maple Leafs swept a Dominion Day doubleheader 13-3 and 4-3.

A 20 - hit assault on four Jet pitchers made it a breeze for Toronto in the opener despite Columbus homers by newcomer Barry Shetrone and Rex Johnston.

Columbus got only three hits in the nightcap, but two were homers by Johnston and Larry Elliott, and the Jets were in contention until Sad Sam Jones put down a last inning threat.

In other IL games Monday night, Jacksonville downed Arkansas 4-2, Atlanta edged Richmond 3-2, Buffalo shaded Syracuse 5 - 4 and Indianapolis whipped Rochester 8-1.

Never Bend May Bow Out Of Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend is troubled by an old ankle injury and may bow out of the Belmont Stakes.

Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, master of Cain Hoy, said the 3-year-old colt will be given a rest until he recovers from an ankle injury sustained at Keeneland early this spring.

"I don't know how long that will be," Guggenheim said Monday. "It certainly seems doubtful that he will be able to run in the Belmont."

One report had it that Never Bend, who ran second in the Kentucky Derby and third in last week's Preakness, would be out of action until the fall.

"That is a bit presumptuous," Guggenheim said. "We have been nursing the ankle, hoping it would come around all right. Now we have decided that we should give the horse a rest and let the ankle heal thoroughly."

Railroads, 5 Unions Take Up Jobs Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroads and five operating unions take up the key question today of eliminating the jobs of locomotive firemen in a last ditch effort to settle their work rules fight before a June 12 strike deadline.

A new round of negotiations began with a two-hour session Monday, mainly devoted to laying down guidelines for future sessions, which may go on for several weeks.

Both sides agreed to go to work first on the question of removing firemen from freight and yard trains.

This is the central issue in the dispute over work rules. It involves the jobs of some 40,000 firemen a presidential commission said last year weren't needed.

The railroads contend that outmoded work rules, which they call featherbedding, result in unnecessary operating expenses totaling $600 million annually.

A special three-man presidential emergency board last week softened the recommendations of the earlier presidential commission and proposed slightly better benefits for workers whose jobs were abolished.

President's Jet Airliner Sets Records

The Air Force Boeing 707 flew the 5,004 miles in 9 hours 53 minutes and 52 seconds.

The $10-million jet landed in rain at 4:09 a.m. at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., the point from which it started the Moscow round trip Saturday.

The plane made the flight to Moscow in 8 hours 38 minutes and 42 seconds—the fastest flight in either direction between the United States and Russia.

Potential From Bridge

Midland Development Discussed

Possible future development for the Midland district, capitalizing on the potential from the Shippingport Bridge now under construction, was discussed at an exploratory meeting held by some 25 representatives of municipal and business groups Monday night at the McGeehan Agency in Midland.

The meeting was called by the Midland Area Chamber of Commerce.

Boroughs represented were Georgetown, Shippingport, Industry, Ohioville and Midland, along with representatives of Midland and Industry organizations and several directors from the Chamber.

Because it was exploratory in the field of development, no action was taken but representatives were asked to inform their respective Councils and groups of the results. Next meeting was set for June 17 when representatives will present their recommendations on the type of development to be followed.

The meeting was described by Beaver County planners as "having grass roots which are essential for a development movement to be successful."

Comments on development were made by Paul Doughty, chairman of the Beaver County Planning Commission and president of the South Beaver County Civic Association; Robert Zapsic, executive director of both the County Planning Commission and the Beaver County Industrial Development Agency, and Clarence W. Turner of the Duquesne Light Co.'s Area Development Department.

Elmer Woods, secretary-manager of the Chippewa Township Board of Supervisors, and former chairman of the Beaver Falls Redevelopment Authority, screened a Beaver Falls Chamber of Commerce film on the development of Beaver Falls.

The planners pointed out that the group must decide on its objectives and the form of development needed, whether, regional industrial, community or for redevelopment. Planners said all boroughs should have zoning laws and building codes as necessary to planning and development.

Marvin Bahm, member of the Chamber's committee, reported on a proposal for obtaining free bus service in the Ohioville-Industry - Midland area, sponsored by Midland merchants.

Charles R. Schmitt, chamber president, presided.

Like Mother Hubbard

School Board To Borrow Again In Funds Scarcity

Like Old Mother Hubbard, the Board of Education is finding its cupboard (for finances) virtually bare these days as it scratches around for funds to meet its obligations.

The crisis, which board members have attributed to the delay in the collection of real estate taxes caused by the county-wide property reappraisal, continues unabated and Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, said Monday night she can see no immediate relief.

In what has become almost monthly procedure, the board approved a motion by C. Walter Ashbaugh, chairman of the finance committee, authorizing the borrowing of additional funds if needed.

Unless funds are received from the state foundation program by June 1, borrowing will be necessary in order to meet a bond payment of $88,275, Miss Liebschner and Ashbaugh said.

The foundation check estimated at $199,000 is due by the first of the month, she added. The payments are made quarterly.

Even if the foundation check is received, the last loan plus interest must be repaid first and the remainder will go toward the bond payment and to meet the smaller payrolls for the last half of the month, Miss Liebschner said.

Since its last meeting, the board borrowed $99,000 and received an advance of $25,020 from the personal tax collection. The money was used to meet payrolls and pay the Snyder Bus Co. on its transportation contract.

If borrowing is necessary, the board will be limited to $75,000 since it is permitted to borrow up to only 50 per cent of the tax amount. The balance due on real estate taxes is estimated at $150,000.

It would be the fourth time in five months the board has had to borrow money. It borrowed $175,000 to meet February payrolls and then borrowed another $150,000 in March.

So far this year the interest on the loans has amounted to $700, $100 more than the board appropriated for debt service for the entire year.

The balance in all school funds is only $23,339. Miss Liebschner reported, including a deficit of $44,226 in the general fund and a balance of $45,476 in the bond retirement account.

The financial woes also caused the board to delay action on blacktopping areas at Westgate and Lincoln schools.

Chester VFW To Sponsor 4 Boys, Girls To Ripley Camp

Plans to sponsor two boys and two girls from Chester to a West Virginia VFW camp near Ripley in July were made at a meeting of the Chester VFW Post 6450 Monday night.

A contribution of $25 was authorized to the J. Edgar Hoover Library at Valley Forge, Pa. The purchase of a wheel chair for community use was approved.

Raymond Treleven of California Ave. was enrolled as a new member.

Plans were made to sponsor a bowling team in the summer and winter leagues in East Liverpool, and for a mixed bowling league in the post membership.

Plans were made to charter a bus June 29 to the Pittsburgh-New York baseball game at Pittsburgh. Richard Shingler and Fred Mader were named to assist American Legion Post 121 with a Memorial Day program.

Next meeting is June 17.

Dentists Win On Shutout By MacLean

The Dentists scored all three runs in the first inning then Jeff MacLean went on to blank Riverview Florists on five hits in a 3-0 victory Monday in the Colt League.

Nieser with a perfect 3-for-3 performance at the plate and a double and single off the bat of first baseman Ron Kinsey provided all the hits for the Dentists.

Dave Alford, third baseman for the Dentists, made a fine fielding play on an over the head catch in the sixth inning.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — When little Eva failed to return a special card signed by her parents, her teacher at University Heights School asked for an explanation.

Drott Hurls 1st Complete Game At Bucs

Only two Buccos got as far as third off Drott, who won his second game against one defeat since being recalled from San Antonio early this season.

Cardwell was almost as tough, allowing the Colts only six hits, but Bob Aspromonte's single and Johnny Temple's triple broke the spell in the fifth inning.

Drott's performance was a lift to the Colt pitching staff and moved Houston to within a half game of the eighth-place Phillies.

The Pirates threatened twice, most seriously in the first inning when Dick Schofield led off with a double and went to third on Bill Virdon's infield out. Drott fanned Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski to end the threat.

Elmira Schools, City Pay Tribute To Davis

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Team athletics, the center of the late Ernie Davis' life after he moved here 11 years ago, came to a one-day halt at the city's three high schools today in tribute to him.

The body of the former Syracuse University halfback, who was a two-time All-America and the nation's finest collegiate football player of 1961, laid in state at the Neighborhood House. Davis played basketball in the building before entering Elmira Free Academy.

Pupils at the academy observed a minute of silence Monday in memory of Davis, who died Saturday in Cleveland of acute leukemia. He was 23.

Redlegs Plane Makes Unscheduled Landing

The landing was uneventful and no one was injured.

The Reds were en route to Milwaukee from St. Louis for a series with the Braves which starts tonight.

Three Share Golf Honors At EL Club

Bill Pickin was the big winner Saturday and Bill McNutt and Dr. J. J. Laneve tied for honors Sunday in weekend golfing events at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Pickin scored 25 points in a par-birdie-eagle contest which saw Dr. R. J. Kinsey finish second with 24, T. H. Kashuba and W. L. Smith 21 and Everson Hall 20.

The official opening of the men's golfing season will be held Saturday. Prizes will be given for the best of four with ½ individual handicap, best ball of four with no handicap and special best ball of two.

A stag dinner will follow golfing and players are requested to make entries at the pro shop.

The ladies will open their season Wednesday with nine and 18 hole medal play. A luncheon will follow golf.

Zaharias Picks Leading Roles For Movie On Babe

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—George Zaharias, projecting a movie on the life of the great Babe Didrikson Zaharias, wants Katharine Hepburn and Jackie Gleason to play the title roles in "The Babe and I."

"Jackie would be perfect to play me," George said delightedly. "He's about my size and knows golf. Miss Hepburn is a tall, athletic-looking woman like the Babe. It would be ideal casting."

He is a gargantuan former wrestler once known as "The Crying Greek." He weighs around 300 pounds and wears a size 56 suit, the jacket of which won't button over his bulging wastline. His dark hair is thinning and has flecks of gray. Both ears are gorgeously cauliflowered. He has shoulders like an ox and hands like hams.

But tears cloud his eyes when he recalls his life with the "Babe," the greatest woman athlete who ever lived. She died of cancer Sept. 27, 1956.

"I thought I could go on and make a life of my own," George said. "I found I couldn't. We were a team. I dedicated my life to her. Now I can't break the chain. I think of her every day."

In 1960, Zaharias married again —his new bride being one of the Babe's best friends and with a strangely striking resemblance. It didn't last. "She was a wonderful woman," George said, "but she couldn't stand always being in the Babe's shadow."

The world may never see a woman athlete to compare with Babe Didrikson Zaharias. She broke two world records in the 1932 Olympics. She was an All-America basketball forward. She excelled in billiards, swimming, diving, bowling, fencing, polo, lacrosse and even such male sports as football and boxing.

Revolutionary Plan Adopted By Hospital

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Seriously sick patients of both sexes receive treatment and nursing in the same ward under a revolutionary system adopted at Magherafelt Hospital, County Londonderry.

The 170 - bed hospital is divided into separate units according to the degree of illness. In the wards for the seriously sick, sex distinction is scrapped and men and women get treatment together. As their condition improves, they are channeled to separate wards.

Hospital authorities claim the advantage of the idea is that it helps the specialists concentrate their work at the point where most attention is needed.

"We were told the mixing of the sexes would cause a public outcry but this has not been the case," a hospital spokesman claimed. "The arrangement has worked very smoothly and operates to the advantage of patients.

Wilmington Golfers Win Berth In NCAA

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Wilmington College, winner of the Mid-Ohio Conference golf championship, will represent District 22 in the NCAA championships at Kansas City June 4-7.

The Quakers won the berth Monday by defeating the five other conference teams on the par 72, 6,749 - yard layout at Springfield's Reid Park.

The champions posted a team score of 316 in the 18-hole event, defeating second - place Ashland by five strokes. Ohio Northern had 326, Defiance 333, Bluffton 334 and Cedarville 401.

Apaches Outlast Colts In Little League Fray

The Apaches outlasted the Colts, 11-9, in a Little League opener Monday afternoon at Highlandtown. The Little Leaguers are a mixture of players from both Highlandtown and No. 16 School.

Braulio Baeza won the Kentucky Derby in his third try when he scored with Chateaugay. He was ninth with Admiral's Voyage in 1962 and second with Crozier in 1961. His two previous mounts led after one mile.

Columbus Jets Welcome Layoff Of Three Days

By The Associated Press

The Columbus Jets, through a quirk of the International League baseball schedule, have three straight days off starting today. And if ever a team welcomed a breather, it must be the Jets.

On the heels of nine defeats on a 10-game home stand, Columbus lost two more on the road Monday. The Toronto Maple Leafs swept a Dominion Day doubleheader 13-3 and 4-3.

A 20 - hit assault on four Jet pitchers made it a breeze for Toronto in the opener despite Columbus homers by newcomer Barry Shetrone and Rex Johnston.

Columbus got only three hits in the nightcap, but two were homers by Johnston and Larry Elliott, and the Jets were in contention until Sad Sam Jones put down a last inning threat.

In other IL games Monday night, Jacksonville downed Arkansas 4-2, Atlanta edged Richmond 3-2, Buffalo shaded Syracuse 5 - 4 and Indianapolis whipped Rochester 8-1.

Never Bend May Bow Out Of Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend is troubled by an old ankle injury and may bow out of the Belmont Stakes.

Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, master of Cain Hoy, said the 3-year-old colt will be given a rest until he recovers from an ankle injury sustained at Keeneland early this spring.

"I don't know how long that will be," Guggenheim said Monday. "It certainly seems doubtful that he will be able to run in the Belmont."

One report had it that Never Bend, who ran second in the Kentucky Derby and third in last week's Preakness, would be out of action until the fall.

"That is a bit presumptuous," Guggenheim said. "We have been nursing the ankle, hoping it would come around all right. Now we have decided that we should give the horse a rest and let the ankle heal thoroughly."

Wellsville Cyclist Wins 1st Place Award

Railroads, 5 Unions Take Up Jobs Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroads and five operating unions take up the key question today of eliminating the jobs of locomotive firemen in a last ditch effort to settle their work rules fight before a June 12 strike deadline.

A new round of negotiations began with a two-hour session Monday, mainly devoted to laying down guidelines for future sessions, which may go on for several weeks.

Both sides agreed to go to work first on the question of removing firemen from freight and yard trains.

This is the central issue in the dispute over work rules. It involves the jobs of some 40,000 firemen a presidential commission said last year weren't needed.

If agreement can be reached on this point, other issues probably can be cleared up promptly.

The railroads contend that outmoded work rules, which they call featherbedding, result in unnecessary operating expenses totaling $600 million annually.

A special three-man presidential emergency board last week softened the recommendations of the earlier presidential commission and proposed slightly better benefits for workers whose jobs were abolished.

President's Jet Airliner Sets Records

The Air Force Boeing 707 flew the 5,004 miles in 9 hours 53 minutes and 52 seconds.

The $10-million jet landed in rain at 4:09 a.m. at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., the point from which it started the Moscow round trip Saturday.

The plane made the flight to Moscow in 8 hours 38 minutes and 42 seconds—the fastest flight in either direction between the United States and Russia.

Potential From Bridge

Midland Development Discussed

Possible future development for the Midland district, capitalizing on the potential from the Shippingport Bridge now under construction, was discussed at an exploratory meeting held by some 25 representatives of municipal and business groups Monday night at the McGeehan Agency in Midland.

The meeting was called by the Midland Area Chamber of Commerce.

Boroughs represented were Georgetown, Shippingport, Industry, Ohioville and Midland, along with representatives of Midland and Industry organizations and several directors from the Chamber.

Because it was exploratory in the field of development, no action was taken but representatives were asked to inform their respective Councils and groups of the results. Next meeting was set for June 17 when representatives will present their recommendations on the type of development to be followed.

The meeting was described by Beaver County planners as "having grass roots which are essential for a development movement to be successful."

Comments on development were made by Paul Doughty, chairman of the Beaver County Planning Commission and president of the South Beaver County Civic Association; Robert Zapsic, executive director of both the County Planning Commission and the Beaver County Industrial Development Agency, and Clarence W. Turner of the Duquesne Light Co.'s Area Development Department.

Elmer Woods, secretary-manager of the Chippewa Township Board of Supervisors, and former chairman of the Beaver Falls Redevelopment Authority, screened a Beaver Falls Chamber of Commerce film on the development of Beaver Falls.

The planners pointed out that the group must decide on its objectives and the form of development needed, whether, regional industrial, community or for redevelopment. Planners said all boroughs should have zoning laws and building codes as necessary to planning and development.

Marvin Bahm, member of the Chamber's committee, reported on a proposal for obtaining free bus service in the Ohioville-Industry - Midland area, sponsored by Midland merchants.

Charles R. Schmitt, chamber president, presided.

Like Mother Hubbard

School Board To Borrow Again In Funds Scarcity

Like Old Mother Hubbard, the Board of Education is finding its cupboard (for finances) virtually bare these days as it scratches around for funds to meet its obligations.

The crisis, which board members have attributed to the delay in the collection of real estate taxes caused by the county-wide property reappraisal, continues unabated and Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, said Monday night she can see no immediate relief.

In what has become almost monthly procedure, the board approved a motion by C. Walter Ashbaugh, chairman of the finance committee, authorizing the borrowing of additional funds if needed.

Unless funds are received from the state foundation program by June 1, borrowing will be necessary in order to meet a bond payment of $88,275, Miss Liebschner and Ashbaugh said.

The foundation check estimated at $199,000 is due by the first of the month, she added. The payments are made quarterly.

Even if the foundation check is received, the last loan plus interest must be repaid first and the remainder will go toward the bond payment and to meet the smaller payrolls for the last half of the month, Miss Liebschner said.

Since its last meeting, the board borrowed $99,000 and received an advance of $25,020 from the personal tax collection. The money was used to meet payrolls and pay the Snyder Bus Co. on its transportation contract.

If borrowing is necessary, the board will be limited to $75,000 since it is permitted to borrow up to only 50 per cent of the tax amount. The balance due on real estate taxes is estimated at $150,000.

It would be the fourth time in five months the board has had to borrow money. It borrowed $175,000 to meet February payrolls and then borrowed another $150,000 in March.

So far this year the interest on the loans has amounted to $700, $100 more than the board appropriated for debt service for the entire year.

The balance in all school funds is only $23,339, Miss Liebschner reported, including a deficit of $44,226 in the general fund and a balance of $45,476 in the bond retirement account.

The financial woes also caused the board to delay action on blacktopping areas at Westgate and Lincoln schools.

Chester VFW To Sponsor 4 Boys, Girls To Ripley Camp

Plans to sponsor two boys and two girls from Chester to a West Virginia VFW camp near Ripley in July were made at a meeting of the Chester VFW Post 6450 Monday night.

A contribution of $25 was authorized to the J. Edgar Hoover Library at Valley Forge, Pa. The purchase of a wheel chair for community use was approved.

Raymond Treleven of California Ave. was enrolled as a new member.

Plans were made to sponsor a bowling team in the summer and winter leagues in East Liverpool, and for a mixed bowling league in the post membership.

Plans were made to charter a bus June 29 to the Pittsburgh-New York baseball game at Pittsburgh. Richard Shingler and Fred Mader were named to assist American Legion Post 121 with a Memorial Day program.

Next meeting is June 17.

4 Coast Guardsmen Live Monkish Life

SAN FRANCISO (AP) — Four Coast Guardmen live a somewhat monkish life on Mile Rock light station just outside the Golden Gate.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: Is the ladybug a pest or a useful insect?

ANSWER: Many people think of insects as man's enemies, without realizing that less than one per cent of insects are harmful to man. Insects help us in many ways, especially by spreading pollen from plants so that the flowers can become fertilized. Other insects help by eating harmful bugs. Among these useful insects, the attractive little ladybug holds a high place. These busy little beetles live by devouring the aphids which suck the juices from plants.

Once, the orange and lemon orchards of California were threatened with ruin from a certain kind of aphid. 140 Australian ladybugs of a kind known to eat the aphids were imported and within a few years had multiplied and eaten so many aphids that the orchards were saved. There are many different kinds of ladybugs. As a whole they are most valuable to man, but there are some species which do damage plants. The value of ladybugs has been known since the Middle Ages. In fact, it is said they were dedicated to the Virgin at that time, which is why they are called ladybugs, or as many people still call them, ladybirds.

FOR YOU TO DO: When you eat an orange or drink a refreshing glass of lemonade, think of the friendly little beetles who have helped make it possible for you to enjoy these fine fruits — the ladybirds!

★ ★ ★

Veronica Guza of Media, Pa., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.

No Services Held For 'Untouchables'

Hal Humphrey

Next Tuesday the series goes into repeats, and no more will be filmed. Over at Desilu Studios, where "Untouchables" was done, they have put into mothballs the arsenal of sub-machine guns, the 1925 Hudsons and the pinchback suits.

-:-

PROBABLY NO TV series was discussed and cussed as much as this one. Congressional committees investigating violence on TV always held "Untouchables" up as Public Enemy No. 1.

Actually, "Untouchables" wasn't nearly so violent as the carbon copies it inspired — "Corruptors," "Cain's Hundred," etc. — but it became synonymous with all the wrong things about TV.

Various Italian - American organizations built up enough pressure finally to get ABC and producer Desi Arnaz to cease using Italian names for the hoodlums in the series.

THROUGH ONE of the hundreds of jokes making the rounds, even the Pope became involved. As the story went, he called an emergency meeting of the cardinals at the Vatican, then excused all but those of Italian extraction. In hushed tones, the Pope turned to these cardinals and asked, "Now what're we going to do about this Eliot Ness?"

Two years ago, James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, complained bitterly when "Untouchables" did a two-part story showing an escape attempt during Al Capone's transfer from Atlanta to Alcatraz.

J. EDGAR HOOVER and his boys emitted a cry of foul a year earlier when Ness and his Untouchables rounded up Ma Barker and her gang of hoods. Ma's capture was the work of the FBI, and Hoover decided it was more than "poetic license" when Ness muscled in.

The Department of Justice got into the act once, after hearing "Untouchables" was doing an episode about an old Mafia chief. It had references in it to the infamous 1957 Apalachin (N.Y.) gangster powwow, and the department did not want the film shown until after the trial of those who attended that underworld summit meet.

"Untouchables" premiered on ABC's network in the fall of 1959. Earlier that year, the Desilu Playhouse had aired a two-part, two-hour drama on the rise and fall of Al Capone. It met with such success that ABC decided it wanted a weekly series on Ness' exploits.

SOON AFTER the series went on the air, it climbed into the top 10 on the rating lists. "Untouchables" had its gory moments all right, but it also was one of the better-produced series to come on TV — especially in the hour-long category.

Because of criticism and pressure, the series became pretty wishy-washy and repetitious in its third season. Robert Stack got disgusted and made a deal with Desilu to buy his (Stack's) 25 per cent interest. At that time, Stack reported that the series was in the hole $670,000.

Severest critic of "Untouchables" may have been CBS' Fred Friendly. Producer Friendly and his "CBS Reports" wound up against "Untouchables" on Thursday nights during its second season.

Although Friendly's informative documentaries always came off a poor second in the ratings, he stated adamantly that he would be around to bury Eliot Ness and his gang of ruffians, and by heck he has.

Salem's Recount May End Tonight

The County Election Board's staff will work tonight, if necessary, to complete a recount of returns from Salem's May 7 Republican primaries in which Thomas H. Coe, the incumbent, scored a 2-vote victory over Atty. Scott McCorkhill for the party's nomination for city solicitor.

The recount, requested by McCorkhill, was to get under way this afternoon at 1:30 at the board's office on W. 6th St. Both the unofficial count made on election night and the official canvass completed two days later gave Coe 502 votes and McCorkhill 500.

McCorkhill asked a new tabulation in all 23 Salem precincts. The applicant posted a $230 cash deposit — the $10 - per - precinct surety required by state law to cover the cost.

$250 Million Improvements Bond Issue To Be Introduced

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — A resolution calling for a $250 million capital improvements bond issue was in the making here Monday as education, recreation and state government groups zeroed in on Ohio's lucrative penny - a -pack cigarette tax.

The $250 million package issue, expected to be introduced soon in the Senate, would provide:

$150 million for state universities.

$50 million for parks and water resources development.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said Monday night he understands such a package issue is being readied and may be introduced shortly. It is expected to be substituted for a $200 million capital improvements issue sponsored by Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Lima.

The issue, which would go on the ballot in November if approved by a three-fifths vote in each house, calls for indefinite extension of the 1-cent cigarette tax to finance the bonds.

The tax was levied in 1955 to retire a $150 million capital improvements issue. The bonds are due for retirement in 1977, but revenue has exceeded expectations and at the present time it is estimated the bonds could be paid off by 1968.

Groups seeking the new issues hope to use the surplus immediately to back the bonds.

A drive for the $150 million issue for state universities was launched officially by business, industry and education leaders at a Monday morning breakfast.

A few hours later, a citizens committee promoting parks and water resources development moved in on the tax extension proposal with a bid for $50 million.

Some 35 members of the 89 - member committee adopted a resolution urging Gov. James A. Rhodes and the legislature to provide at least $50 million "to start and expedite development of our parks and water resources."

The committee elected John H. Dunlap of Williamsport chairman. Dunlap, a member of the Natural Resources Commission, said the need for improved park and water facilities stems from increased use by more people each year.

He noted Ohio population is expanding at a rate of 2 per cent a year. Use of park and water resources has boomed at a rate of 7 times the population growth in the last decade, he said.

Dunlap emphasized the bond proposal follows Rhodes' pledge of no new or increased taxes. Asked if Rhodes knew of the committee's plans, he replied: "I don't know for sure, but I suppose he does. He's a pretty smart fellow."

He said he had not talked to Rhodes, but indicated Natural Resources Director Fred Morr favors the proposal.

Cloud said the state capital improvements issue has been under consideration and indicated there were plans to tie it in with an education issue.

Insurance Provided For Liability At Pool

Council Monday night provided a $1,000 appropriation to allow the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners to buy liability insurance to protect the city against claims arising out of alleged negligence in operation of the municipal swimming pool.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council that a finding in a recent case before the Ohio Supreme Court indicates that cities now may be held liable in some cases as a result of accidents. In the past, municipal pool operations had been considered unaffected by such claims as a "governmental function," Cooper said. The Thompson Park board now is negotiating for insurance, he added.

The same measure provided $985 as the city's share of a county program for improvement of the park's roads. It also provided that $800 of the $2,200 fund previously appropriated for a ball field fence at the park will be returned back to the income tax fund. The $800 represents the amount that will be left after the cost of the project is paid, Cooper said.

City Officially Joins In Regional Planning

Confirming earlier informal action, Council approved a resolution Monday night officially making East Liverpool part of a Columbiana County Regional Planning Commission.

The action was recommended by members of the City Planning Commission, who attended discussions at Lisbon on establishment of the regional group. In an informal vote several weeks ago, Council indicated the city would join the regional group.
